Graphic Roundup Of Major News Happenings Of The Week

As a service to our readers we are continuing the practice of publishing a roundup of the major news events which have occurred during the past week while the Boston daily newspapers have been closed down because of a strike. Also published on inside pages are up-to-date schedules of the television programs for the coming week and a roundup of the major sports news.

Grave Concern Over Viet Crisis

Top officials in the State and Defense Departments in Washington are gravely concerned over the waves of unrest in South Viet Nam.

They fear the rioting and demonstrations will serve to undermine and weaken public support of the U.S. military effort in Viet Nam.

While Premier Nguyan Cao Ky apparently has worked out a compromise to prevent a disastrous civil war and bloodshed within the South Vietnamese armed forces, the truce is believed to be an uneasy one.

State Department officials declared that the Communists are exploiting the discord in Viet Nam. However, they did not support the claim of Premier Ky that the uprisings have been Communist-inspired.

Minute of Meditation Legal

Attorney General Edward W. Brooke has ruled that public schools in Massachusetts may open each day with a minute of silent meditation.

Brooke held that a bill approved by the State Legislature requiring a minute of silent meditation in public schools does not violate either the State or Federal Constitution.

He declared that the silent meditation does not "authorize or direct the practice of a period of prayer in the public schools."

Governor Volpe requested the Attorney General's ruling after the bill enacted by both branches of the Legislature reached his desk.

19 New Astronauts Named

The U.S. Space Agency has named 19 new Astronauts, the largest group ever designated at one time. This increases the number of Astronauts to exactly 50. However, it will be at least two years, under present training policies, before any of the newly named Astronauts will be ready to man a spacecraft.

Trim Hub Budget

The Boston City Council this week trimmed $623,874 from the $154,944,723 budget submitted by Mayor John F. Collins. It was the smallest cut the Council had made in a Mayor's budget since 1961. The budget presented originally by Collins was considered to be an extremely tight one, with little room for any reductions by the Council.

12 Homes, Church And Temple Hit By Thieves

More than a dozen Newton homes, a Jewish temple and an Episcopal church were broken into and robbed during the past week.

Six of the dwellings and the temple, all in Newton Centre, were looted within a six-hour period Monday night.

Jewelry valued at $6500 and a $2500 mink coat were carried away by robbers who ransacked the home of Dr. Albert H. Arbetter, 105 Cynthia Rd., Newton Centre.

The thieves also took $100 in change and $20 in Kennedy half-dollars.

Another break occurred a short distance away in the home of Louis Mitchell at 57 Cynthia Rd., where the burglars gained entrance by placing a bar against a doorknob and forcing the door. Several pieces of jewelry were taken.

The Temple Beth Avodah at 45 Puddingstone Lane also was broken into Monday. The intruders rifled a desk, carried away a package they found in the desk and took a fire extinguisher, emptying its contents on the ground in a parking lot.

Entry was gained to the Temple through an unlocked kitchen door, according to police.

A cash box in St. Paul's Episcopal Church at 1135 Walnut St., Newtonville, was pried open and $2.26 taken from it by thieves who got into the church through a trap door. They then forced a lock on a closet door.

The homes of Dora Fugelman at 210 Hartman Rd. and Robert Kanter at 60 Drumlin Rd., both in Newton Centre, were both ransacked. Reports were not immediately available on what was taken.

The Fugelman dwelling was entered by slipping the lock on a rear sunporch door. The burglars who looted the Kanter home gained entry to it by ripping a screen door on a rear door and then breaking a pane of glass.

A would-be robber, who entered the home of Herman Sugarman at 12 Old Farm Rd., Newton Centre, was frightened away when Sugarman's mother-in-law heard footsteps and put on the rear floodlights.

The intruders had broken glass in a door to get into the home and had turned on lights in three rooms.

The sixth Newton Centre home broken into on Monday was that of Samuel Lieberman at 42 Oak Hill St., where entry was made by breaking two panes of glass in a window. Lieberman is making a

Holy Week Rites To Precede Easter Joy

Thousands of men, women and children will celebrate the Glory of Easter and the Resurrection of Christ in magnificently decorated churches on Sunday.

Prayers and special music will mark the joyful services in both Catholic and Protestant churches as worshippers join in the rejoicing for all that Easter symbolizes in the Christian world.

In striking contrast to the beautiful and gladsome decorations of Easter, altars will be stripped bare of their adornments for the somber observance of Good Friday, commemorating the day when the death of Jesus gave the promise of eternal life to the world.

This is the saddest day on the Catholic calendar. It is the only day in the year when no Mass is said. Altars will be bare and bells silent on Good Friday.

Tabernacles in Catholic churches will be empty, their doors open, to signify the death of Christ on the Cross.

In Protestant churches stark altars and the sorrowful rites of the Good Friday services will symbolize the solemnity of the day.

Once again the story of the last Seven Words will be told; once again the story of the Garden of Gethsemane will be heard; once again man's mind will remind itself of the tortuous Way of the Cross and the climax on the top of the Mount where Christ died between two thieves.

Solemn services on Holy Saturday will mark the last day of Lent, a day of silence, a time when time itself seemed suspended, a day when a huge rock sealed the tomb in which He had been placed.

The Holy Saturday services will be held at night in Catholic churches, with the Vigil and then the Mass.

Midnight Easter Masses will be held in some Catholic churches following the Vigil. In others the Masses will be held earlier in the evening.

Holy Week rites began with the Palm Sunday services last Sunday, celebrating the

Newton GOP Backs Fete For 'Salty'

The Newton Republican City Committee this week launched its campaign in support of the Salute to Saltonstall Dinner being held in Commonwealth Armory Tuesday evening, April 19.

The event honoring Senator Leverett Saltonstall is sponsored by the Massachusetts Republican State Committee and has the dual purpose of raising much needed funds for the state organization which faces a crucial election campaign this fall.

A special communication signed by William A. Lincoln, Chairman of the Newton GOP organization, and by William R. Horner, City Finance chairman, was sent to Republicans in the area this past week.

It urged them to subscribe at one hundred dollars per plate for the affair. Members of the City's GOP Finance Committee are scheduled to followup these letters with personal telephone calls.

Commenting on the program, William A. Lincoln, City Chairman, stated that "Newton Republicans, when made aware of the need, have always come through for the Party. Within the next few days we hope they will again demonstrate their loyalty."

Lincoln pointed out that Newton has in the past provided more money for the Republican Party than any

Governor John A. Volpe will honor Mrs. Parkhurst at a special ceremony to be held at the State House on April 20 when she will be presented with a scroll at 11:30 a.m.

The choice of National Mother of the Year will be made on the opening day of the annual Mother's Conference held at New York's Waldorf-Astoria Hotel the week preceding Mother's Day in May.

Mrs. Parkhurst is the daughter of a Methodist bishop. She received her B.A. degree from Wellesley College and her M.A. degree in psychology from Boston University. She had planned to enter medical school when she met and married her husband, a 1931 graduate of M.I.T.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Brooke Denies Description As Political Fence-Jumper

Attorney General Edward W. Brooke, who hopes to become the first Negro to sit in the U.S. Senate since the Reconstruction period immediately after the Civil War, objects to being called a political fence-jumper and does not consider the characterization a fair one as far as he is concerned.

He says he sought both the Democratic and Republican nominations for the House of Representatives in 1950 but that a number of other prominent public figures, including Senate President Maurice A. Donahue and the late Speaker John F. Thompson, did the same thing the same year.

Here is Brooke's case as outlined in a letter to the writer:

"In 1950 'crossfiling' was legal in Massachusetts. Many candidates, particularly those seeking election to the Legislature, ran in both the Republican and the Democratic primary—hoping to win both nominations

Newtonite Visits Washington With Retired Persons

Mr. C. E. Gould Capon of Newton Centre, attended a two-day session of the Legislative Council of the National Retired Teachers Association and the American Association of Retired Persons held recently in Washington, D. C.

The Council members were in the Senate visitor's gallery when Senator Winston L. Prouty (R.-Vt.) called up his amendment to the Tax Bill to make Social Security benefits available to all persons over age 70. It was passed by a non-partisan 45-40 vote.

Mr. Capon, who is president of the Newton Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons, pointed out that the major legislative activity of the Council this year has been to press for approval of the Prouty Amendment.

To emphasize this support, members of the Council visited their own Senators and members of the conference committee. They sent more than a hundred telegrams and letters to all senators, which they received on the day Senator Prouty called up his amendment.

The association also urges Congressional action to regulate the packaging industry especially for the protection of its elder members living on limited fixed pensions. They ask their 1,000,000 members to write letters to their own Congressmen and U. S. Senators urging their support of the Truth-in-Packaging bill sponsored by Senator Philip Hart (D.-Mich.)

DR. JOHN G. KEMENY

Newton Junior College Opens Lecture Series

President Charles W. Dudley of Newton Junior College, has announced the first Newton Junior College visiting scholar. Dr. John G. Kemeny. Dr. Kemeny is first in a visiting scholar sequence to be sponsored by the Women's Council of the College.

Scholar, philosopher, teacher, author, and mathematics department chairman at Dartmouth College, Dr. Kemeny will deliver the premiere of a lecture which he has contemplated for several years and to which he has given recent thought toward its preparation.

Dr. Kemeny has selected the descriptive and provocative title, "Laws of Lawlessness," a topic which relates to man's perception, formulation, and application of principles of order in phenomena of a random character, thereby enabling himself to make predictions and state his degree of certainty from a context of apparent chaos. This lecture will be held at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday, April 13, at the Newton High School Auditorium on Walnut street in Newtonville.

The lecture, delineating a major advance in the history of man's intellectual development, an advance which is largely an accomplishment of the century in which we live, is appropriately to be delivered by a man who is influencing the course of intellectual effort in our time — a man outstanding among his colleagues and before the world for a capacity to sense and appraise the essential currents of intellectual trends and to point and to lead a better way —as is evident by his part in contemporary analyses, observations, and recommendations concerning the teaching and applications of mathematics and by the widespread progress responsive to those recommendations such that, more and more, mathematics is sought and is essential in the lives and productivity of thinking people.

In addition to the major lecture in the morning, plans include a luncheon-reception with the faculty and guests and an informal discussion session with students in the afternoon.

The public is cordially invited to the morning lecture.

School Cashier Test To Be Held Apr. 30

Persons wishing to take a civil service examination for the post of cashier in Newton school cafeterias, must make application to the division of civil service at the State House not later than Monday, April 11.

The duties require a good appearance and a pleasant disposition, and experience in cashiering is desirable.

Lively Contests Expected For DAV Offices

Commanders Joseph Bradley of William J. Farrell Chapter 23, Disabled American Veterans, and Etta Twombley of its auxiliary, predict spirited contests for chapter offices at the April 3 meeting due to large increased membership.

It is expected, too, that the chapter will send members to fill vacancies in the state department.

Chapter members will attend K. of C. Veterans Night in their Newton home on April 16.

Brimmer & May Fund Campaign To Get Kickoff

Parents, alumnae and friends of Brimmer and May School, Chestnut Hill, will attend a reception to kick off its 80th anniversary fund program on Wednesday, April 13, from 5:30-7:30 p.m. at the school.

Dr. George T. Bottomley of Chestnut Hill, National Building Fund Chairman, announced that the campaign to raise $350,000 to build a new gymnasium - auditorium and six new classrooms "is the most ambitious fund raising program in the school's history."

The new facilities designed by Huygens and Tappe, architects of Boston, will blend harmoniously with the Georgian Colonial mansion which houses the main school.

The Newton team workers for the campaign are: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lyons, 11 Beechcroft road, Newton, co-chairmen, assisted by Mrs. Warren B. Manhard, 45 Wesley street, Newton; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Nigrosh, 8 Hammond street, Chestnut Hill; Mr. and Mrs. Orrie M. Friedman, 99 Franklin street, Newton; Mr. and Mrs. Simon M. ## Newtonites On Committee For NAACP Banquet

Four Newton residents — Mrs. John C. Cort of 11 Devon road, Mrs. Philip M. LeCompte of 125 Jackson street, Mrs. Uarda Parnell of 18 David road, and Mrs. Vincent P. Roberts of 246 Beacon street—who are members of the New England Chapter of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund are on the Dinner Committee for the Chapter's annual dinner to be held on April 12 at the Sheraton Boston Hotel.

The dinner event, launching the New England area appeal for $100,000 will present as speakers Miss Marian E. Wright, a 26-year-old attorney for the Fund and the only Negro woman ever to be admitted to the bar in the state of Mississippi; and Gustav Heninburg, assistant to the president of the Fund.

He and Miss Wright represent the Fund's national network of staff and cooperating attorneys who provide legal assistance to Negroes and others whose constitutional rights have been denied.

Supported entirely by contributions, the Fund is an independent corporation with no formal ties to any civil rights group. Because of its quest for social justice, it is often referred to as the legal arm of the civil rights movement.

Letters to Parents

Editor of The Graphic:

The rash of letters erupting this Spring from parents critical of the Newton school and especially the organization of parents who are "concerned" (surely it is to be hoped that all parents are concerned) has disturbed me for several reasons. For one, the writers seemingly ignore the obvious fact that education is a profession requiring the same dedication and training as any other. Yet parents who wouldn't dream of questioning their orthodontist's decision as to the type of braces their children need, have no doubt at all of their own ability to prescribe for the education of these children—an infinitely more complex matter!

A little time spent in studying the concensus of modern educational thought across the country would disclose that rigid curricula and fact-stuffing are no longer considered to be the primary concerns of the school. The emphasis should be rather on stimulating in the child a desire to learn and assisting him to develop the confidence and self-discipline he needs to accomplish his own goals in learning. These are some of the objectives, incidentally, to which the Continuous Learning program at Meadowbrook is dedicated, and which are generally acknowledged to be vital to a successful career in college and beyond.

Furthermore, in the election of a School Committee the citizen votes for the individuals who should represent his approach to education. We elect aldermen and legislators in this manner; yet there apepars to be no movement at present to have the Board of Aldermen check with every citizen before passing on each matter on the agenda. Yet some of the letters indicate that the protesters would have parents as the arbiters in detail of the education of their children.

The Newton School System has had success for many reasons, among which should be numbered an enlightened School Committee and a concerned electorate who have kept this group in office. Another factor has, of course, been the level of the teaching and administrative staff. This staff has gained much from an intimate relationship with the Schools of Education of the universities in our area. This in turn has brought both creative ideas and dynamic people into the teaching staff of Newton. In order to keep that relationship and to maintain the level of the staff we must keep policy matters in the hands of the School Committee and the Superintendent of Schools.

School Issue

Editor of The Graphic:

Unfortunately, as in most cases of a cause, the people who are satisfied and complacent do not vent their emotions upon society but sit back and say nothing while those that are most vocal and petition-pushers are heard from. What has become a highly inflated issue could probably be traced back to 10 or 12 individuals who are more outspoken.

If we are talking about a minimal number, of unhappy mothers and children, let us transport them to another school of their choice but stop this rankling and dissension which has reached a point of becoming ridiculous and must certainly be causing unrest and an unhealthy mental situations in others by virtue of the festering.

Let us hear from teachers and other professionally trained educators in rebuff to some of the letters that have been printed. Not the minority once again, but the majority, and those of us that believe that our children's education is being conducted by a very highly educated professional staff.

We are not having our children experimented on but are using methods which are being proven here and already have been proven in other excellent schools in our country. The proof of the pudding can only be traced to such norms as the SAT's and I'm sure that our children place way above average in these and other tests.

Let us, the parents, and laymen, spend our time in the correct upbringing and normal supervision of our children and leave the important task of education to our teachers.

NORMAN BERKOWITZ.

Political Highlights

and thus become automatically victorious in the general election.

"In the 11th Suffolk House District (Ward 12 of Roxbury) where I lived and sought election to the House it had been customary, for many years, for candidates to seek both nominations.

"I therefore followed the local custom and entered both the Democratic and the Republican primary."

Brooke then lists the candidates for the Democratic and Republican House nomination and the vote totals they received. Seven contenders, including Brooke, sought the two Democratic nominations, and six of the same seven also ran in the Republican primary.

Brooke ran fourth in the Democratic contest and second in the Republican race, winning a GOP nomination. He placed third in the November election, polling a good vote but trailing well behind the two winners.

"Because I won the Republican nomination in the September, 1950, primary and because I supported the principles and program of the Republican party, I became and have since remained an active, enrolled Republican," Brooke continues.

"I have never been a candidate on the Democratic ticket except under the peculiar circumstances outlined above," he declared.

"A broader look at Massachusetts in 1950, politically speaking, will give you an idea of how common the "crossfiling' practice was," Brooke asserts.

Brooke then reports that he took the trouble to thumb through the 1950 election statistics, and he expresses the belief that his research turned up some interesting disclosures.

"In the Western part of our state two very loyal and partisan Democrats, who could hardly be termed 'fence jumpers' by any objective standard, nonetheless sought the Republican nomination in the 1950 primary," he says.

"Senate President Maurice Donahue of Holyoke sought the Republican as well as the Democratic nomination for the Senate in the 2nd Hampden Senatorial District.

'Former Speaker of the House John F. Thompson of Ludlow, a partisan Democrat if there ever was one, did exactly the same thing in the 2nd House Hampden district.

"And at least a score of other prominent Republicans and Democrats followed this egal and often (depending on the district) traditional practice.

"Republicans who in 1950 filed for the Democratic nomination:

"Senator Charles Olson (Middlesex and Norfolk); Rep. Arthur Milne (4th Berkshire); Rep. Philip M. Markley (6th Hampden), Rep. Philip Kimball (8th Hampden); Rep. William Brickley (10th Middlesex); Rep. Peter J. Jordan (24th Suffolk.

"Democrats who filed for the Republican nomination:

"Sen. Francis J. O'Neil (1st Bristol); Sen. Edward Pierce (3rd Bristol); Sen. Charles Hogan (1st Essex); Rep. James E. Hannon (4th Berkshire); Rep. G. aLeo Bessette (5th Bristol) and (his colleague, now the Democratic whip in the House who surely would be amazed to hear himself referred to as a 'fence jumper,') heophile J. DesRoches; Rep. Michael J. Batel (8th Essex); Rep. Philip J. Durkin (10th Essex); Rep. Stephen T. Chumura (12th Hamden); Reps. Joseph McAvoy and James R. Doncaster (25th Middlesex; Rep. Wilfred Mirsky (13th Suffolk); Rep. Meyer Pressman (22nd Suffolk); Rep. Harry Colten (23rd Suffolk); Rep. Harold Canavan (24th Suffolk); Rep. Robert K. Tivnan (20th Worcester).

"I do not mean to belabor the statistics. But they clearly demonstrate the point I have been trying to make. And I think they conclusively refute the proposition that because a candidate happened, under the provisions of the applicable General Laws, to seek both a Republican and a Democratic nomination, he should — 16 years later—be characterized as a 'fence jumper.'"

In closing, Attorney General Brooke expresses the hope "that this overly long critique will put into perspective the facts about my own political background — once and for all." He adds the hope that the writer will set the record straight in his column. This we trust we have done.

Attorney General Brooke certainly did some extensive research of the 1950 election statistics. He establishes beyond any challenge that he was far from the only political candidate who entered both the Democratic and Republican primaries in 1950 and that this was a relatively common practice at that time.

The column to which Mr. Brooke referred said that a unique feature of the fight for Senator Leverett Saltonstall's seat on Washington's Capitol Hill was that two of the contenders in that contest were political fence-jumpers who had shifted from one political party to the other.

We said that Mr. Brooke was originally a Democrat who shifted to the Republican party and that ex-Governor Endicott Peabody, also a candidate for the U.S. Senate, was originally a Republican who switched to the Democratic party.

Brooke and Peabody, of course, had a right to change political parties. We reported that they both did so in the 1950's and that it is something of a coincidence that they are now in the same Senate race.

Here are the facts concerning Brooke's party affiliations to complete the picture.

In June, 1950, he enrolled at Boston City Hall as a Democrat.

When he ran for the Democratic and Republican nominations for the House in the September, 1950, primary, he was listed on both the Democratic and Republican ballots as a Democrat.

As Brooke pointed out in his letter, he won a Republican nomination for the House but was defeated in the Democratic primary.

In the subsequent November election Brooke was listed on the ballot as a Republican although he was still technically enrolled as a Democrat.

Then in January, 1952, Brooke formally changed his party enrollment from Democrat to Republican and has been a Republican since. This was what we referred to in our earlier column.

Limited Sales Tax Off To Smooth Start

All reports indicate that the limited sales tax went into effect smoothly and with fewer hitches than had been anticipated.

There was some grumbling and confusion, but much less than had been expected.

People appeared to take the new tax in stride and did little complaining when charged an extra penny or two on their purchases.

In some instances customers even reminded forgetful clerks about the tax.

This may mean that the people will adjust to the limited sales much more quickly that it was believed they would.

If the sales tax has lessened Governor Volpe's popularity, it hasn't been apparent in the receptions he has received during his public appearances.

The most frequent complaints about the sales tax have come from pet-owners who can't understand why they should be required to pay a tax on dog and cat food.

One result of the imposition of the 3 percent tax is that some canines are now eating tax-free hamburger instead of canned dog food.

New Fight Over Beano Looms on Beacon Hill

A close fight is shaping up in the Legislature over a proposal for legalizing Beano.

Democratic Representative Joseph E. Brett of Quincy has been making a state-wide drive to muster support for his bill which would revive the game which has been banned in Massachusetts for years.

Brett asserts that veteran, fraternal and church-affiliated organizations are rallying in support of his proposal.

A hearing on his bill will be held in the Gardner Auditorium at the State House at 7:30 next Monday night (April 11), and an overvow crowd is expected to turn out to argue for and against this measure.

Beano supporters in recent years have come close to marshalling sufficient strength in the Legislature to legalize the game but each time have fallen short of getting the necessary majority of votes in each branch.

Opponents of the measure cite the danger that the game will be largely controlled by racketeers, as it was in the 1930's, with legitimate organizations used as fronts and getting only a small share of the profits.

State Teachers Corps Proposed By Donahue

Small communities which cannot afford to hire specialized teachers would be helped if Senate President Maurice A. Donahue wins approval of his proposal for the creation of a State Teachers' Corps.

Donahue's idea is to allow about 25 teachers with high skills in special fields to volunteer for one or two years of service in the State Corps.

The teachers, who would be paid by the State, would work in communities unable to hire highly trained specialists in certain fields.

As an example, Donahue cited the need in many areas for teachers skilled in remedial reading.

Lee Loumos Says:

Upon occasion, I have voiced my concern about our involvement in Vietnam. I recognize the validity of our commitment there, as well as the wide-spread desire to get out with honor as soon as possible. At the moment we seem to have a tiger by the tail and the demonstrations now taking place, both anti-government and some anti-United States, are further complicating the situation. It is difficult to understand how we can continue to aid the Vietnamese, without actually taking over, unless they can come to some agreement amongst themselves, sufficient, at least, to continue an effective war effort. Therefore, it would seem that our first order of business there is to help them find a satisfactory solution to the internal political problem, otherwise our continued presence there might become untenable.

More Metered Parking Areas Are Proposed

More municipale parking areas for Newton shoppers is a possibility, it was revealed at a hearing held last Thursday night by the aldermanic committee on Claims and Rules.

Among proposals discussed were parking meters for the Newtonville area on Astin St., opposite the Star Market.

Also recommended are areas in Newton Highlands and West Newton.

The parking meter committee recommends that 10 percent of all metered lots be for all-day parking, and the remaining spaces be limited to two hours.

Witnesses Plan First Of Three Conventions

Newton Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, South Unit, announced this week the location of the first of three gatherings to be held this year. Gennaro Montopoli, overseer of the local group, indicated that two of the gatherings will be within the Metropolitan Boston area and the third outside the state. Cambridge was named as the site for the first gathering to be held the weekend of Apr. 15-17.

"Assemblies such as this one," Mr. Montopoli said, "are a regular part of the activity of Jehovah's Witnesses. Usually about 1400 people meet at these circuit assemblies. We offer no door prize and no one of renown is used to attract these people. It appears they gather out of a desire simply to discuss the Bible.

"In order to care for the needs of these people," the 36-year-old minister continued, "over 20 departments are staffed by about 200 volunteer workers. Some of these began working toward this assembly four months ago and some will be working long after the last session has been concluded. In a spirit of voluntary service, none of the workers receives any financial gain. As in the case of those who come to hear the Bible talks, these workers also have a fundamental desire to know the truth of the Bible."

Pee-Wee Hockey League Brings Season To End

The Pee-Wee hockey program, instituted by Commissioner John B. Penney, and sponsored by the Newton Recreation Department, has just concluded its fourth season.

The program is directed by Recreation Supervisor William Barry, who is assisted by Coaches James Leonard, Lawrence Smith and Lawrence Carey.

The boys were divided into a four-team league and were instructed in the fundamentals of skating, passing, stickhandling, shooting and positional play.

The boys showed steady allround improvement, especially in their skating.

No outside games were played after the season as all the boys in the program were new and lacked hockey background. However, this season 20 graduates of Pee-Wee hockey played for the Newton Junior High team.

"MEMOS" FROM YOUR Stylist

by MR. GEORGE

If your hair is the wiry type—a welter of curls that resists brush and comb and kinks at the first hint of dampness—learn to live with it.

There is much you can do, of course, such as massage the scalp and brush the hair daily to increase circulation and distribute natural oils so as to ease dryness. Shampoos of the egg formula and lanolin-enriched types are good. Follow with a cream rinse to check the curls and reduce static electricity and things will be looking up.

Things will look up even further . . . way up . . . if you manage a session at MR. GEORGE'S HAIR STYLISTS for a style designed to eke out the final touch of beauty and allure from your hair. # Charles River Is Subject Of Women Voters' Meeting

The Newton League of Women Voters joined by the Leagues of Needham, Waltham, Watertown, and Wellesley is sponsoring a regional meeting, a panel presentation, "The Charles River — Useful Asset or Wasted Liability," Wednesday evening, April 13, at the Pierce Elementary School, 170 Temple Street, West Newton, at 8 p.m.

The members of the panel will be: James Ayres, conservation reporter, The Boston Globe; Roger Albiston, project engineer, Charles River Watershed Studies, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers; Miss Julia Broderick, director Open Spaces and Recreation Study, Metropolitan Area Planning Council; and State Senator James DeNormandie.

The panel will attempt to assess the needs of the many groups interested in the Charles River such as those concerned with pollution control, water supply, recreation, conservation of natural resources, industrial needs, requirements of housing and urban development, and flood control.

The following questions will be looked into; What are the government groups and independent agencies involved? What are the plans and studies in the making for the Charles? What is the role of local communities? What are the effects of federal and state legislation and in what areas is legislation needed? Where will the money come from? How can the citizen become more informed and involved as an active participant in preserving and utilizing this great natural resource?

For many years the League of Women Voters has been interested in and concerned with the problems of water resources. Its stand has been to support U.S. policies and procedures which promote comprehensive long-range planning for conservation and development.

This desire to promote optimum development of the nation's water resources has led to the creation of regional groups to deal with planning, development and water management on a regional basis.

From this effort stemmed the Charles River Valley Study Group composed of Leagues in towns and cities bordering the Charles River. The leagues of Needham, Newton, Waltham, Watertown and Wellesley are all members of this group.

Program Chairman for the evening is Mrs. Edward Morrison, Newton. Participating in the planning for the panel discussion are: Mrs. David Epstein, Watertown; Mrs. Henry Walter, Wellesley; Mrs. Harold Burnstein, Waltham; Mrs. Robert Arnold, Needham. Other members of the committee from Newton are: Mrs. Joseph Apelbaum; Mrs. Leon Barron and Mrs. David Jackson. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Miss Shuman-Mr. Seafer Wed; Living in Framingham

Now making their home in Framingham are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Leonard Seafer (Nancy Ellen Shuman), whose marriage took place recently at Temple Mishkan Tefila, Chestnut Hill.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Shuman of 32 Charlotte road, Newton Centre. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Seafer of Hyde Park are the bridegroom's parents.

Rabbi Israel Kazis officiated at the 6:30 o'clock double-ring ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the temple.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown fashioned of ivory silk faced peau de soie. The empire bodice re-embroidered with peau d'ange lace, had a bateau neckline and Kabuki sleeves. The sheath skirt, marked at the hemline with similar lace, terminated in a watteau train.

Her shoulder-length illusion veil was fastened to a double crown of matching lace. She carried a single red rose bud on her Bible.

Mrs. N. Daniel Dunitz of Middleton, N. Y., was her sister's matron of honor. Miss Betsy Seltzer and Miss Sheila Kelly, both of Newton Centre, joined Mrs. Stephen Goldman of Framingham and Mrs. Stephen Ross of Watertown as bridesmaids.

Paul Levine of Hyde Park served as best man. The ushers were Stephen Goldman of Framingham, Randall Polen of Newton Centre, Sheldon Buckman of Woburn, Eliot Sawyer of Dorchester, Fred Waldman of Needham, Marvin Kristal of Mattapan, Jerome Greenspoon of Milton and Bernard Grossman of Hyde Park.

Lawn Is Status Housekeeping Symbol

It's the woman of the house who is most concerned with having an attractive status-building lawn in front of the family homestead.

An informal poll of many of the managers of the more than 120 Lawn-A-Mat dealerships throughout the United States indicates that women will be the prime movers in the spending this year of more than $2 billion for materials and services to grow a more beautiful lawn, excluding tools and equipment.

According to Mr. Kyriakos, who manages Lawn-A-Mat of Newton, located at 12 Belmont street, his own experience tends to bear out the opinions of Lawn-A-Mat service centers in other areas. Mr. Kyriakos provides an automated lawn service that includes aerating, rolling, and the dispensing of all needed seeds, fertilizers and chemicals, using the Lawn-A-Mat patented combine. It does a complete job in a single coverage of a lawn for less than it would cost a do-it-yourselfer for materials alone.

"Many women seem to feel that the lawn is an extension of the household, and that its appearance is a reflection of her housekeeping ability. Invariably, it is the woman who calls us and is most anxious to find out what she can do to have an attractive lawn.

"In most cases, she has become angry and impatient after spending time, money and labor (her husband's) each year without achieving the results she wants," Mr. Kyriakos said. "In a nutshell, and with all deference to her husband, she has found that do-it-yourself simply doesn't produce a nice lawn. Her husband may be skilled in his business or trade, but like most homeowners he is working in the midst of confusion and lack of knowledge and equipment when it comes to lawn care."

Very often, a man's ego is somewhat deflated when his wife calls Lawn-A-Mat to do the job, Mr. Kyriakos said, but it is restored when he sees a healthy, status-building turf becoming established in front of his home.

Dana of Portland, Me., will speak on "Up to the Minute Research on Portland Glass" at the open meeting to be held at Boston's Park Street Church, Wednesday, April 13, at 2 p.m. There is no admission charge.

Miss Dana is an authority on Portland Glass which was produced a century ago in her native city and is responsible for the five groupings in the Portland Museum.

Strindberg's Miss Julie Well Received

The Winterscene Players presented their first production, Strindberg's Miss Julie, Mar. 25 and 26 at the Parish Hall of the First Unitarian Society, 1326 Washington St., West Newton. The new drama group played to a full house both nights and were heartily applauded by an enthusiastic audience.

In an effort to bring the audience closer to the stark reality of Miss Julie, Director John Adams of West Newton staged the production in-the-round and moved his three main characters through their tragic story with authority.

The intensity of the play was relieved in a scene where the peasants of Miss Julie's estate invade the kitchen and frolic about. This scene was greeted with warm applause. Eva Teixeira, Flo Alsmeyer, Beth Daniels, Craig Coveer, Scott Madsen, Billy Wise, all members of the Drama Class of the First Unitarian Society, played the young peasants. John Adams, who coached the drama class this past year, has expressed the belief that there is a definite need for a drama group which will present the classics and the works of new playwrights. He chose Strindberg's Miss Julie because it is in Eugene O'Neil's opinion the beginning of the modern, realistic play as we know it today.

The proceeds of the production are being given to the High School Fellowship of the Unitarian Society to provide scholarships for young people to attend summer conferences at Star Island.

Cronin, Wellesley Hills; and Mrs. Henry E. Snell, Newton.

Here! Here!
If you haven't bought a Volvo sedan because you have too many kids, pets,
groceries,
shrubs
and sundry to carry,
come in and see how easily everything fits into the new Volvo station wagon.

And while you're here, we'll show you how easily Volvo carries everything that fits into it: Volvo runs away from other popular-priced compact wagons in every speed range, gets over 25 miles to the gallon like the little economy cars, is virtually indestructible and proves it at trade-in time. And many of the "incidentals" you pay extra for on other wagons come as standard equipment on Volvo: Heater-defroster, padded dash and sun visors, vinyl upholstery, bucket seats, undercoating and whitewalls. How does Volvo offer so much wagon at compact prices? Volvos are Swedish made. When the Swedes lay out a dollar, they expect a dollar's worth of value in return. Don't you?

SWIMMING POOL SECTION

Gene Hurley Pools Pioneer Backyard Luxury

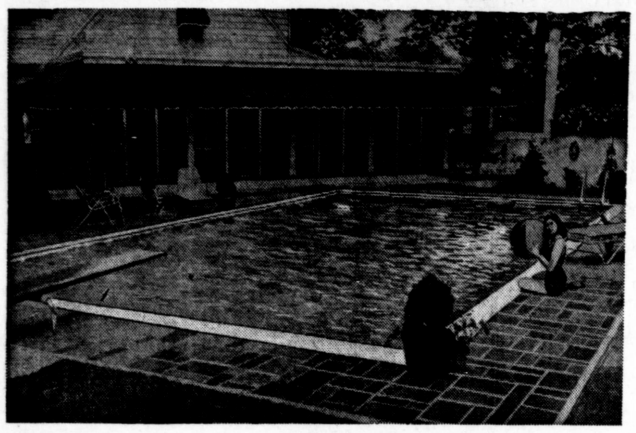
Gene Hurley, President of Hurley Swimming Pool Builders, Inc., of Needham, Mass., one of New England's most experienced swimming pool distributors, a true pioneer in the package pool industry, has developed with the national manufacturer, Pioneer Pools, the latest design in the residential market.

The new bowl shape construction gives the adults the maximum in depth for diving and the toddlers the maximum in safety in the perimeter of the pool. It also minimizes the vacuuming of the pool.

Gene Hurley also noted the vast improvements in the filtration of the Swim King Pools. The new speed filter is compact, and it filters with about 30 percent more efficiency.

All the new improvements in the swimming pool industry have brought the cost down to where the average home owner can now afford a family swimming pool. The average pool built in New England, fully equipped with ladder, diving board, and all the other necessary equipment, under normal conditions, would sell for $3500. At the present time, there is approximately a three-week waiting period due to the heavy demand of consumer recognition of family swimming.



Mortgage banks are very cooperative in merging swimming pool mortgages in order to give the home owner the lowest possible monthly payment. The First National Bank of Boston, through the Installment Loan Division, have now broadened their home improvement loans to include swimming pools. Depending upon the equity of the owner in his property, it could be possible to finance his pool loan up to seven years with no down payment.

Pool Sale Record Forecast by Hurley

GENE HURLEY

1966 will set an all time record for pool sales in New England, says "Gene" Hurley of E. F. Hurley Builders, Inc., Needham, Mass.

He bases this prediction on the early season demands he and his associates for the "Swim King" Pioneer Pools have experienced. He cites as other reasons the growth of public awareness that the family pool gives the public all of the recreational relaxation that they formerly experienced without the inconveniences of driving to Cape Cod or to the mountains for these pleasures, and further, the pleasures and healthful features of swimming can be enjoyed all week long rather than just on week-ends or short vacation periods.

Gene Hurley has long been identified with the family swimming pool. He is the New England distributor for the Pioneer "Swim King" pools. Gene has been recognized by the swimming pool industry for his many services and he now serves as Region I Vice President for the National Swimming Pool Institute.

Seal Is Quality Symbol

The official seal of the Swimming Pool Assn. of New England, Inc (S.P.A.N.E.) is the symbol of quality, dependability and good business practices of its members.

When considering the installation of a pool, whether it be for a private home or for commercial purposes, the public should look for this seal as a guarantee of the product and workmanship just as the wise housewife depends upon the seals of guarantee.

S.P.A.N.E. was organized just ten years ago with eight members. The burgeoning industry swelled membership to 120.

S.P.A.N.E. guides and polices the pool industry, demands it maintain the highest standards for the preservation of its reputation and the protection of the buying public.

Affiliated with the National Swimming Pool Institution, Washington, D.C., S.P.A.N.E. is bound by the pledge to provide quality components and superior workmanship.

Recognized across the country for the advances it has achieved, the Swimming Pool Assn. of New England,, Inc., won the top award of the National Swimming Pool Institute

The National Swimming Pool Institute Certificate of Appreciation was presented to Gene Hurley in recognition of "valuable service to the institute and a lasting contribution to the swimming pool industry" this past January in Huston, Texas.

Negroes Tenting Opposite White House

Fifty-two homeless and jobless Mississippi Negroes pitched tents and camped across the street from the White House this week vowing to stay until they receive $1,357,000 in anti-poverty funds.

"We want to let the President see exactly what the housing situation is in Mississippi," Frank Smith, 25, the group's leader, said. "We're not going back without something in hand," he added.

The White House ignored the group and Press Secretary Bill Moyers noted the squatters were under the jurisdiction of the park police and that the White House had no intention of intervening.

DC officials said the campers were violating the local loitering law as well as Interior Dept. regulations against erecting tents in Lafayette Park. But the National Park police decided they wouldn't enforce the law. "It's not a gross violation," a police spokesman said. "We'll just ride along with them."

The local chapter of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee provided food for the group of homeless.

Church Merger

A merger plan that could result in the biggest Protestant Church in the world has been drafted by a special commission of church leaders..

The denominations considering the merger are the United Presbyterian Church, Methodist Church, Episcopal Church, United Presbyterian Church, United Church of Christ, Disciples of Christ, African Methodist Episcopal Church and Evangelical United Brethren.

The church would be called the United Church and embrace 20,000,000 members.

The draft plan provides that the United Church would have bishops. It affirms the authority of the Bible as the yardstick by which all doctrines and practices are to be tested. It accepts the ancient Apostles' and Nicene Creeds, but does not limit contemporary expressions of the Christian faith to those verbal forms.

It provides for two sacraments — Baptism and the Lord's Supper — but allows for a wide diversity of ritual in these rites.

The chairman of the drafting commission is the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Black, chief executive officer of the United Presbyterian Church and general secretary-elect of the World Council of Churches. He first suggested the merger in 1960.

The plan will be presented at the next plenary meeting of a group called the "Consultation on Church Union" in Dallas, May 2-5.

Dr. Black said the plan is to bring the United Church into being as early as 1971 and — at a maximum — within 13 years.

If the Dallas meeting approves the plan, Dr. Black said, it would take four to 10 years to work out all the details of the merger, which the present outline plan does not attempt to do, and to get the entire package approved by the governing bodies of the denominations involved.

As envisioned by the plan, the United Church initially would be a loose federation of the seven denominations under a provisional central council. A wide diversity of worship practices would be permitted, so that each local congregation could continue to follow its own traditions as long as it desired.

No attempt would be made to complete the final step in the merger process — the adoption of a constitution for the United Church — until the uniting bodies had had the experience of "mutual discovery and sharing" for at least a generation and possibly for as long as a half-century.

More Elderly-Housing

Gov. Volpe announced approval of housing-for-the-elderly projects in 10 communities. The new projects are to be located in Dedham, 30 units; Norwood, 75 units; Revere, 60 units; Lenox, 30 units; Lancaster, 30 units; Middleton, 30 units; Methuen, 70 units; Billerica, 60 units; Spencer, 40 units; Andover, 40 units.

Grain To India

Following two-days of talks with Indian Prime Minister Mrs. Indira Gandhi, President Johnson proposed that the United States "provide 3.5 million tons" of grain to India before the end of the year to help combat threatened famine. The 3.5 million tons would be added to 6.5 tons of grain already shipped to India this year.

Dean "Cupid" Rusk

A highly placed cupid — Sec. of State Dean Rusk — has united an Australian bride and her American husband. Rusk arranged for Cheryl Payne, 20, of Melbourne, to get into this country to be with her husband, Ronald Payne, 20, of Hannibal, Mo.

Payne and Cheryl met in 1963 when she was an exchange student at Montgomery City, Mo., high school. She returned to Australia. Ron worked until he made enough money to fly to Melbourne.

They were married there Oct. 19 but Ron was ordered to report for military service and had to return. He was not inducted because of physical reasons. That left Cheryl in the land down under and the immigration quota was filled until next August.

Ron is enrolled in Hannibal LaGrange Junior College near Hannibal. He and Cheryl expect to enter the University of Missouri later.

What does Cheryl like best about America? "Ronnie," she said.

Red Subs Tour World

A "group" of Soviet nuclear submarines recently finished an underwater round-the-world voyage, it was revealed at the 23rd Communist Party Congress in Moscow.

Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, the Soviet Defense Minister, made the announcement as he told the 500 delegates about a new "blue belt" defense system to strengthen the security of the nation.

He didn't bother to say just what the system was. But Communists sitting in the hall of the Kremlin Palace of Congresses said they got the impression he was referring to the Soviet nuclear submarine fleet.

The Marshal did not give a specific number in referring to the "group" supposed to have gone around the world underwater.

LBJ Asks Cuts

In another effort to combat creeping inflation, President Johnson asked his Cabinet to help him find ways to cut Federal spending in the next three months by about $1 billion.

The new economy program, if successful, would reduce the projected 1965-66 Federal deficit from $6.4 billion to about $5.3 billion. It would deny $1 billion in scheduled U. S. spending to an already superheated national economy.

The President set no specific quotas at the meeting, but told his department heads simply "to do what is necessary and not what is desirable" in approving projects and programs under their direction during the last three months of the 1965-66 fiscal year.

Police Chief Indicted

The Revere Police Chief was indicted on charges of income-tax evasion last Thursday by a federal grand jury. Chief Colin A. W. Gillis was indicted on three counts charging income-tax evasion for the years 1959, 1960 and 1961.

Asst. U. S. Atty. John M. Callahan said the government charges Chief Gillis "understated his taxable income" for the three years by $26,-159.99. Taxes due the government, but not paid, amount to about $8000, Callahan said.

Callahan said the first count of the indictment states that in 1959 Gillis declared a taxable income of $2880 with a tax of $576. The government charges the taxable income actually to have been $13,-180.37, with a tax due of $3061.51.

In 1960, according to Callahan, the indictment states Gillis declared his taxable income to be $2387 and paid a tax of $477. But it is charged his taxable income was actually $8236 with a tax "due and owing" of $1726.

The third count, Callahan said, charges that in 1961 the chief declared a taxable income of $3944 with a tax of $722. The government charges the taxable income actually to have been $13,995 with a tax due of $3289.

Indonesia To Re-Enter UN

U. N. Secretary General U Thant has asked his advisors to draft an opinion on how Indonesia can re-enter the U. N. The Secretary General took this step after Indonesian Foreign Minister Adam Malik announced that the new regime would return to the U. N. Indonesia withdrew from the world organization in January, 1965.

New Hospital Building Named For Rabb Family

The Rabb Building of Beth Israel Hospital, linking functional efficiency with concern for patient comfort, this week took its place among the major facilities contributing to Boston's eminence as a world medical center.

Key unit in the first phase of the hospital's master development program, the three-and-a-half story structure was dedicated with formal ceremonies and an Open House for 350 medical and community leaders.

Samuel L. Slosberg, hospital president, accepted the new building on behalf of the hospital. Sidney R. Rabb responded for the family whose name the building bears. Dr. Sidney S. Lee of Newton general director, outlined the major features of the building. Mrs. Nehemiah H. Whitman, Honorary Trustee and past president of the Women's Auxiliary, was chairman of the Dedication Committee.

The highlight of the ceremony was the undraping of the travertine plaque by Mr. Rabb in the wall of the building lobby. The plaque contains the names of the family members who participated in the gift to the hospital. They are Sidney and Esther, Irving W. and Charlotte, Norman S. and Eleanor Rabb, of Newton, and Sidney L. and Jeannette Rabb Solomon of New York City.

A younger generation of the family who designated particular facilities within building are Norman L. and Helene Cahners, Avram and Carol Goldberg, and Richard and Ann Solomon.

In accepting the building for the hospital Mr. Slosberg saluted the Rabb and other family groups which have helped to establish and support Beth Israel.

"If this hospital is a great, beneficent force in our community, it is due to the great, beneficent families who have unselfishly given their time, their deep concern, and their material goods to bring this institution to its present high position," he said.

The hospital is also a family hospital in another sense, he continued, "offering its services to people at the very beginning and all the way through their life's journey. As a family hospital, representing generations of families, we have a sense of continuing responsibility."

Five Cases Of Theft Early This Week

Newton police had reports of five thefts the first two days of this week.

Her handbag worth $15 and containing charge plates, bankbook and passport was taken from her car parked in front of 15 Boylston street, Chestnut Hill, according to Mrs. Marietta Hermanson, 279 Franklin street, Newton.

The manager of Sklar's Market, 275 Centre street, Newton, reported that $200 in cash and $375 in checks were missing after two men came in and stood at the beer and wine counter.

The following articles were taken from parked cars at Frost Motors, Inc., 624 Washington street, Newtonville, according to Wilhelm H. Larsen of Lexington: Two power switches from a door, two fender skirts, six hubcaps. The total value was $175, he estimated.

Oliver Cronin, 187 Cherry street, West Newton, reported that the rear door of his car was broken while the car was parked in his driveway, and a tire and wheel were taken.

Bernard Hoostein, 84 Judith road, Newton Centre, told police a floor mat was taken from his car that was parked in his driveway.

Republican Group Seeking Candidate To Oppose Brooke

A group of active Republican workers are now in the process of seeking a candidate to oppose Attorney General Edward W. Brooke for endorsement for the U. S. Senate at the GOP Convention in June.

The action was decided upon at a meeting of about 100 Republicans, including past and present office-holders and ward, town and state committee members, held last Sunday at Hotel 128 in Dedham.

One of the leaders in the movement said that it stems from mounting dissatisfaction within the Republican party with the positions taken by Brooke on foreign and domestic problems.

Specifically, there is sharp criticism within the GOP with Brooke's proposal for reverse income tax payments and with his stand on the Vietnam war. The feeling has been heightened by the recent publication of Brooke's book.

A state-wide survey is being started by the anti-Brooke group to ascertain how much opposition there is to the Attorney General among Republican grass roots workers and prospective delegates and what candidate, if any, they would prefer for the Senate instead of Brooke.

The results of the survey, which should be tabulated by the end of the month, will determine what candidate the group will support against Brooke and, presumably, whether it will continue its fight to prevent the Attorney General from getting his party's nomination for the U. S. Senate.

Governor John A. Volpe, Congressman William H. Bates of Salem, Congressman F. Bradford Morse of Lowell, former Congressman Laurence Curtis and former Republican State Committee Chairman Frederick C. (Buck) Dumaine were listed as possible candidates the Committee of 100 migh back against Brooke.

A veil of secrecy surrounded the identity of most of the Republicans who attended the organization meeting at Hotel 128 at which plans were made for the statewide poll of GOP sentiment toward Brooke.

However, Mrs. Jeanne Kangas of Boxboro made no secret of the fact that she was one of five Republicans who call the general meeting at Hotel 128.

Mrs. Kangas has credentials as a grass roots Republican worker. She is chairman of the Boxboro Republican Finance Committee and a former ardent Brooke supporter.

She was responsible for swinging Boxboro's lone vote to Brooke at the 1962 Republican State Convention when Brooke was engaged in a life-and-death struggle with Elliot L. Richardson for the endorsement for Attorney General.

It was the only vote Brooke received from the seven towns in the Nashoba Valley, and it was an important one. It prevented Richardson from winning a first-ballot victory at the convention, and Brooke went on to gain the endorsement on the second ballot after some of Richardson's supporters had left the convention hall.

She subsequently worked for Brooke in his campaigns, and so did many of the other Republicans who attended the meeting in Dedham, she declares.

Mrs. Kangas makes it crystal clear that she has since become dienchanted with Brooke. "I myself am increasingly disappointed in the man," she declared. She said she is particularly disturbed by Brooke's position on domestic and economic matters.

All the Republicans who attended the Dedham meeting are dissatisfied with Brooke's policies "in varying degrees," according to Mrs. Kangas.

Asked if she had any reason to believe that Governor Volpe would accede to a move to draft him as a candidate for the U.S. Senate, she replied that she had no reason to believe he would and no reason to believe he wouldn't.

When it was pointed out that Congressman Bates had been listed by Brooke as one of the Congressmen who would not oppose him, Mrs. Kangas asserted that the committee, nevertheless, was considering Bates as a possible candidate

Mrs. Kangas was named by the group of 100 to a steering committee which will make the state-wide survey, the results of which will serve as a guide for futher steps and action.

Two of the objectives of the poll, she stated, will be to show how much support there is for Brooke among grass roots Republican workers and how much opposition there is to him.

Mrs. Kangas aded that she personally is going to press for making the results of the survey public, whatever they prove to be.

The Connecticut man won the BAA marathon in 1957 and since then has placed high in the list of finishers of the classic which attracts runners from countries all over the world. It is run annually on April 19th.

China Buys More Wheat

The Communist Chinese will buy an additional $100 million worth of Canadian wheat during the next three years, it was announced Tuesday, by increasing its purchase agreement of last fall by at least one-third.

Immediately after the disclosure of the new deal in the Canadian House of Commons, spokesmen of the opposing parties pressed the government to encourage the Chinese to set up "a non-official trade office" in Canada, and to exhibit Chinese export goods in Canada. It was also suggested that the wheat sales to China are a valid reason for Canada to extend diplomatic recognition to the Peking regime.

Pacific Air Fares Cut

Four airlines announced plans Tuesday to cut fares across the Pacific eight to 15 per cent. The carriers, Pan American, Japan Airlines, Northwest Airlines and British Overseas Airways Corp., said the fares will become effective May 7.

The carriers will cut fares 15 per cent one way during the off-season months of December, January and February and eight per cent during the rest of the year. Thus, a new economy class fare between the West Coast and Tokyo will be $370 during the off season and $400 the rest of the year compared to $435 all seasons now.

More Anti-Inflation Moves

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Fowler, Tuesday, urged the nation's bankers "to turn down or scale back" speculative and less productive loans.

The Cabinet office called for cooperation in the Administration's anti-inflation drive and said banks must curb their lending activities because the growth of credit "threatens inflation." It is better to weed out the "less deserving" loan requests than to have "skyrocketing" interest rates bar some borrowers, he said.

The nation's bankers now are the newest members of a lengthening list of economic groups the Administration has asked to display restraint. President Johnson last week appealed for a spending holddown by housewives, businessmen, mayors, Congressmen and federal agency heads. He repeatedly has urged labor and management to observe the government's voluntary wage-price guidelines.

"KIWIS" ARE COMING—Mrs. Lillian Fletcher Carroll, left, of Mount Ida College, convention chairman, and Mrs. Madge Rote, 38 Adella Ave., West Newton, reception and banquet committee chairman, prepare plans for national convention of Kiwis, all former American Airlines stewardesses, at Sheraton Plaza Hotel, May 12 to 14. More than 350 Kiwis will attend from all over the country.

Harold J. Berman Made School Board Chairman

Harold E. Berman, Harvard Law School professor and member of the Newton School Committee from Ward 6, who succeeded Chairman Haskell C. Freedman on his resignation last November as representative of that ward, will preside as the new committee chairman at the regular meeting next Monday night.

Hugh M. Tomb, who succeeded Mr. Freedman as chairman on his resignation, resigned during the meeting of Mar. 28, but will remain as the Ward 7 member.

His resignation, he explained, was necessary because of the pressure of a business and personal nature. He thanked the members for their help and cooperation during his term of office.

The name of the new chairman was placed in nomination, following Mr. Tomb's announcement, by Commiteeman Edwin Hawkridge, who declared that although Prof. Berman was the most recent addition to the committee, he knew him to be well equipped to preside over the body. Mrs. Grace C. Whitmore seconded the nomination. Mrs. Norma Mintz expressed the gratitude of the commitee to Mr. Tomb for the "open mindedness and diligence" with which he conducted meetings since his election last July.

Mr. Berman, a graduate of Dartmouth in 1938, did graduate work at London University and Yale Graduate School. In World War II he was awarded the Bronze Star for service with the Army in Europe. He taught for a year at Stanford Law School before joining the faculty at Harvard Law School.

One of his books, 'The Nature and Function of Law," is used in some 40 colleges. Another, "Talks on American Law," has been translated into several languages.

Marchers Defend Burner's Rights

A demonstration condemning the mob assault on draft-card burning youths in South Boston last week was held Wednesday with a so-called "clergy march" from the South Boston courthouse to the Arlington st. church. The march of about 100 persons, including some clergymen, was mostly uneventful as it wended through South Boston streets into the city. Only at a few places along the way were the marchers subjected to jeers and cat-calls.

A deputation of three marchers visited Mayor Collins at City Hall and following the meeting reported back to the main group at the Arlington st. church.

The group was concerned over the lack of police protection afforded the draft-card burners. They said they were not condoning the draft-card burning, but only the right of the youths to do so if they so desired.

Warns of Campus Drugs

College officials throughout the nation were warned Tuesday by Dr. James L. Goddard, Food and Drug Administrator, that "an untold number" of students may suffer permanent mental and physical injury unless there is a crackdown on campus parties.

In letters to administrators of more than 2000 colleges and universities, he said reports to the FDA during the last year showed a marked increase in illegal use of hallucinatory and stimulant drugs, particularly at educational institutions.

"We are faced with a most hazardous situation," he wrote. "There is direct evidence of widespread availability of a number of drugs which have profound effects on the mental processes."

He said the "greatest threat" came from LSD-25, which he said" is extremely dangerous in exceedingly small amounts" that can produce hallucinations for hours or days. Others are psilocybin, an extract from a Mexican mushroom, and mescaline an extract from peyote, a small cactus.

Unrest Grows at St. John's Seminary

Some 150 college students continued a "silent" protest demonstration outside the Lake st. home of Richard Cardinal Cushing Tuesday in support of a "holy and serious" fast of Seminarians at St. John's Seminary in Brighton.

The fast of the seminarians began Sunday. They said they were fasting because they were "gravely concerned for the future of our Seminary in respect to implementation of Vatican I" and "convinced that the present system of formation in St. John's Seminary is in need of revaluation and reformation."

The seminarians began the fast after Cardinal Cushing reportedly told eight expelled seminarians they would not be reinstated. The youths were expelled a week ago after protesting what they called lack of academic and personal freedom at St. John's.

Following the expulsions, the Cardinal said he would "review the problems associated with changing seminary education." He said he would ask the aid of other clergy to survey problems associated with changing seminary education and "make positive recommendations to me." He said on the basis of such information he hoped to be able to "diminish or remove the causes of unrest."

A spokesman for the silent picketers at the Cardinal's home said the college students and other lay members of the Catholic Church were there because they believe "the layman should express his sentiments, too."

The fasting students at the Seminary said they were "deeply saddened and hurt by the events of the past week. Our appeal for dialogue and renewal has, it seems, neither been properly understood nor adequately appreciated.

"It was painful enough to see eight of our brothers expelled. It is even more disheartening to bear the fact that no action has been taken to solve the seminary problems."

Seminary officials and the Cardinal refused comment on the fast.

Tornadoes Hit Florida

Tornadoes spawned by a cold front pushing through the area streaked across central Florida Monday, leaving nine known dead and at least 250 injured. Officials indicated the toll might go much higher as rescuers dug through twisted and shattered buildings. Property damage was estimated in the millions.

Sections of six cities looked like battlefields—homes demolished or badly damaged, trees uprooted, telephone and power lines down and autos overturned and jumbled together.

Gov. Haydon Burns declared Polk and Hillsborough Counties disaster areas and sent in the National Guard and all available state troopers to help search for survivors and guard against looting.

The twisters first struck Tampa and St. Petersburg, on the Gulf of Mexico, then hit inland through Lakeland and several other smaller communities all the way to Cocoa, on the Atlantic Coast near Cape Kennedy. They came out of a squall that moved rapidly westward from the Gulf as a cold front advanced. Torrential rains accompanied the storm.

Move Troops to Da Nang

Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky left the embattled city of Da Nang Tuesday assured by his commander on the scene that the riotous situation created by Buddist inspired demonstrations was under control. Ky left behind him, however, some 4,000 government troops he had sent to the city in case of a showdown with dissident elements there. The troops were not in the city but quartered outside near the Da Nang airbase operated by U. S. forces.

Premier Ky's action, in moving troops near the city, raised the threat of civil war, should his troops be opposed by Vietnamese soldiers who have backed the demonstration.

Before Ky's arrival, Buddhist students urged the population of Da Nang to arm themselves with sticks, stones and homemade weapons to fight Saigon troops if they entered the city.

At the present time, anti-government Buddhist students armed with clubs and rocks battled national policemen and South Vietnamese troops in the streets of downtown Saigon. Security forces used tear gas and clubs to break up attempted marches on the U. S. Embassy and other American installations in the city.

It was learned that Amb. Henry Cabot Lodge had sent an urgent cable to the State Department asking for a "freeze" on trips of American VIP's to Vietnam because visiting Congressmen could become targets of mob violence. The Administration complied and all trips for Congressmen have been called off for an indefinite period.

Pacifists in and Outside Jail

A group of antidraft demonstrators continued their vigil outside of Charles Street jail this week, lending moral support to nine members of their group who were sentenced to 20 days in jail in South Boston district court when they refused to pay $20 fines on charges of loitering and blocking traffic. Two others were convicted but they appealed.

The appearance of the group at the court led to a wild melee after four of the demonstrators burned their draft cards. A crowd, composed mainly of high school age youths, attacked the four, beating them and kicking them. Two other demonstrators were punched around in the courthouse corridor.

Mayor John F. Collins has since asked Police Commr. MsNamara for a full report of the clash. There were protests lodged with the Mayor that there was not enough police protection afforded the draft card burners.

Rep. James F. Condon (D.-South Boston) pleaded with the unruly crowd in vain. "These youths do not realize the seriousness of what they're doing," Condon said. "You must treat them as gentlemen even if neither you nor I agree with what they're doing."

One of the demonstrators, John A. Phillips, of Boston, started to speak to the crowd. "I'm a pacifist. I do what I believe is right as an individual . . . I believe in the law, but when the law violates my conscience . . ." At that point the crowd broke loose with fists and feet.

The pacifist group was brought into court on charges stemming from an earlier demonstration at the Boston Army Base.

Negro Woman Federal Judge

The nomination of Mrs. Constance Baker Motley, 44, to be the first Negro woman Federal judge in the nation, was approved Monday by a Senate Judiciary subcommittee. She was nominated by President Johnson to be U. S. District Judge for the Southern District of New York.

Mrs. Motley has been Manhattan Borough President for 13 months. Asked when she would resign that post, she said, "When they tell me to raise my right hand and swear me in."

Heavy Viet Bombing

U. S. Air Force and Navy planes Monday flew 72 missions against North Viet Nam, the heaviest strike since bombing of the north resumed Jan. 31 after a 37-day lull. A Navy spokesman said one plane was shot down and the pilot presumed lost in the raids on bridges, shipping and highways.

Just south of the border, B-52 bombers hit an area where North Vietnamese troops reportedly have been massing. There have been unconfirmed reports that Hanoi has sent 25,000 more regular Army troops into the northern South Vietnamese provinces.

Not A Candidate

Denying published reports, Milton Eisenhower announced Monday he will not be a candidate for the Senate following his resignation as president of Johns Hopkins University effective July 1, 1967.

The 66-year-old brother of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said at a news conference: "I have absolutely no intention whatsoever to stand for public office. I shall not discuss this question again, and I hope this puts it finally to rest."

Sports Roundup

The Boston Red Sox, with a number of new faces on their roster, open their 1966 American League season against the Baltimore Orioles at Fenway Park next Tuesday afternoon.

All the traditional opening-day color and fanfare will mark the '66 debut of the Red Sox who made a dismal showing in the early exhibition games of their spring training season but who lately have been displaying signs of improvement.

Earl Wilson probably will be the Sox pitcher in the opener with the Orioles.

George Scott, who played last year with Pittsfield, has performed sensationally in spring training and apparently has won the third base job over the more highly touted Joe Foy, most valuable player last year in the International League.

There is a possibility Manager Billy Herman may try Scott at first base because of the weak hitting of Tony Horton.

Sore-armed Dennis Bennett is likely to be left behind when the Red Sox start a barnstorming trip north Saturday. Herman has declared he can't afford to carry a sore-armed pitcher. Bennett is troubled by calcium deposits.

Next Tuesday's opening game will be televised over Channel 5.

The Red Sox this week traded hard-hitting but mediocre-fielding Felix Mantilla to the Houston Astros for Eddie Kasgo who last year was the regular shortstop and captain of the Astros but was out much of the season because of injuries.

Herman intends to use Kasgo for fill-in service at shortstop and possibly third base although he has two good third basemen in Scott and Foy. Scott, in particular, is likely to become a Fenway favorite.

Celtics Battle '76ers

The Boston Celtics are in the midst of a battle with and the Philadelphia 76ers in the Eastern Division finals of the National Basketball Association.

The Celtics got the jump in the best 4-out-of-7-game series by defeating the 76ers 115 to 96 at Philadelphia Sunday afternoon.

The two teams were to meet in the second game at the Boston Garden Wednesday night, and the third game will be played at Philadelphia Thursday night.

The Thursday night game will be televised over Channel 5.

Boston's aggressive, quick-switching defense paid dividends Sunday as the high-scoring 76ers were held to under 100 points and Chamberlain was closely guarded and tied up much of the contest.

The rested 76ers also were rusty after a 14-day layoff from league competition but are likely to get back into gear as the series progresses.

San Jones and John Havlicek, who was started up front by Coach Red Auerbach, spearheaded the Boston attack against Philadelphia Sunday, and big Big Russell was tremendous on defense.

While Chamberlain outrebounded and outscored Russell, the statistics were somewhat misleading as Russell actually outplayed Chamberlain. As one basketball expert put it, Russell had Wilt in his hip pocket most of the game, and Wilt knew it.

Bruins Escape Cellar

The Boston Bruins finished out of last place for the first time in six seasons. The Bruins had been in the National Hockey League cellar for the past five years.

A 4-2 victory over Chicago at the Boston Garden last Sunday night lifted the Bruins out of last place, enabling them to finish fifth by the razor-thin margin of one point over the New York Rangers.

A capacity crowd of 13,909 fans gave the Bruins so terrific an ovation at the end of the game that a stranger might have assumed they had just won the Stanley Cup playoffs instead of escaping from last place by the skin of their teeth.

Ron Stewart scored two goals for Boston in the 4-2 triumph over Chicago, John McKenzie and Ron Schock also tallied for the Bruins.

Murray Oliver was Boston's high point man for the season with a total of 59. He scored 18 goals and had 41 assists.

Johnny Buyck, who was presented the Dufresne Trophy prior to the game, was the top Bruin goal-getter with 27. He had 29 assists for a total of 56 points during the season.

New School Standards

The new State Board of Education announced that more rigid standards will be in effect for the 1966-67 school year.

The Board said that all public schools, elementary and secondary "shall operate at least 180 days, exclusive of vacations, in each school year."

It said that "elementary schools shall operate not less than five hours daily, exclusive of lunch or other and that "secondary schools shal loperate not less than five and one-half hours daily, exclusive of lunch or other recess."

Pointing out that the Board has "statutory authority to mandate such standards," it ordered:

"Effective Sept. 1, 1966, all schools will be required to meet the minimum daily and yearly operating standards" established.

Crime Work Not Over

"The most important work of the Crime Commission remains to be done," Gov. Volpe told the annual communion breakfast of the Proparvulis Club at the Hotel Somerset Sunday.

"By that," he said, "I mean legislative action, positive action on the recommendations of the Crime Commission. For as long as these studies are shunted aside, to be passed from committee to committee for further study, our task of rooting out corruption in government will remain unfinished.

"And unless we go to the very core of the problem and reform the structure, the procedures, and the practices of state government itself, the very same problems which made the creation of a Crime Commission necessary in the first place, will simply worm their way back into our state government once again."

The Governor said "this year we must see to it that the Crime Commission recommendations are not lost in the legislative shuffle. These are not partisan bills. They have the support of both parties. They are bills whose adoption will mean a better Commonwealth for every Massachusetts citizen.

"There is nowhere where moral principles are more applicable than in government."

The Beautiful American

The story of how a mild-mannered, be-spectacled New Englander, who wants to study at Harvard Business School next year, took command of a battered company of U.S. 1st Air Cavalrymen and led them in a stand against 1000 North Vietnamese troops, came out of Vietnam.

2nd Lt. Daniel Kapica, 22, of New Britain, Ct., took over on the battlefield after his company commander had been wounded and the executive officer killed. Though they outranked him, several 1st Lts. deferred to Lt. Kapica because he had been through three 1st Cavalry actions in Vietnam.

The company was trying to locate the crews of two helicopters shot down in heavy fighting. The action took place just south of the Chu Phong mountains about a mile from the Cambodian border in the Central Highlands. They rescued one crew then began moving toward the second helicopter 300 yards to the north.

Two platoons reached the downed aircraft, but then "all hell broke loose," said Lt. Kapica. He took over after the CO was wounded and the executive officer was killed. "But I worked closely with the 1st lieutenants," Kapica related. "We put our heads together."

The company pulled back to await air support, leaving an element behind to bring in the wounded. By nightfall, the company held a 50-yard-wide perimeter — surrounded by 1000 enemy troops. The enemy kept probing at the beleaguered Americans throughout the night, exhausting the ammunition supply of the little group. At 1 a.m. an Army transport came in over the treetops to drop ammunition and C-rations

As darkness stil lay over the hills, helicopters brought in two more companies and this may have broken the will of the enemy. Lt. Kapica's company began moving out at dawn.

The Nutmeg state has reason to be proud of Lt. Kapica and his band of gallant men.

Bar Polish Visit of Pope

A visit to Poland by Pope Paul VI "would not be opportune at this moment," a spokesman for the Polish embassy in Rome announced last week.

The spokesman said a report carried Thursday in a Communist Italian newspaper was "accurate" when it said the Communist regime in Warsaw had rejected the possibility of a Papal visit during the 1000th anniversary of Catholicism in Poland.

News Roundup

Game Wardens Crack Down

Game Wardens will crack down on illegal pre-season fishing in the Commonwealth's lakes, rivers and streams during the next two weeks, Howard S. Willard, director of law enforcement, of the Dept. of Natural Resources anounced.

Willard said "every means at our command will be used to prevent the illegal pre-season fishing and to do everything possible to preserve the stocked fish for the licensed fishermen who pay the bill so that the opening day of the season will be a rewarding one."

He said the Fish and Game division is supported, in part, by persons who buy fishing licenses and expect to find the waters of the Commonwealth well stocked with fish on opening day, Saturday, April 16. "Their anticipation is firmly justified, but often frustrated by the excessive number of persons, whose disrespect for the law is evidenced by their pre-season activities,' Willard said.

Epidemic Averted

Dr. Alfred L. Frechette, Commr. of Public Health, announced that the expected 1966 measles epidemic has been averted in Masachusetts. He credited the achievement to the administration of live-measles vaccine to children throughout the Commonwealth. A warning was issued, however, that the peak period of the current measles cycle will be this month. Parents with unimmunized children were urged to get them shots.

Soviet Luna 10

From all indications, the Soviet Luna 10 now orbiting the moon, is relatively simple. The satellite does not carry solar batteries and no mention has been made of cameras. The U. S. Lunar orbiter, to be launched in June will be more sophisticated and able to operate over a year.

NYC Paper Merger Monday

Thomas J. Murphy, executive vice-president of the New York Newspaper Guild, said the Guild is working on the assumption that the Herald Tribune, Journal-American and World-Telegram and Sun will merge next Monday, and warned that his union would not work unless it had a contract by that time.

Guild units at the merger papers and the New York Post have yet to sign contracts to replace the ones that expired March 31, 1965.

Demonstrators Dispersed

State troopers used tear gas to disperse a bottle-throwing group of demonstrators at Alcorn A & M, a small Negro college near Lorman, Miss. This fracas was part of a continuing series of protest marches and demonstrations against officials of the state-supported school, who object to civil rights activities.

P.O. Needs More Sleuths

The United States Post Office wants more sleuths—fast — but it's a two-way problem. First, Congress must vote the money, the Chief Postal Insp. Henry B. Montague can go looking for them. He wants to find "at least 50 but will settle for 25, he said.

Teen Unemployment Rises

Heavier teenage unemployment pushed the national jobless rate up slightly in March, it was disclosed in Washington Monday. The rise in the jobless rate broke a string of six straight monthly declines that had begun in September and that reduced employment to a 12-year low of 3.7 per cent in February.

Officials were quick to stress that the March unemployment increase was due to a quirk in the figures rather than to any weakening in the job situation. "Employment showed more than seasonal strength in March when you look at all the figures together," a top official said.

The March rise in teen age unemployment lifted the over-all jobless rate because teen agers account for a disproportionately large 30 per cent of all the unemployed people in the country.

Chev To Fix Sticky Accelerators

The Chevrolet Division of General Motors has issued a call to owners of 1964-65 Chevelles and 1965 Chevrolets with Powerglide transmissions to bring them in to dealers for repairs on accelerators that stick because of snow and slush.

A splash shield will be installed free to owners to prevent slush from packing around the throttle linkage.

Chevrolet estimates it will cost the company some $3,000,000 to install the shields.

News Roundup

H-Bomb Lost In Mud

The hydrogen bomb lying in the Mediterranean near Palomares, Spain, since Jan. 17 has sunk into the mud of the steep underwater slope where it was located March 18.

U. S. Navy searchers have lost contact with the 2800-pound unarmed bomb and prospects for its recovery in the immediate future are dim. The bomb was lost March 26 during an attempt to place a hoisting cable around it.

Although Navy searchers know the general area, within 20 or 30 feet, they are reported to be unable to pinpoint the bomb and resume recovery operations. These involve a delicate effort to tie a steel cable around the weapon with the mechanical arm of the Alvin, a midget research sub.

Loss of contact with the bomb was the worst setback in the long search, in which a 14-ship Navy task force and three little submersibles and the United States' leading naval and civilian underwater specialists have been involved for 72 days.

Negro Couple To Sell Home

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Baker, a Negro couple who became embroiled in violent racial demonstrations when they moved into the previously all-white Delmar village section of Folcroft, Pa., in August, 1963, have decided to sell their home.

They said that "constant harassment" has made it impossible for them to remain in the Delaware County community of 1500 two-story houses about five miles west of Philadelphia.

Baker said he and his wife, Sara, want "to get out as soon as possible" because their hope of being accepted by their neighbors had not been realized.

Negroes Haul Down Flags

Negro youths in Cordele, Ga., climaxed a demonstration on the courthouse lawn there by houling down the United States and Georgia flags and ripping them from the lanyard.

The flag ripping followed a street march by more than 200 persons, most of them Neglo. It was the fourth day of marches protesting what Negro leaders call shabby schools.

VC Attack In Saigon

A Viet Cong terrorist squad wiped out sentries with a multiarmed sneak attack in the pre-dawn dark in Saigon last Friday and wrecked a United States officers' billet with a blast from an explosive-laden truck. Six persons, three of them Americans, were killed and over 100 wounded.

Pass Amnesty Bill

The French government took another step last week toward reconciliation with bitter-end Frenchmen who rebelled to keep Algeria French. The French Cabinet approved an amnesty bill which would leave only 86 convicted Algerian war rebels or terrorists in jail.

Acquit Nazi Officials

Two former Nazi police officials were acquitted in Munich, Germany of aiding and abetting the 1939 mass murder of 349 Polish intellectuals near Bydgoszcz, in Central Poland. The court said there was insufficient evidence to convict Jacob Leolgen, 69, and Horst Eihler, 55.

The prosecutor had asked the court to sentence Leolgen to four years in prison and to acquit Eichler, a former lieutenant colonel in the Nazi SS (Elite Guard) because of insufficient evidence.

Ask Soviets, Others For $80 Million

A predominantly Negro group that runs a hospital in New York City asked the Soviet Union and several other countries Friday for loans totaling $80 million to finance a massive self-help program for American Negroes.

Dr. Thomas W. Matthew, a neurosurgeon, who is executive director of the Interfaith Health Assoc., said the decision to appeal to foreign governments was made after efforts to borrow money within the United States proved fruitless.

The group sent letters asking for $10 million loans to the heads of each government in the Soviety Union, France, Japan, Liberia, Kenya, Sweden, Kuwait and Israel.

Dr. Matthews said his group, which is supported by about 400 Negro Baptist ministers and by dozens of civic groups, chose the eight countries for their political diversity, "because we are not political. We are very jealous about our loyalty to the United States. We don't want anyone confused about that."

Cheat-Proof Plan

U. S. chief negotiator Adrian Fisher made public the details of a cheat-proof plan to guarantee a treaty banning underground nuclear testing. Fisher told the Geneva Disarmament Conference Monday that the United States has evolved an on-site detection system involving the analysis of fission-produced gases that is virtually foolproof.

Virginia Hill Penniless

Virginia Hill, frequent companion of American gangsters, died penniless, according to Austrian police. Authorities investigating her suicide on March 24 discredited newspaper stories alleging that she had received about $240,000 from anonymous sources in the United States, and that her death was brought about by the Mafia.

Two Spies Receive Paroles

Two convicted spies, Harry Gold and Irvin C. Scarbeck, have been granted their freedom by the Federal Board of Parole. They'll be released from federal prison in May.

Gold, 55, a Swiss native, served 15 years of a 30-year sentence, imposed Dec. 9, 1950. A Philadelphia biochemist, Gold was charged with conspiring with Emil Fuchs and others between 1943 and 1947 to deliver U.S. defense secrets to the Soviet Union. He pleaded guilty.

Following his arrest, Gold co-operated with the FBI in investigating Fuchs, David Greenglass and Julius and Ethel Rosenburg.

He testified for the government at the trial of the Rosenburgs. They were put to death in the electric chair for their role in peddling atomic secrets to the Russians.

Scarbeck, 45, a native of Brooklyn, was in prison 4½ years. He was serving three concurrent 10-year terms for providing the Polish security police with classified documents while he was Second Secretary of the U.S. Embassy in Warsaw.

Gold, who first became eligible for parole in Oct., 1960, will be under parole supervision until July, 1980. Scarbeck will be under parole supervision until February, 1973.

Both have been in the Federal Penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa. Scarbeck will be released on May 2, Gold on May 18.

Experts To Review UFO's

The Air Force said Tuesday it wasn't worried about unexplained flying saucer reports but, just in case, probably would ask outside scientific experts to take another look at the most mysterious sightings.

Assurances of Air Force Sec. Harold Brown to the House Armed Services Committee apparently ended any chance of a full-scale Congressional investigation of unidentified flying objects, as requested by House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford.

Brown told the Committee that Project Blue Book, the Air Force's UFO investigation, has explained all but 646 of the 10,147 flying saucer reports it has received since 1947.

He said there is no reason to believe that any of the unexplained sightings represent security threats, extra-terrestrial vehicles or any development "beyond present-day scientific knowledge." He attributed most such reports to mirages or natural phenomena.

An advisory group established last fall to review Project Blue Book recommended further intensive study by a university or non-profit scientific organization of unexplained reports. It said the Air Force's continuing inquiry was well managed, but "there is always the possibility that new sightings may provide some additions to scientific knowledge of value to the Air Force."

Brown noted the group's report and said: "I believe I will probably act favorably on this recommendation."

Threaten N. Y. Hospital Boycott

Charging the administration of Mayor John V. Linsay of New York City with "flagrant intervention" in a labor dispute, the International Brotherhood of Teamsters threatened Tuesday to cut off deliveries of food and medical supplies to the city's 24 hospitals.

No date was set for the proposed boycott, but a union official suggested it could begin later in the week.

Big Pay Hike Asked

The International Transport Workers Union demanded a 30 per cent wage increase Tuesday for some 12,000 TWU members employed by American Airlines across the country as negotiations for a new two-year contract began in New York City.

Leading the TWU for the first time in a major negotiation session as president was Matthew Guinan, who succeeded the late Michael Quill. The TWU, whose members are employed in maintenance, ground service, supplies and communications for American Airlines, also asked a shorter work week and other benefits. The pay scale now ranges from $2.54 to $3.85 an hour.

Will Make Safer Cars

The nation's auto makers Tuesday assailed President Johnson's proposal to impose federal car safety standards and asked for a final chance to show what they could do on their own. Manufacturers promised to form a Motor Vehicle Safety Board as part of a "voluntary action program," if Congress "absolves" the industry of anti-trust prosecution for working together to protect motorists.

"This is an open-handed effort to do better," John S. Bugas, a vice-president of Ford and chairman of the Auto Manufacturers Safety Committee, testified before the Senate Commerce Committee. "We're not going to hide," Bugas said, adding: "If we don't do the job, you can come back in six months and do whatever you wish."

Former Senate Employee Dead

Leslie J. Biffle, former secretary of the United States Senate, died Wednesday of pneumonia at a Washington nursing home at the age of 77. A native of Piggott, Ark., Biffle served as a Senate employee and official for 44 years before he retired as secretary in 1952. Subsequently he was a business consultant in Washington. He is survived by his wife.

National Prayer Day

Sen. Milward L. Simpson (R-Wyo.), introduced a resolution Tuesday to authorize President Johnson to proclaim a "national day of prayer." He noted that the Senate had already adopted a resolution designating 1966 as the "year of the Bible." He said every effort should be made "to point our people back to the Bible and God."

Jackie In Argentina For Easter

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy and her children will spend the Easter holidays on an estate about 600 miles from Buenos Aires, Argentina. A tight guard has been mobilized by the Argentine government to keep the public and newsmen out of the estate of Dr. and Mrs. Miguel A. Carcano, near the town of Ascochinga in Cordoba Province.

Mrs. Kennedy lunched Tuesday with Argentine President Arturo Illia at his residence and Wednesday flew to the Carcano estate with Caroline and John.

Dr. Carcano, a career diplomat and Foreign Minister of Argentine in 1958-62, is an old friend of the Kennedy family. John F. Kennedy spent a vacation on the doctor's estate when he was 21 years old.

A federal police official said no newsmen will be allowed into the estate during Mrs. Kennedy's 10-day stay. The outer fence is three miles from the main stone and tile tudor house.

Other guests at the estate over the years have included the Duke of Windsor, when he was still Prince of Wales, and his brother, the Duke of Kent.

Find $700,000 Sunken Treasure

Three amateur skindivers in Louisberg, Nova Scotia, claim they have salvaged $700,000 worth of gold and silver coins from the sunken wreck of an 18th century French pay ship. They said they found the coins in and around the wreck of the ship Le Chameau in about 70 feet of water in the Atlantic 15 miles off Louisberg, a former French fortress on Cape Breton Island. The ship sank in 1725.

The men said they had been hunting the treasure about three years. The $700,000 valuation, they said, was based on the opinions of coin experts in New York, London and Paris. The three will share the treasure equally, but, under the law, the Nova Scotia government is entitled to 10 per cent of the find.

Red Sox Get Stigman

The Boston Red Sox on Wednesday traded catcher Russ Nixon and second baseman Charlie (Chuck) Schilling to the Minnesota Twins for left-handed pitcher Dick Stigman who will be used as a starter by the Sox. Stigman, who has been both a starting and relief pitcher, won four games and lost two last year. He has a lifetime record of 44 wins and 53 losses in the majors.

2 Small Boys Buried Alive

Two small boys, seeking a little adventure, climbed down into a gravel pit in North Haven, Tuesday. The walls of the pit collapsed, and the two youngsters were buried alive. Heroic rescue efforts by police, firemen and passersby, who dug at the sand with shovels and clawed at it with their bare hands, failed to save the two boys. Dead when they were found were Paul Cozenso, 11, and Robert Husted, 12, both of North Haven.

New Rioting in Saigon

Saigon and Hue were rocked by new anti-government demonstrations Tuesday. However, Premier Ky's military regime was considered to be making some progress toward ending the grave crisis which has threatened to topple it. The Saigon rioting was led by Buddhist Monks.

While describing the situation as serious, Ky expressed confidence that the differences with dissident military officials in Da Nang will be resolved.

Hand-To-Hand Combat

U. S. infantrymen engaged in hand-to-hand combat Wednesday as they beat back a furious Red assault in the Ho Bo woods North of Saigon, killing an estimated 28 Communists.

Other Allied troops, sweeping along broad fronts in anticipation of possible Communist attacks during the Vietnam crisis, killed another 68 enemy soldiers.

U. S. jets struck at the heart of the Viet Cong war machine, blasting bridges, railways and ships in North Vietnam. For the second consecutive day U. S. Navy bombers hit North Vietnam's Phuc Loi naval base, leaving buildings burning.

Armed Doctor Barricades Home

An armed country doctor, barricaded in his Roaring Spring, Pa., home with his four small children, held state troopers at bay for the third day Wednesday. Dr. Patrick M. Boccagno's standoff with the law began Monday when the local chief of police, an acquaintance he once treated for a heart attack, came to quiet a domestic row between the doctor and his wife.

Chief Eugene L. Smith said he backed off when Boccagno, 38, drew a gun. The doctor's 28-year-old wife, who Smith said had been struck at least twice, was rescued by police from the roof of the family home where she had taken refuge.

Four state troopers took up posts around the home at the outskirts of the small central Pennsylvania community.

The doctor said he would keep the children, all under six, out of harm's way. He said he would put them in a safe place if "anyone starts shooting."

Boccagno conferred with his attorney but made no move to leave his home.

Charged With Bank Robbery

George W. Walsh, 28, of Dorchester, has been charged with participating in a $1494 robbery at a Boston Five Cents Saving Bank Branch Nov. 30, 1964. The FBI said Walsh is the first person arrested in the 18-months-old robbery.

Community Water Bans

Sixty-seven Massachusetts communities or water departments plan imposition of water restrictions this summer, as serious water shortages continue to plague the Commonwealth.

A recent survey by the Massachusetts Department of Public Health, which formed the basis of a Civil Defense monthly report, listed as facing serious water supply problems: Andover, Billerica, Danvers, Gloucester, Lincoln, Lynnfield, Merrimac, Newburyport, North Andover, North Reading, Peabody, Reading, Rockport, Tewksbury, Abington, Rockland, Attleboro, Avon, Braintree, Randolph, Holbrook, Brockton, Cohasset, Dartmouth, Dighton, Edgartown, Fall River, Franklin, Nantucket, Sciasconset; Scituate; Stoughton; Walpole; Weymouth; Centerville-Osterville; Bourne; Buzzards Bay; Canton; Fairhaven; Falmouth; Foxboro; Hanover; Mansfield; Marion; Middleboro; Natick; New Bedford; Norfolk; Provincetown; Taunton; Wareham; Wayland; Wellesley; West Bridgewater; Westport; Wrentham; Ashburnham; Fitchburg; Gardner; Grafton; Holden; Southbridge; Springfield; Deerfield and Northfield.

While there was a significant increase in precipitation during January and February, the amount of return to domestic water supply systems continues low. Ground water levels rose slightly in most sections of the Commonwealth but on Cape Cod declined. New all-time lows for the period of record occurred in some sections.

Arrested For Extortion

A retired New England printer was arrested by St. Petersburg, Fla., police Tuesday on attempted extortion charges as the search for the kidnapper of teenage Daniel Goldman went into its second week.

Clyde Daniel Phelps, 60, of Cranston, R.I., and Boston, was the second man arrested on extortion charges in the Goldman case this week.

The FBI said Phelps mailed a letter to Goldman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Goldman, who had promised the kidnapper $25,000 for the safe return of their son.

The youth was kidnapped at gunpoint from the plush Goldman home in Surfside, Fla., more than a week ago by a burly gunman. No trace of the boy or his kidnapper has been found.

3 East Germans Defect

Three East German seamen defected this week from a trawler while it was docked at St. John's, Newfoundland. This made a total of 10 men from Communist countries who have sought political asylum in St. John's while their ships were tied up there.

Didn't Look in Right Place

In Rome parents, police and neighbors searched all night for 9-year-old Anna Maria de Luca who disappeared during a game of hide-and-seek. A neighbor lifted up the cover of a garbage can the next morning and found Anna asleep in it. She had dozed off while hiding during the game.

Shell Strikes Gas Field

A strike " of considerable importance" was reported Tuesday by Shell, the British-Dutch oil company drilling for natural gas in the North Sea. Shell, which is searching for gas jointly with U.S. Esso company, said the well is 38 miles northeast of Great Yarmouth.

Shell is the second company to report a big gas strike in the hunt for gas deposits in the North Sea. British Petroleum, the first to hit gas in commercial quantities, plans to have a pipeline to the shore by 1967, and a Shell official said they could do the same.

A Shell spokesman said "there are all the indications of a good field. The find is certainly a commercial and payable well and the quality is very good." He cautioned that it would take months before final testing and an assessment of the gas reserves in that field are complete.

Science Asks Are Sins, Death, Diseases Real?

The ministry of Christ Jesus, his crucifixion according to St. Luke, and the resurrection account from John, form the basis for this Sunday's Bible Lesson at Christian Science Church services.

Responsive reading from Isaiah will include this verse: "Say to them that are of a fearful heart, Be strong, fear not: Behold your God will come with vengeance, even God with a recompence; He will come and save you."

Passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook ("Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy) will include these lines:

"There were rock-ribbed walls in the way, and a great stone must be rolled from the cave's mouth; but Jesus vanquished every material obstacle, overcame every law of matter, and stepped forth from His gloomy resting-place, crowned with the glory of a sublime success, an everlasting victory . . . He proved Life to be deathless and Love to be the master of hate."

Subject of the Lesson-Sermon: "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?"

Students From Abroad Are Guests Here

A successful Coffee House, sponsored by the American Field Service classes at Newton High and Newton South High, was held last Friday evening in Meadowbrook Junior High School.

There was dancing, entertainment and international desserts.

In addition to students from the two high schools, those attending included students from foreign countries who now live in the Greater Boston area in a student exchange program.

Each of the foreign students was assigned for the day to a Newton student, accompanying him on his day's schedule and attending the Coffee House with him in the evening.

Prior to the Coffee House, they were guests at dinner parties held by the parents of the Newton students.

Five Of Seven Hospitalized Persons Injured In Falls

Five of the seven persons Newton police transported to hospitals last Friday were victims of falls.

One of them was Mrs. Theckla J. Brackett of 21 Salsbury road, Newton, a substitute teacher at Newton High School, who fell in class. Patrolmen James J. McCarthy Jr., and Mario J. Marino took her to Newton-Wellesley Hospital, where she was held for treatment of a possible fractured wrist.

Doris Tompkins of Watertown was taken to the hospital by Patrolmen Paul F. Cummings and John R. Bellevue when she suffered a fainting spell in King's Department Store and hurt her head in a fall.

Mrs. Emily Kaplan, 61, of 75 Hammond street, Chestnut Hill, was taken to Newton-Wellesley Hospital with a fractured right leg suffered in a fall downstairs at her home.

Patrolmen George F. Slavin and Peter J. Wallace, took Augustus Rose, 80, of 119 Grasmere street, Newton, to the hospital after he fell on the City Hall steps, suffering abrasions to the forehead and a cut nose.

Patrolman Philip Moreau answered the emergency call when Bruce H. Cibley, 16, of 8 Varick road, Waban, fell while getting out of his car at 368 Centre street, Newton Centre. He had become faint while driving, and in the fall he sustained a laceration over the eye, for which he was treated at the hospital.

David Blake, 21, of 38 Henshaw street West Newton, was taken to the hospital from his home by Patrolmen John J. Kearney and James F. Damgelo. He was treated for sudden blindness that was caused by his use of a welding torch in his cellar.

Patrolmen Donald F. O'Neil and William F. DeFlorio took Nathan Riseberg, 75, of 811 Commonwealth avenue, Chestnut Hill, to Beth Israel Hospital, Boston, where he was treated for a heart condition.

REALTY COURSE

All Classes Held At Motel 128, Needham

MEN AND WOMEN, regardless of age or education. Whether you plan to take the real estate Broker's license exam or just want to learn more about real estate in order to buy or sell a home, the LEE COURSE will provide the finest training available.

As a Broker, you enter the richest business in the world, offering an unlimited income potential. With commissions averaging about $1,200 per sale, you only need to make one sale a year to increase your income by $20 a week! And what's more, you can operate on a part time basis, with very little overhead. You don't even have to give up your present job.

If you expect to get your Broker's License, at present there is no Apprenticeship Law, but now is the time to act. Each year brings us closer and closer to the time when an Apprenticeship Law may be passed, making it almost impossible to obtain a Broker's license.

If you are planning to sell your home, you will learn from the Lee Course how to make your house more saleable so that it will sell faster and get you a higher price. You will learn how to deal with and select the best broker for your needs. You'll learn what your rights and obligations are when you hire a broker, and the difference between an "open listing" and an "exclusive". And when it comes time for you to sign the purchase agreement, you will know what it's all about.

Prospective home buyers can learn what to look for in buying a home and how to find it faster and save thousands of dollars on the sale. So, whether you want to buy or sell, be a Broker, or just dabble in real estate, or all three, take the first step. Attend a FREE FIRST LECTURE on Tuesday, Apr. 12, at 8 P. M. at Motel 128, Exit 36E, Route 128, Needham. No obligation. Find for yourself if our course has any value to you. You will receive a FREE copy of "How To Choose Your House", an easy-to-follow guide for purchasing a home, which includes 104 color pictures. This will be a 6-week, twice-a-week course meeting every Tuesday and Thursday evening in Needham.

THE LEE COURSE IS LICENSED AND APPROVED BY THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION. For more information, you are welcome to call collect any time.

Members Of Boys Club Take Over All Offices Of City

Boys Day In Government, observed Thursday, March 31, at City Hall, was a gala and instructive affair in the opinion of all connected with it.

Boys were greeted by Mayor Monte G. Basbas and, after being sworn in by City Clerk Joseph H. Karlin, assumed the positions of city officials from Mayor down through the heads of every department of the city.

It was the big event of National Boys Club Week. When it was all over, Mayor Basbas directed the following letter to all department heads:

"It is with appreciation and thanks that I acknowledge your participation in making this year's Boys' Day in Government one of the most inspiring we have yet experienced. For all of us concerned it was well worth the efforts expended.

"In view of the ever-increasing problems, the troubled times facing our youth of today, we should feel honored in this community that there are outstanding boys, examples of the high caliber of the vast majority of Newton's junior citizens who, through participation in Government such as was here evidenced, will be the inspiration, the guiding light to the upholding of our heritage in the years ahead.

"The slogan of the Boys' Clubs this year is 'Give Him a Chance and a Choice.' As representatives of the City of Newton, through this fine cooperation, and by living up to their slogan, you have truly given them an excellent start in Civics and in Government."

The following boys, all members of the Newton Boys Club, were selected to substitute for city officials on the basis of outstanding performance throughout the 1965-66 season:

Chris Mazzola, mayor; Robert Denn, president of the Board of Aldermen; Paul Colantonio, administrative assistant; Anthony Gentile, comptroller of Accounts; Wayne Mackie, chairman of assessors; David Devaney, clerk of the assessors; Joseph Delfino, principal assessor; John Piselli, purchasing agent.

James DiLiello, city treasurer and collector; Thomas Mazzola, city solicitor; Michael Deehan, assistant city solicitor; David Sellers, city clerk; Michael Migliaccio, public buildings commissioner; Joseph Baccari, fire chief; Anthony Ciocca, police chief; Michael Mazzola, sealer of weights and measures.

Francis DiStefano, civil defense director; Domenic Pisolli, city physician; Joseph Capalbo, public health director; David Qualters, chief sanitation officer; Michael Harrigan, veterans service agent; Frank Greco, public assistance director; Thomas Godino, librarian.

Paul Gardarelli, school superintendent; Steven Caccia, assistant school superintendent; Domenic Boudreau, recreation commissioner; Charles Gilley, public works director; Joseph Gentile, school committee chairman; James Feeley, city engineer; Michael Catapano, street commissioner; Thomas Giusti, water commissioner; Joseph DiDaglio, election commissioner, and Anthony English, city planning department.

There were two substitutes, Frank Crocetti and Roland Dube.

Robert Swett Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Swett, 235 Lincoln street, Newton Highlands, and James Hennessey, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Hennessey, 1269 Boylston street, Newton Upper Falls, traveled with the Dartmouth College rugby team to the Bahamas for spring competition, and played in the Notre Dame tournament on the way back prior to opening the season at home against a powerful English team.

Final Rites Sunday For Dr. Levine

Services for Dr. Samuel Albert Levine, 75, of 40 Ledges Rd., Newton Centre, a pioneer in the treatment of coronary thrombosis, were held in Brookline Sunday, Apr. 3.

Dr. Levine died Mar. 31 at his home after a long illness.

Inventor of the electrocardiograph, he was responsible for the modern departure from the practice of ordering long and tedious bed rest for heart ailment sufferers. He installed patients in an armchair a few days after a heart attack.

One of the last of many honors that came to him during his long career was last year's opening of the Samuel A. Levine Cardiac Center at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital.

A Polish emigrant, he sold newspapers as a boy on the streets of Boston and grew up to become one of the world's top cardiologists. It has been said that through his efforts, coronary thrombosis became just a medical incident, and 85 percent of its victims recovered.

A school prodigy, he became a member of the sixth grade at 8, and after finishing high school, the senior members of the Newsboys Union awarded him a Harvard scholarship. He was graduated from Harvard in 1911 and from Harvard Medical School in 1914. He was a fellow student there of Dr. Paul Dudley White, who was to gain fame as the heart consultant to former President Eisenhower.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Rosalind Levine; two daughters, Mrs. William B. Schwartz and Mrs. Simon Scheff; a son, Dr. Herbert J. Levine; a brother, two sisters and seven grandchildren.

Large Turnout At Opening Of Housing Units

The Newton Housing Authority open house held recently at the new "Horace Mann" apartments on Watertown and Walker streets and Brookside avenue was a great success.

On hand to greet the many visitors were Mrs. William Carmen, Joseph G. Sneider, Newton Housing Authority's assistant treasurer, Newton Housing Authority's member, and Mrs. Richard Lovell, Newton Housing Authority's executive director Edward T. Byrne and Mrs. Dorothy Reid, Newton Housing Authority's office secretary.

The visitors were able to visit four different model apartments as well as the beautiful community building.

The seventy-two unit apartment complex comprising seven dwelling buildings are now fully rented and occupied. Many inquiries were answered on Sunday from prospective tenants and applications are available at the office of the Newton Housing Authority, 111 John F. Fitzgerald circle, Newton. # Plus School to Install IBM 360 System to Train Students

Plus School is the first business school in the New England area planning to install the IBM 360 system for actual hands-on training of students in the school's computer programming courses. The IBM-360 computer system is finding wide acceptance in business and industry and the need for qualified, trained people to run these computers is increasing.

The school will continue to offer courses in basic keypunch, tabulating machines and the widely accepted 1401 computer system for which there is also constant demand for specially trained personnel.

The Plus Schools are under the management of Donald B. Bassett, who has been connected with the business machine field since 1924 and who has directed business schools since that time. It is one of the oldest, largest, and best equipped group of schools specializing in IBM data processing in the area.

The first Plus School was established in Boston in 1955, at 77 Summer street. It was formed to meet the ever growing demand for trained business machine and office personnel. Since that time six additional schools have been opened in Portland Maine; Providence, Rhode Island; Lynn, Lowell, Framingham and Fall River, Massachusetts.

There are many special features of the Plus School courses which make its training unique. Small classes allow for individual tutoring if the need occurs and also allows the students much more actual hands-on machine time and problem solution time. The instructors under the direction of faculty director, John Boland, have many years of data processing experience and bring this practical theoretical knowledge into the classroom. As a result students receive not only the basic theoretical information but also the largest innovations, practical applications and systems and procedure changes in business and industry. In addition, the courses are carefully planned and programmed to allow talented individuals to accelerate at their own pace.

The school has placed thousands of trained men and women in the past eleven years. However, recent articles in business publications and newspapers point up an ever increasing shortage of trained people for this field. Thousands of job opportunities are now available and starting salaries range from $5,000 per year on up, and experienced programmers can earn from $8,000 to $15,000 per year.

A School Building

Editor of The Graphic:

This is not a criticism of the Newton School System. The system, run by human beings, is not perfect but my wife and I are very much satisfied with it. We moved to Newton because of the School System and have never regretted doing so. This is, however, a criticism of the physical plant at Newton High School. I was one of a number of citizens of Newton who were taken through Building #1 the other night and I am amazed that the staff of the school is able to teach as well as it does. Everything is being done under the worst of conditions.

There is practically no maintenance being done in Building #1 because for several years "everyone" has assumed that somewhere between 1972 and 1975 there will, we hope, be a new High School. As a result, there are any number of cracked fire windows, walls and ceilings with the paint peeling, plaster falling and rooms that have been divided in two by means of two thicknesses of wall board. The latter provides more room for instruction, but also means rooms with inadequate ventilation and no soundproofing. What goes on in one side can be heard quite easily in the other. In one room lighting fixtures fell to the floor because the ceiling was not strong enough to hold them. Luckily, this happened after school hours. All of the Art classes are being held in rooms with very poor lighting and a great deal of overcrowding.

The whole school is overcrowded—there are 2,800 pupils in facilities built for 1,800. This means that classes are being held in the weirdest places and hardly anyone, including teachers, has any privacy. A couple of years ago the School Committee decided that English teachers should teach a maximum of four classes a day so that they could have more time for individual conferences with pupils. This is an excellent idea but one that is almost impossible to fulfill at Newton High School. Space is at a premium for classes and practically none is available for private conferences. Teachers are lucky if they have a desk for their own use.

The lunch room is a complete disgrace. It is so crowded that many pupils have to eat standing up. It is also old fashioned, poorly ventilated, and enough to make many students pass up their lunch period. It is also unhealthy and I am surprised that the Board of Health has not condemned it.

The facilities for Physical Education are practically non-existent. Boys have one quarter of a full size locker to store their gym clothes. The clothes are usually dirty and sweaty after exercise and they do not have room in their lockers to hang them so that they can dry. The odors from this need not be described. The girls do not have adequate shower facilities to use after their gym classes. All this is extremely unhealthy and another case for the Board of Health.

Another thing, and a very important one; colleges and Foundations will stop giving money and coming to Newton High School to try out new ideas in Education. There just isn't any room for them to operate. During my visit, we were shown a room where some college was trying out a new idea in Education. The room housing this experiment was in the basement right beside the boiler room. The facilities must have given the college people an excellent idea of the wonderful school we have. We need the money and the new ideas, if we are to maintain an excellent High School such as we now have. With our overcrowded and outdated facilities, we are lucky to keep the excellent teachers that we have. I wonder how long we can do it.

About three or four years ago Newton planned to build a new Newton High School costing 10 million dollars and have it completed by 1970. Now it might be completed by 1975 and will probably cost 15 million dollars or more. It doesn't make much sense to me. We need a new High School and the longer we delay, the more it will cost. The city won't be any richer five or 10 years from now and our tax rate won't be any lower.

I would recommend that the Mayor and Board of Aldermen take a trip through Building #1 and the rest of Newton High School. They should especially try to go from the third floor of Building #1 to the third floor of Building #3 in six minutes—a great many of the kids do. Between now and 1975 approximately 9,000 Newton children will have to use these facilities which will probably become much worse as the years go on. If we can't have a new High School before 1975, and I believe we should, necessary maintenance must and should be done. I really believe that time is of the essence and the wheels should start turning now so that we can have a new High School before 1972. We here in Newton, in our smugness or snobbishness, look at Boston and say, "It cant happen in Newton." It is happening.

HENRY MYERSON,
26 Rice St., Newton Ctre.

Bride of Week Slain

An 18-year-old bride of a week was found stabbed and strangled Tuesday in the bathroom of her three-room apartment in Paramus, N. J. She was nude, a hair net twisted around her neck.

The victim was Mrs. Janet Adams. Her husband, Brian, 24, was at work when the body was found. An alarm was broadcast for a yellow station wagon driven by a man with three women passengers, but police did not elaborate.

The couple was married March 26 and gave a reception for 30 persons the next day in their apartment, above a garage. Adams and 12 others were questioned in connection with the murder and were released.

Change In Policy

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy said Tuesday that the State Department has tightened procedures concerning the reporting by American embassies on activities of U. S. citizens traveling abroad.

In a Senate speech, he reported that Sec. of State Dean Rusk had assured him that surveillance procedures instituted by the Passport Office in the case of Harvard Professor H. Stuart Hughes "and similar cases will no longer be followed."

Now "Prof." Fred Friendly

Fred W. Friendly, former CBS News president, was named Tuesday to a newly created post of Edward R. Murrow Professor of Journalism at Columbia University. At the same time the Ford Foundation reported that Friendly had become "adviser on television" to McGeorge Bundy, the foundation's new president.

Friendly said he would be working for considerably less money than he used to get ($100,000 a year) but declined to say how much.

Mexican Ban on Sinatra

Frank Sinatra has been barred from Mexico. Officials apparently got so mad at Frank that they barred him from the country — all over his film, "Marriage on the Rocks," a spoof on the quickie divorce business set in a Mexican border town and said to be "offensive" in both its setting and portrayal of Mexican officials.

There was no official connection between the ban on Sinatra and the ban on the film. When Mexico first ordered the film severely cut, or not shown at all, 10 days ago, his reaction was: "It appears someone in our neighboring country is lacking in a sense of humor."

He told newsmen that "Just for the record, you might check the Archives of the Mexican Rehabilitation Institute." In 1962, Sinatra appeared in two concerts for underprivileged children.

Cassius Gets 30 Days

A Miami, Fla., judge Tuesday gave Cassius Clay two days of grace before restoring an order to jail him for 30 days or until he comes up with $2500 alimony, $22,500 in lawyer's fees and a $25,000 deposit to cover future alimony for his ex-wife Sonji.

Viet Nam Slows Russian Economy

Soviet Premier Alexei N. Dosygin Tuesday accused the United States of using the war in Viet Nam to begin a new stage in the arms race and also said the war in Viet Nam is driving up the Soviet military budget.

He told the 23rd Communist Party Congress that the Soviet spending increases were due to Soviet aid going to North Viet Nam and the attempt to keep up with the United States militarily.

He made it sound as though Russia's big economic reform stands or falls on the world situation: The reform, seeking a more rational economy — not a capitalistic economy but one in which central planning and the profit motive coexist peacefully — is proceeding nicely, Kosygin indicated.

Since the reform was adopt-workers have been shifted to production motivated by profits, he reported, and by 1967, one third of all Soviet industry will be working that way.

Experts estimate this means that in a year or two about seven million Soviet workers will be motivated by profits.

But Kosygin's long speech made no mention of how the Soviet leaders had solved the key problem in the reform—the establishment of a workable system of pricing goods. Without a price reform, most experts feel, the whole idea of profits cannot have much meaning.

Kosygin drove home the message that the Soviet Union would have to spend more money than it was counting on a year ago for defense and that this would detract to some extent from the cherished growth of consumer goods production.

The Soviet Premier also urged Soviet industrialists to develop products with an eye toward world markets, and he suggested that it would be a good idea to buy certain products abroad that it would cost too much to develop at home.

Beatles Get Richer

Beatles John Lennon and Paul McCartney are each $408,000 richer through their sale of their 80 per cent interest in the London firm they set up to receive royalties on just the songs they themselves wrote.

The company was sold to its sister company, Northern Songs Ltd., in which each has a share worth $1,540,000.

Lady Bountiful Released

The Lady Bountiful of Sheldon, Iowa, is going to be released from prison. The federal parole board granted freedom to Mrs. Burnice Geiger, 63, who was sentenced to 15 years in prison in 1961 for embezzling some $2,600,000 from her father's bank over a 30-year period, funneling a good bit of it around town generously.

She first became eligible for parole last February. The warden of the Federal Reformatory for Women at Alderson, W. Va., praised Mrs. Geiger as a model prisoner and said she worked long and hard as a helper in the prison library.

Only Irish Need Apply

"Only organized Irish groups from home and abroad may take part," snapped the spokesman for the Irish government committee organizing next Sunday's Dublin parade commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Easter rebellion against the British.

He thus turned down 64 members of the British Labor Party in Birmingham, who had wanted to march in sympathy with the Irish cause, carrying a banner reading: "Fraternal Greetings to the People of Dublin at Easter '66."

Mayor Gets Report Of Building Site Committee

Newton High School Stays; Suggest Enrollment Shift

A unanimous recommendation that Newton High School remain at its present location was made yesterday by a 19-member committee in a report to Mayor Monte G. Basbas.

At the same time the Newton High School Building Site Committee proposed a reduction in the student enrollment at Newton South High School.

Under the plan submitted to the Mayor, Newton High School would have 2500 students and Newton South High 2000.

This would necessitate the erection of a new building to accomodate an additional 500 students at Newton South High.

At the present time Newton High School has facilities for 2750 students, and Newton South High has a capacity o 1500 pupils.

The grounds of the Newton High School would be enlarged a total of 3.76 acres by taking 12 parcels of property, seven along Elm road, four on Kimball terrace and one on Otis street.

The total cost of rebuilding parts of Newton High School, renovating others and expanding the school property is estimated at $11,375,000.

Recommend for demolition in the report are the Classical Building, the Administration Building and the drill shed at Newton High School.

The committee advocated that the Technical High School Building be renovated because of its relative newness.

Claflin School, the recreation area, would be expanded by 80,000 feet, increasing it from its present site of 18.42 acres to 20.32 acres.

Parking spaces would be provided for 500 automobiles.

The possibility of building a completely new high school plant for 3000 students on Edmands park was carefully studied by the committee, but the idea was finally abandoned.

"The use of Edmands Park for a complete high school

The Supreme Judicial Court settled the case Wednesday, Apr. 6, when a four-vote recount victory by Shea was upheld.

In his suit, Prof. Crosby claimed irregularities in last November's recount. In the original tally, Crosby was announced as winner over Shea by a 961-959 vote. The recount total was Shea 961, Crosby 957.

Auburndale Rises Against Car Wash

Auburndale residents, determined to retain the "Garden City" characteristics at Newton's western entrance, indicated strong opposition Monday night to a proposal for establishment of a car wash at 2012 Commonwealth Ave.

Jointly held by the Planning Board and the Committee on Claims and Rules, the public hearing in the aldermanic chamber at City Hall was attended by some 300 persons, with residents of Auburndale in the majority.

The petitioner was the First Federal Leasing Corporation, the same group that had previously sought a site on Tower Rd., off Needham St., Newton Highlands, but which had decided to withdraw that application because of strong opposition that had resulted from business and industrial establishments along the city's "Miracle Mile."

The case for the petitioner was handled Monday night by Atty Jay L. Fialkow of 133 Arnold Rd., Newton Centre, who declared that the proposed site, near the Auburndale Star Market and with the nearest abutting resident 200 feet away, was ideal.

He was armed with an elaborately put-together presentation containing an architect's drawing of the proposed Garden City Custom Auto Wash's brick and concrete structure surrounded by landscaping, a plan of the equipment set-up, maps in support of the petitioner's contention that the establishment would in

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Battle for Seat in Senate Bruising and Hard - Hitting

The battle for Senator Leverett Saltonstall's seat on Washington's Capitol Hill is no place for anyone whose feelings bruise easily.

Boston Mayor John F. Collins, Attorney General Edward W. Brooke and ex-Governor Endicott Peabody all have been the targets of searing attacks.

Peabody, who is considered to be trailing Collins in the race for the Democratic nomination for Senator, has suddenly assumed the role of a raging political lion in the streets as he has lashed out at both Collins and Brooke in an obvious attempt to lift himself up into contention.

In some of the blasts he has hurled, Peabody has left himself wide open to counter-attacks which are almost certain to come.

Democrats Elect Officers

Checking tabulation which revealed their election as officers of Newton Democratic City Committee are, left to right: Herbert F. Regal, chairman; Dorothy Sullivan, recording secretary; Harold M. Band, vice chairman; and Vera Loftus, corresponding secretary. Joseph McConnell and John Vaccaro, not shown, were re-elected vice chairman and treasurer, respectively.

On Sunday afternoon, following the service, they will be entertained at a picnic sponsored by the Washington Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

Monday morning a group of 30 from the chorus will be featured on a TV program from Washington station WMAL-TV on the "This Is Barbara" program at 10 a.m. The chorus will return to Perkins by train that afternoon.

One of the numbers which wi'l be sung at the Cathedral is the "Battle Hymn of the Republic." This piece has a particular Perkins connotation as it was written by Julia Ward Howe, wife of Perkins first director, Dr. Samuel Gridley Howe. Dr. Howe personally taught Laura Bridgman, the first deaf-blind person to be educated.

At the Cathedral the chorus will witness the presentation of Anne Sullivan Gold Medals to eight outstanding deaf-blind men and women. Four of these attended Perkins.

Newton and Waltham drug stores now act as mediums for the distribution of diabetic literature. The medical profession and Visiting Nurses Association also are co-operating in the idea, and advise their patients to attend meetings of the Club.

Some of the speakers at recent meetings of the Newton-Waltham Diabetic Club include, Dr. Howard F. Root, of the Joslin Clinic; William Talbert, a diabetic and international tennis star; Dr. B. number of deaths and injuries can be reduced."

In the letter to Mayor Basbas, accompanying the award, National President Matthew A. Landers of the Police Officers' Association stated, in part:

Traffic enforcement is at best a difficult job. Yet, where we have strict enforcement the dividends are the lives saved, the injuries reduced. The police officer has a tough job in enforcing what sometimes seem petty infractions of the law. However, if this job was left to the motorist alone the slaughter might be beyond wildest dreams.

Almost one-third of the police officers killed in the line of duty are involved in a traffic enforcement incident. So, this award in simple terms salutes the dedication to duty of your fine department."

Attending the presentation of the award in the office of Mayor Basbas were, Rev. Harold R. Fray, minister of the Eliot Congregational Church in Newton; Police Captain William F. Quinn, Edmund C. Berkeley of Newtonville, editor of Computer Magazine; City Clerk Joseph H. Karlin, and Howard E. Branch.

Michael H. Mahoney of 6 Irving St., Newton Centre, a senior at St. Michael's College, Winooski, Vt., has been awarded a Coe Graduate Fellowship in American Studies at the University of Wyoming.

Hospital Alumnae Hold Annual Institute Here

Alumnae of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital School of Nursing held their annual institute yesterday, April 13, at Allen-Riddle Hall, the nursing residence of the hospital.

Miss Marie Knuttenen, R.N., of Waban, president of the group that comprises more than 1,800 graduates of the nursing school, welcomed members and guests at 9:30 a.m., following registration and coffee.

Speakers during the morning program included the director of the hospital, a plastic surgeon, and a nursing home authority.

Hospital director William S. Brines of Wellesley described "Continuing Plans of Our Hospital." He discussed the hospital's $3,500,000 fund drive, now in progress, and showed preliminary sketches of a $4,000,0000 expension of the 260-bed hospital. The hospital seeks to obtain Federal financing aid in an amount of $500,000.

Dr. Eugene Courtiss of Wayland, surgeon on the hospital's active medical staff, discussed "Interesting Aspects of Cosmetic Surgery."

Concluding the morning program was Charles Shishmanian of Newton Highlands, Nursing Home inspector for the Division of Long Term Care Facilities, Commonwealth of Massachusetts. He spoke on "Current Trends in Nursing Homes." A business meeting followed luncheon at 12:15 o'clock.

At 1:45 p.m., the afternoon program opened with a report on the school of nursing and nursing service at the teaching hospital. Miss Myrtice L. Fuller, M.S., of Natick, director of the school and the nursing program of the hospital, presented the report.

The institute concluded with a panel discussion about "Coordinated Care for the Patient With a Cerebral Vascular Accident." Participants included: Moderator, Miss Anna Helfer of Brookline, nurse supervisor at Newton-Wellesley Hospital; Dr. Lester Dewis of Brookline, physiatrist on the hospital's medical staff; Miss Diane Hutchings of Newton Centre, head physical therapist at the hospital; Miss Donna Lavers of West Newton, staff nurse, and Miss Joyce Newman of Attleboro, senior student in the hospital's school of nursing.

Hospital staff members who planned the institute include: Miss Shirley Knowland, R.N., of Newtonville, instructor of Medical-Surgical Nursing; Miss Carol Flynn, R.N., of Lexington, head nurse, and Miss Anna Helfer, R.N.

Chairman of the luncheon was Mrs. Vincent Kavanaugh, R.N., of Wellesley, a graduate of the hospital school.

The institute was held during the 80th year since the hospital admitted its first patient.

Student Speaks

Editor of The Graphic:

Concerning the many articles written in regard to the Newton school system, I would like to present to you the viewpoint of a typical Meadowbrook student on this matter.

The many parents who have written articles about the experimental, but carefully selected Continuous Learning Program used at Meadowbrook, have done so to make people aware of a bad system which does not exist. Furthermore, it is not the children who complain about the system, it is the parents. The Continuous Learning Program teaches children how to make careful decisions. This is a skill which many children lack.

Parents who really feel that learning how to make choices is important, are hurting, not helping their children when they tell them that the Continuous Learning Program is not advantageous to the student, but on the contrary, hinders his progress. Here again, the parents act as though they are the students, while at the same time they make critical choices for their children.

Such action is taking away what the Continuous Learning Program has strived to give. Granted the C. L. Program does not offer to all students what it possesses for most. However, it does not hurt them any more than would another system. All systems have problems and Newton schools, although rated highly, are no exception. Once more, I would like to tell you, it is the children, not the parents who are being educated. Modern methods are being used to accomplish this. We better ourselves by trying new ideas and making changes. Without the process of trial and error the world would come to a standstill and progress to an end.

Very truly yours,
MARY RICHMOND

Call To Battle

Editor of The Graphic:

I feel compelled to warn the citizens of Newton that the following statements made in a letter in this column should be a call to battle:

". . . regain control of the PTA."

". . . get a whole new school committee."

Excellent schools in other parts of the country have lost their excellence when extremist groups infiltrated the PTA and the school committee. It is time for reasonable people to become alert and to make their voices heard.

Two bedrooms were ransacked in the home of Norman Rich at 270 Arnold Rd., Newton Centre. A report was not immediately available on what was taken.

The Warren Junior High School at 1600 Washington St., West Newton, was entered, apparently by vandals, early Sunday morning.

John J. Foran of 25 Shirley St., the school custodian, reported that a chain lock was filed off and that matches and burned-out cigarettes were found on the floor.

Three suspects were picked up when police were summoned to investigate a reported break at the Normandy Ballroom at Norumbega Park in Auburndale.

An Easter basket worth $7.50 and clothing valued at $22.50 were taken from the home of Marion F. Poverman at 573 Centre St., Newton.

A television set and valuable jewelry were taken by thieves who ransacked the home of Robert F. Krause at 74 Avalon Rd., Waban.

Political Highlights

Collins, who is hammering hard at the theme that he is the Democratic candidate who can win election in November, has tartly observed that Peabody has demonstrated an uncanny faculty for losing political contests.

He was alluding, of course, to the fact that Peabody lost the convention fight for Attorney General in 1956, the convention and primary battles for Attorney General in 1958, and the primary contests for Governor in 1960 and 1964.

Peabody has turned his guns on both Collins and Brooke, charging that Brooke doesn't belong in either political party and firing a number of allegations at Collins.

One of his salvos at Collins for not supporting Francis X. Bellotti for Governor in 1964 was rather ironic and could boomerang on Peabody.

Peabody declared that he endorsed Bellotti in the 1964 gubernatorial election after Bellotti defeated him in the primary but that Collins didn't. "I put party above personal feelings," said Peabody. "Why couldn't he?"

The fact is that Peabody did go through the motions of supporting Bellotti after Bellotti beat him in the primary, while at the same time many people in the Peabody organization, including some very close to him, energetically and industriously knifed Bellotti.

Peabody's assertion that he placed party above personal feelings in backing Bellotti seems somewhat ill-advised since Peabody's record for placing party above personal feelings and supporting candidates who defeated him in primaries is a singularly undistinguished one.

In fact, the 1964 election campaign was the first and only time Peabody ever did so.

When Edward J. McCormack defeated Peabody for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General both at the Democratic State Convention and in the Democratic primary in 1958, the bitter Peabody refused to endorse McCormack in the ensuing election. Personal feelings prevailed over party on that occasion.

This presumably was the reason McCormack quietly supported Bellotti behind the scenes against Peabody in the 1964 primary.

Again, when Joseph D. Ward defeated Peabody for the Democratic nomination for Governor in the 1960 Democratic primary, Peabody didn't take to the hustings for Ward or endorse him in the subsequent election campaign.

Peabody has a record for placing party above personnel feelings once in three times. The lone time he did so he wasn't convincing enough to influence most of his own lieutenants.

Collins wasn't sulking in his tent in 1964, as Peabody was in 1958 and 1960.

What Collins set out to do in the 1964 gubernatorial campaign was to get a public commitment from the two candidates for Governor that they would support a program which would provide financial relief for the cities and towns.

This was at a time when the State itself was getting by on financial gimmicks and when it was unable to pay the local communities money it owed them.

Collins in 1962 had supported Peabody and helped to elect him Governor after obtaining an understanding that Peabody would furnish a new source of revenue for the cities and towns which would enable them to lower their tax rates.

When Peabody assumed office, he proposed a staggering increase in the State income tax even though the people in the November election had voted 4-1 against a graduated State income tax.

His bill had no chance whatever of passage, and Peabody stood by and didn't raise a finger as it was sunk without a trace in the Legislature. Then Peabody got the State by on financial gimmicks and didn't even pay the cities and towns money owed them by the Commonwealth.

So Collins in the 1964 campaign was seeking a public declaration from the opposing gubernatorial contenders.

He got one from Governor Volpe. But the closest Bellotti came to facing up to the financial problems of the State and its cities and towns was to suggest that we endeavor to raise additional revenue by attempting to attract more tourists to Massachusetts.

That was completely unrealistic since there was no possibility whatever of obtaining the amount of money needed in that manner.

By failing to offer any real solution for the problem Collins had brought into focus, Bellotti made it impossible for Collins to endorse him without placing himself in a ridiculous position.

After Volpe and Bellotti engaged in their debate at Faneuil Hall, which marked the turning point in their election fight, Collins expressed the conviction that neither of the two had advanced a program which would aid Boston and the other cities and towns.

The fact, of course, was that Volpe came a lot closer to doing so than did Bellotti, and everyone who watched the debate on television knew it.

Volpe then proceeded to elaborate on his ideas for aiding the local comunities, and Bellotti made a campaign issue of the fact that the people could expect a move for a sales tax if Volpe was elected.

Bellotti's failure to demonstrate fiscal responsibility in his campaign cost him the support of many people, including a large number of Democrats. That obviously was the fault of Bellotti, not of Collins.

Peabody also is complaining publicly that he accepted an invitation to attend the inaugural ceremonies when Collins began his second term as Mayor in January, 1964, and that in full view of the television audience Collins lambasted him for not coming up with a tax program which would help Boston and the other cities and towns.

That is not the whole truth or the whole story.

In his inaugural address Collins sharply criticized the State for failing to provide a new source of revenue for the local communities, but at no place in his speech did he mention Peabody by name.

Peabody was given a copy of Collins' address three days in advance of its delivery. If he felt there was anything in the speech which would be embarrassing to him if he was on the platform at the time, he obviously could have stayed away.

From Peabody's reaction when Collins made his inaugural talk, an observer might conclude that Peabody didn't take the time to read the speech Collins sent him.

It is, of course, a fact that Collins did remain neutral in the Volpe-Bellotti fight, and it's difficult to see how he could have done anything else under the circumstances.

In all fairness, however, Collins did not put on an act of endorsing Bellotti while his own followers knifed Bellotti.

Richardson May Delay Decision Until June

Lieutenant Governor Elliot L. Richardson probably will not decide until the middle of June whether he wil Ibe a candidate for reelection or for Attorney General.

Richardson's own disposition is to seek another term in his present office, but he is still under strong pressure to change his mind and stand for the Attorney Generalship, an office the Republicans are extremely anxious to hold.

Because the Democratic State Convention will be held two weeks earlier than the GOP State Convention, the Republican strategists can sit back and wait to see what the Democrats do at their conclave before mapping their own final plans.

Richardson's decision as to whether he will seek another term as Lieutenant Governor or run for Attorney General could well be influenced by what happens at the Democratic State Convention.

So far the GOP has not come up with a prospective candidate for Attorney General who could match strength with ex-Governor Foster Furcolo or former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti.

Former Assistant Attorney General Bottomly, who resigned from Attorney General Brooke's staff, wanted to run for Attorney General and at one point began lining up prospective delegate support, but Volpe was cool to Bottomly's political ambitions, and Bottomly apparently has abandoned the idea of running.

Volpe's first choice for Attorney General is Richardson. If Richardson finally declines to run for the office, it is understood that Volpe will seek a candidate from western Massachusetts.

But the exact lineup of the Republican State ticket probably will not be determined until mid-June.

Brooke May Be Hurt By Bottomly Split

Former Assistant Attorney General John S. Bottomly's split with his ex-boss, Attorney General Edward W. Brooke, is certain to have some harmful effect on Brooke's chances of succeeding Leverett Saltonstall in the U. S. Senate.

Bottomly not only was Brooke's top aide in the criminal division of the Attorney General's department, but he was also a staunch political ally and a heavy financial contributor to Brooke's campaigns.

The explanation in some quarters that one of the reasons which prompted Bottomly's decision to sever his ties with Brooke was that Governor Volpe is opposed to Bottomly's nomination as the Republican candidate for Attorney General is ludicrous on the face of it.

Bottomly obviously didn't resign from Brooke's steering committee in his campaign for the U.S. Senate because he was angry with Volpe.

The real story behind Bottomly's break with Brooke is that disagreements developed between Bottomly and two former Crime Commission attorneys who were working under him and that Brooke sided with the former crime board staff members and didn't back up Bottomly.

How certain cases should be handled was the subject of one area of disagreement. But the difference of opinion went much deeper than whether indicted persons should go on trial this month or next month.

Bottomly is known to feel that one former State official was indicted on flimsy evidence.

This, in turn, raises the question of why there have been such long delays in bringing indicted persons to trial. One former State official indicted about two years ago has not yet had his day in court.

City's Charter Bill Hearing Is Postponed

A State House hearing that was scheduled for yesterday (Wednesday) at the State House on a bill to revise the city of Newton's charter has been postponed.

Rep. Joseph G. Bradley, who filed the measure, House 2876, together with Reps. Irving Fishman and Paul F. Malloy, said that as yet no hearing date before the committee on Cities has been set.

The legislation, if approved, would place a referendum question on the ballot of the next state election. It would provide for a four-year term for the mayor and for making the tenure of the Board of Aldermen co-terminous. The mayor and the aldermen now have to run for office every two years. Another provision would be a reduction in the size of the Board of Aldermen.

Lee Loumos Says:

HELP WANTED — Courageous public officials who are not afraid of the ballot box! Have you ever stopped to think how much better off this country could be if all our public officials cast their vote for the good of all people rather than for the apparent sole purpose of perpetuating themselves in office? Their obligations to minority or special groups is not enhanced by weakening the economy or the moral fibre of our nation.

The current running of the Marathon brings to mind the purer democracy of the Ancient Greeks, one of the better features of which, I believe, was choosing their public officials from amongst the qualified by lot. If it were not for the possibility of losing potentially great statesmen, would it not be even wiser to limit public office to only one term, thereby giving to the dedicated, freedom to search out the basic truth of any situation?

Incidentally, if you wonder how all this will sell my Magnavox Color TV and Stereo Hi-Fi or Fedders Air Conditioners, let me remind you that the Marathon course runs past my store. So, after you have witnessed it, why not run (or even Saunter) over to us and learn why we believe in the basic truth and beauty of our Magnavox and Fedders instruments. Philosophy as well as service will be thrown in without extra charge.

Hammond Chapt. Hears Diet Talk

The Hammond Chapter of Women's American Ort held the April 13th meeting at the home of Mrs. Edward Barnett, co-hosted by Mrs. Harold Roberts.

Mrs. Lois Lindauer, the director and founder of "Waist Watchers" of Massachusetts presented a program on weight reduction, a program aimed at helping people lose weight gradually and by keeping this weight off. She showed how through re-education of eating habits, dieters will be able to eat plenty of good nourishing food without feeling deprived and also develop patterns which will enable them to maintain their proper weight comfortably. The diet followed is based on that originated by the New York Board of Health Obesity Clinic. This is not a fad or crash diet, but a high protein, well-balanced and nutrious program.

Mrs. Lindauer, a graduate of Brandeis University, commutes weekly from her home in New York to Boston and vicinity to conduct these clinics, and at this meeting she not only discussed in full the diet and how to achieve the goal desired, but also the special problems such as: Entertaining; attending dinner parties and other affairs, resisting the children's leftovers; how to satisfy the "nibbling"; and how to co-ordinate the reducing diet with family meal preparation.

"He is infinite"

Men will never be satisfied until they know the reality of God's infinite ever-presence and meet its demands for deep, spiritual growth and the transformation of their lives. You are invited to hear a public lecture exploring this subject by JULES CERN, C.S., a member of the Board of Lectureship of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. Related readings from the denominational textbook will include these lines: "Like our Master, we must depart from material sense into the spiritual sense of being. . . . This is having part in the atonement; this is the understanding, in which Jesus suffered and triumphed" ("Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy).

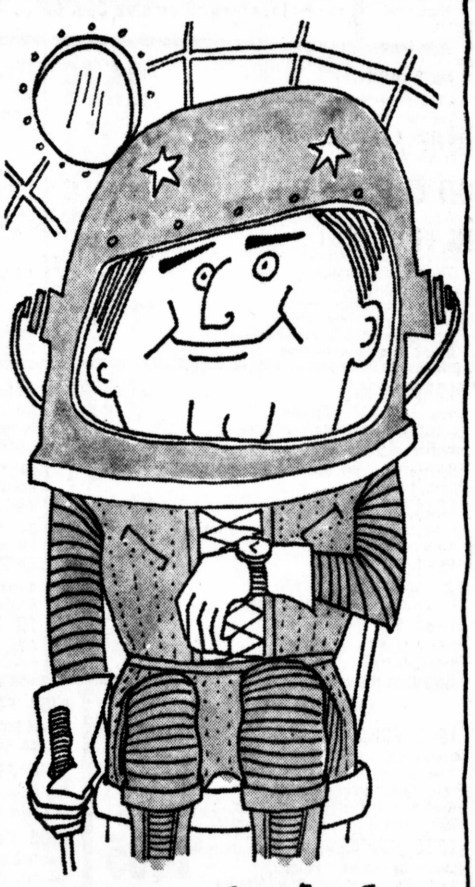
Astronauts love Bulova...



It's a big help during countdown!
5...4...3...2...1. Blast off! And, right on time too. He knows he'll be back on earth at a precise time — thanks to his Bulova Watch.
But, I'll bet there's one thing he doesn't know. And, that's that it takes nine months to produce a Bulova Watch. At Bulova nobody thinks about speed — only about excellence. And excellence takes time. Time to make, inspect, check and re-check the more than 100 tiny parts that go into a Bulova Watch. (Some are so tiny a baby's breath would blow them away).
Looks like the astronauts and Bulova have a lot in common. Guess it must take that long to check out the missile before blast off.
Come in and let our Watch Experts show you our extensive Bulova Collection of fine watches.

Art Buchwald on the airline rate war

The U.S. airlines have been promoting all sorts of special fares lately and it's very bewildering when you're planning to take a trip, particularly since there are so many restrictions involved.

I discovered this when I called an airline the other day and said I wanted two seats to California.

"Very well. We can give you a special rate if you fly between Monday and Friday and promise not to smoke over Salt Lake City."

"I promise. What rate can I get?"

"You don't happen to be an American Indian, do you?"

"No."

"That's too bad, because if you were an American Indian and left at four o'clock in the morning and returned at three o'clock the next morning, we could give you 33⅓ per cent off."

"That doesn't fit me. What else have you got?"

"There is our special weekend flight fare. If you're a practicing neuro-surgeon going to or from a brain operation, you're entitled to a 10 per cent discount."

"Neuro-surgeons get all the breaks," I complained. "Don't you have any other special fares I could take advantage of?"

"Here's one," she said. "It's good from Monday evening till Wednesday noon. If you're an American ambassador to any Scandinavian country and you're on home leave, you're entitled to first class meals in the tourist section of the plane."

"I'm afraid I wouldn't qualify for that. Incidentally, I'm traveling with my wife."

"Well, why didn't you say so?" she said excitedly. "Is she under 21 years of age?"

"I'm not sure," I replied.

"Well, if she was and you both left on a week day and neither of you had sinus conditions, you would be entitled to a discount."

"That sounds good."

"Of course, if she was pregnant and you both came from a state that didn't have an O in it, you could get an extra 5 per cent, unless this happened to be your first child."

"I guess that eliminates us."

"We still have some other special discount flights," she said. "If you're a Rhodes scholar majoring in the humanities and you have a draft-deferred status and two children, you can take our coach service any time after midnight on the Fourth of July for one-third less."

"Couldn't you just make out two tickets to California at the regular rate?"

"I'm sorry," she said, "I've never made out that kind of ticket. You'll have to talk to my supervisor."

Marian Christy on new fashions in rainwear

Thundering into the fashion world — raincoats that hardly look like raincoats.

There's only one way you can really tell if a raincoat is a raincoat these days. Wear your coat in the gloomiest of wet days.

If it's a raincoat — preferably Lawrence of London, Ltd. — you'll arrive looking both glamorous and dry.

Who took the rain out of raincoats?

Mr. Norman J. Lawrence, a moustached Englishman who IS Lawrence of London but domiciles on Seventh Ave., New York, where he heads a smashingly successful raincoat business.

Secret to his immense success: His unshakable belief that every fashionable fabric can be treated to be water-resistant.

Lawrence of London has kicked up a fashion storm with raincoats flashed with riotous colors and executed in the most unlikely of raincoat fabrics.

In the spotlight are French silk taffetas . . . new geometric abstracts from Paris . . . Swiss cottons . . . Indian raw silks. The materials smack of a true international flavor.

And they're really waterproofed.

What's more, these uninhibited raincoats are linked to the fashion trends of the moment. Imagine raincoat shapes with dirndl skirts, low-slung waists, capelets.

Coats are rarely fitted. They just float around the body. These are the kind of high-fashion raincoats that scream versatility.

They can be tossed over a cocktail dress and worn to a party if the weather is ghastly or perfect. Today's most elegant raincoats have nothing to do with the weather.

No one knows better than Mr. Lawrence that women are fickle and hard to please. He knows how demanding they can be when it comes to fashion.

Mr. Lawrence has the proved knack of identifying raincoats with chic, good taste, upper-crust styling. A raincoat just isn't a raincoat anymore. The high-priced, high-fashion raincoat is a coat to be lived in. It's here to stay.

Red Smith on the new Astrodome rug

Before the game, earthmen in neon-red space suits primped the infield with vacuum sweepers and brooms. "It's a fake," said a customer in a field box." "Look, those vacuum cleaner cords aren't plugged in." "I noticed that," said the astroblonde who had shown him to his seat. She shrugged. Neither she nor any other creature under the plastic heaven of the Houston bubble questions the signs and wonders of Judge Roy Hofheinz, the astrothinker who made up the Astrodome out of his own head.

"A milestone in the history of major league baseball," was the way a press agent for Chemstrand Co. described the Astros' first exhibition game on astroturf, the world's only infield of genuine, real, bonafide phony grass.

Partly because grass won't grow satisfactorily in the thin sunshine filtered through the vast blister and partly to cut the cost of taking up turf and resodding the field whenever he books in a revival meeting, kooch dancers or "Aida" with live elephants, Hofheinz carpeted the infield and the area outside the foul lines with the experimental synthetic.

The outfield, sodded with grass from the club's own turf farm, was dyed green to disguise its patch condition. Even before the infield surface had been tried out, the orbiting judge announced it would be an unqualified success and he would have it on the outfield by June 10, the first wall-to-wall carpet in baseball.

Baseball spikes get good traction in the nap and do not penetrate to the base. To lay the rug, trenches 18 inches deep were dug along the edges and floored with two-by-fours studded with hooks set on springs. The edges of the carpet turn down into the earth and are tied to these springs, whose tension keeps the surface from wrinkling.

As in other parks, the area around home plate and the base paths are bare earth. Thus a baserunner slides on dirt, though Hofheinz says football players enjoy being tackled on his astrorug. In a circle of dirt 18 feet in diameter is the judge's portable astromound. It consists of packed clay on a steel cone which can be hoisted and tucked away when the playpen is converted to unnatural uses, like Republican rallies.

On the basis of a two-game trial, the counterfeit infield seems playable, though further experiment seems desirable. Some comments:

Bob Aspromonte, Astro third baseman: "It's too fast now, but that probably could be remedied by softening the earth underneath."

Sonny Jackson, Astro shortstop: "The infield is no faster than in Los Angeles. Clods on the carpet make some bad hops. They should sweep it oftener."

Marjory Adams on the new movie, "Dr. Zhivago"

"Doctor Zhivago" is the most magnificent film 1966 has yet produced. It has excitement, poetry, imagination and absolutely thrilling scenes set in the Russian countryside. It also has Omar Sharif in the title role. If he isn't my idea of what Boris Pasternak meant his Dr. Zhivago to be, at least the star is handsome, tensely exciting and romantic enough to attract the ladies.

Yet Dr. Zhivago as depicted by Sharif seems almost obstinately unable to make up his mind to do something about the various crises in his life. He is a passive man at best. One keeps waiting for the action which doesn't come. Perhaps this is due to Mr. Pasternak and the Russian temperament as contrasted to Hollywood and the American attitude towards drama.

Two leading women add tremendous decorative value to the picture. Geraldine Chaplin, Charlie Chaplin's eldest daughter, is cast as the rejected wife; Julie Christie, who won plaudits for "Darling", is the glamorous, alluring Lara, Zhivago's mistress.

Among the men in the prodigious cast assembled by Director Lean are Tom Courtenay and Rod Steiger. Their roles are only occasionally important, but at least they have more to do with the plot than such stars as Siobhan McKenna, Alec Guinness, Ralph Richardson, Rita Tushingham and Adrienne Corri.

What is unforgettable, however, are the scenes of nature. Mr. Lean knows how to photograph impressive backgrounds, as he proved with "Lawrence of Arabia" and "Bridge on the River Kwai". There's one scene in this new picture in which a snow covered field is shown through an ice incrusted window of the cottage where Zhivago and Lara are pursuing their romance away from a troubled, arduous world. Hope comes with the Spring, and through the unclouded window one suddenly visions the heart-stopping beauty of a golden field covered with daffodils. This is "Doctor Zhivago" at its greatest.

Mary McGrory on Robert Kennedy's trip through the Deep South

Who can tell the political significance of the extraordinary welcome given Bobby Kennedy in two states of the Old Confederacy?

The Senator himself said on the plane that carried him from Oxford, Miss., to Tuscaloosa, Ala., that he wasn't sure he had made any converts, but was quite satisfied that he had "started them thinking."

The friendly natives did not entirely approve his haircut or his accent, but they seemed anxious to receive his message about the necessity of ending the "vain quarrels of the past."

He was asked at both stops about his presidential ambitions. At Oxford he said he had no plans to run. When he was further asked if he would accept the nomination in 1972, he said laconically, "I haven't been offered it by anyone yet."

By the time he got to the campus of the University of Alabama he might have been in the Bronx, things were going so swimmingly between him and his new fans. Before an almost boisterously friendly audience, he said he had been asked if his route were part of a presidential campaign.

"I just want to announce my wife is not going to run for president," he said and brought down the house. The candidacy of Lurleen Wallace, Gov. George Wallace's wife, is regarded as ludicrous by the egg-heads at the University.

Obviously at home in Alabama, where there was only one question about civil rights, to ten about Viet Nam, he expounded his views on foreign policy, on the danger of escalation, on the folly of preventive war with China, on the peril of extending bombing to Hanoi, on the admission of Red China to the U. N. and on the changes necessary in NATO.

He endorses, for instance, Johnson policies in Viet Nam, but implicitly takes issue with Secretary of State Rusk's designation of the war as a struggle "to stop Communist aggression."

And when his views on stopping inflation were requested, he said, "I think the country is in good hands."

Later when a young negro asked if there is a split between him and the President, Sen. Kennedy said he had "the greatest respect for him and for what he has accomplished in the U. S."

So, while declaring his loyalty, he subtly indicated that their differences are over Foreign Policy, and there the problem is tone as much as substance.

Alabama seemed an odd place to be making such fine points, but Bobby Kennedy's visit proved, among other things, that the south freed from its old obsessions, loves hearing such delicate distinctions.

Julia Child on making Petits Fours

Petits Fours are little filled cakes about 2 inches in diameter, covered with sugar frosting called fondant, and topped with such decorative items as candied violets, sugar flowers, nuts, or chocolate. The cake for petits fours can be plain sponge cake, but the Génoise is easier to handle because it is firmer and dryer. The filling can be anything you wish; French butter cream is particularly good. Fondant frosting is sugar

PETITS FOURS

1 filled 8 to 9-inch Genoise or sponge cake, 1½ inches high
1 cup apricot glaze (1 cup apricot jam forced through a sieve, and boiled to 128 degrees with 2 tablespoons sugar)
2 cups fondant
2 sharp-pronged kitchen forks
A cake rack set over a tray
Decorative suggestions: walnut or pecan halves, candied violets or rose petals, melted chocolate
Paper cones or cake decorating tubes

Cut the cake into squares, rectangles, triangles, diamonds, or wedges about 2 inches in diameter. Paint tops and sides with warm apricot glaze.

Melt the fondant with whatever flavorings you have chosen and set in a pan of hot water. Pierce one of the cake pieces with a fork, entering one side of the bottom at an angle; tip fondant pan, and rotate cake in fondant to cover top and sides. Place cake on rack and dislodge it with second fork; excess fondant will drip onto tray and may be added to fondant in pan later. Continue rapidly with the rest of the cakes: after dipping 2 or 3 you will begin to get the feel and to judge the correct thickness for the fondant.

Press nuts, leaves, etc., onto the petits fours (you may have to glue them with melted fondant), or decorate with lines or rosettes of melted chocolate pushed through a paper cone or decorating tube. If you are making chocolate petits fours, you may decorate them with white fondant pushed through a tube. After frosting has set, arrange the petits fours on a serving tray or in paper cups.

William Doyle on figuring long-term capital gains

Q. Last year, for the first time, I had a long-term capital gain ($225) on some stock I sold after owning it for more than six months. I presumed I would pay a maximum Federal income tax of 25 percent on the gain — as I have been reading for years and years.

But I find no place in Schedule D of the Federal income tax return forms to enter the long-term capital gain, except to add it to regular income — unless I have a net taxable income of more than $26,000.

Does this mean that a single person with a net taxable income of $26,000 or less must pay full Federal income tax on long-term capital gains?

A. No. You evidently did not read Schedule D ("Gains and Losses From Sales or Exchanges of Property") closely enough.

On line 5 (actually lines) of Schedule D, you report each of your long-term capital gains or losses. On line 9, you report your net long-term gains or losses. Since you had only one such gain, you will enter the same figure on both lines.

For your purposes, we'll skip line 10 — where long and short-term capital gains are added up or subtracted.

On line 11, you enter 50 per cent of long-term capital gain. And you report it as taxable income. So, you end up paying half as much income tax on that long-term capital gain as you would on your ordinary income — salary, interest, dividends, etc.

You, for instance, would pay income tax on $112.50 of that long-term capital gain. But, if you had net taxable income kicking you into the 50 per cent or higher tax bracket ($26,000 for individuals, $52,000 for joint returns and $38,000 for those filing as "heads of household") you would use the "computation of alternative tax."

That method is spelled out on the reverse side of Schedule D. Using it, you pay a tax of 50 per cent of 50 per cent of your long-term capital gain. One-half of one-half is one-quarter — 25 percent.

You should see that the top Federal tax on long-term capital gains is 25 per cent. And for most people, who are in the lower per cent tax brackets, the tax bite is only half what it is on ordinary income.

Evans and Novak on the truce danger in Viet Nam

Washington

While President Johnson's generals are now publicly pressing for a tougher bombing policy against North Viet Nam, they still conceal another deep worry that goes to the heart of Viet Nam policy.

The concern of high-ranking brass is that the Administration is so committed to the policy of unconditional discussions with the Communists that a sudden bid for a ceasefire by Hanoi might be impossible to turn down. Without careful preparation, the American people — and particularly the peace bloc — simply would not understand the necessity of rejecting a ceasefire.

Although the prospect of a ceasefire proposal by Hanoi may seem remote today, some highly influential military men in Washington want the administration to prepare the way for it now. That would require explaining in precise detail to the American people why a ceasefire could be disastrous to the over-all hope of preventing Communist control in Saigon.

Behind this concern of the Military is its conviction that, despite limitations on bombing the North, the war is going much harder for Hanoi and the Viet Cong than is generally understood. But the Communists understand. Thus, the Viet Cong might suddenly decide a ceasefire is a better long-term prospect for control of South Viet Nam than continued fighting.

Intelligence available in the Pentagon strongly supports the growing military optimism about the course of the war.

A vast increase in battlefield interrogation of Viet Cong prisoners, for example, indicates that 50 per cent of some enemy units are "combat ineffective" because of disease. These interrogations are providing U. S. and South Vietnamese forces with detailed information of enemy operations, with unit identification, and with enemy battle plans that were wholly unavailable a few months ago.

If the U. S. got caught in Korea-like restrictions in South Viet Nam, the Viet Cong would be free to consolidate control of large areas in the highlands and U. S. troops would tend to be withdrawn to their base areas.

The result would be a static situation in which all the advantages would go to the Viet Cong. It would take months for political missionaries from Saigon to get into those areas and compete with the Viet Cong political agents.

Walter Lippmann on Mexico 40 years ago... and today

During the past fortnight I have been in Mexico which I last saw nearly 40 years ago. At that time the Mexican revolution had been under way some 15 years. The United States had invaded Mexico twice, once by sea at Vera Cruz to avenge an insult to the Flag and once by land in a punitive expedition commanded by Gen. Pershing. He was in pursuit of the guerrilla fighter Pancho Villa who was indistinguishable from a bandit, had raided Columbus, N.M., and had killed a score of Americans.

In the Twenties there was a mounting agitation in this country to occupy Mexico and suppress the revolution. It was a bloody revolution, replete with atrocities, ambushes, guerrilla raids, kidnapings, executions, looting, burning, the rape of nuns and the sacrilegious destruction of churches.

The revolution was a class war against the landlords, Mexican and foreign, and there was expropriation of foreign enterprise and of oil and mineral concessions. Moreover, during World War I the Mexican revolution sided with Germany and was accused of conspiring with the Kaiser's government to regain the American Southwest in the event of a German victory . . .

The party which governs Mexico today descends directly from the revolutionary leaders, from Madero, Carranza, Obregon and Calles, and so far as one can see there is now internal peace. The Mexican peso has been stable for 12 years, and it is now, or is very close to being, one of the hard currencies of the non-Communist world. While Mexico still has a long way to go before it conquers the universally difficult problem of rural poverty, its industrial development is spectacular.

The biggest dividend of all is that we have for a neighbor a strong country which is at once independent and yet our friend. This may come to have great significance in middle America — in the Caribbean region from the Texas border to Panama. For the existence of a Latin country of the stature and caliber of Mexico opens up the prospect of a regional understanding and organization in what — as would be apparent if there were a military intrusion by a non-American power — is in the last analysis a sphere of vital U.S. interest.

Some Mexicans think that the time may not be too far off when all this will begin to show in the relations between Cuba and the rest of middle America. Mexico, as we know, has never broken relations with Cuba, and there is an operating airline between Mexico City and Havana.

The Mexicans regulate the traffic strictly, but it is kept open for official intercourse. The Mexicans say that they are maintaining a "bridge," and they say further that there are accumulating signs that Castro, whose regime is working so badly is beginning to act like a desperate man.

If only, say the Mexicans, he were deprived of the support which comes from being surrounded by enemies, if only he had to face his own people directly, we would probably find that the Cubans are tiring of him. So, the Mexicans say, we are keeping open the bridge, and we hope you understand why.

Jimmy Breslin on "Aunt Marge"

Aunt Marge is marvelous. Here she is, sitting in the back of the $3-a-head limousine going from Brooklyn to the race track, and she has the form sheet held up in front of her face so nobody on the avenue can see her. She is gray-haired and very presentable in a blue suit. She sits there in the back of the old car and six guys smoking cigars are jammed around her and up front two Chinamen sit with Monty the driver.

"Marvelous," Aunt Marge says.

"Oh, isn't this a lovely day?" Aunt Marge says to the men in the car. "And I certainly hope that one of you nice men here is a Shylock."

One of the Chinamen in the front seat shrugs. "Own my own place," he says. "Once in a while loan money."

"Marvelous," Aunt Marge says. "Where does a person look for you after the fifth or sixth race?" . . .

Aunt Marge says her excursions to the race track are simply a matter of taste in living. She says she is thrilled by the sight of jockeys in silks climbing atop beautiful horses. She says Braulio Baeza is worth the price of admission alone. Aunt Marge says he looks just like Montezuma. "Don't you think it's a lot better than staying home and watching 'Love of Life?'" she says. Aunt Marge does not say she goes to the race track because she is the absolutely worst lady gambler anybody can recall. And that she will do anything to get money for betting . . .

Aunt Marge removes the form sheet from her face and she takes out a cigarette and one of the men lights it for her and Aunt Marge holds the cigarette in her left hand, which has no wedding rings on it this week, and she smiles at the Chinese Shylock in the front seat. "I hope you're prompt," she tells him.

Carl Rowan on court-testing interracial marriage bans

WASHINGTON — The most explosive issue in American race relations may soon plummet into the chambers of the U.S. Supreme Court — thanks to a ruling last week by the Virginia Supreme Court.

In a case involving a white man and his part-Negro, part-Indian wife, the Virginia panel held that a Virginia law forbidding interracial marriages is constitutional.

Thus, for the first time in modern history, the nation's highest tribunal may decide, on the merits, the validity of the anti-miscegenation statutes that exist in most Southern and a few Northern states.

The high court has skirted the legal periphery of the issue for several years, seemingly out of awareness that interracial marriage is the emotional Rubicon over which millions of Americans have not yet crossed. If it gets the Virginia case, as it is expected to, the federal court may have to make a straight-forward ruling as to whether a Constitution that prevents a state from restricting a child to a certain school because of its race will also prevent that state from restricting the marriage choice of a man or woman to a certain group because of his or her race.

As Important as Schools

Wives and husbands have a way of becoming every bit as important as the grade school you attended, so I find it hard, on constitutional grounds, to see how a state can make race a determining factor in marriage but not in schooling.

More and more Americans have grown to hold this opinion during the last 15 years, with several states repealing their anti-miscegenation statutes. The public has become enlightened to the fact that:

- The "old wives' tales" and theories of racial superiority on which the laws were based don't stand the test of either science or a mature mind.
- The laws serve almost no purpose other than to insult minority groups and cloak a lot of hypocrisy. Prof. Melville Herskovits wrote in his book "The American Negro" that less than 20 per cent of American Negros are wholly of African descent. This led John Gunther to conclude in his book "Inside U.S.A." that "a lot of people have been intimate with a lot of people," the statutes notwithstanding.

The Old Arguments

When the whole issue is opened up before the high tribunal, it ought to produce some fascinating arguments. One of the most interesting cases up till now was that of Perez vs. Sharp before the California Supreme Court in 1948.

To justify refusing a license to Andrea Perez, a white woman, and Sylvester Davis, a Negro, the state (through Sharp) trotted out all the old arguments: (1) Without a legal ban there would be a rapid increase in the number of interracial marriages; (2) Mixed marriages produce inferior offspring; (3) Society has a health interest because "Negroes, Mulattoes, Mongolians and Malayans" are physically inferior to Caucasians and more "subject to certain diseases"; (4) Colored people are mentally inferior to Caucasians and "continued intermarriage would cause retrogression of the human race"; (5) Mixed marriages cause social tension, and (6) Only the "dregs of society" in both races want to intermarry and such unions of "dregs" are "publicly obnoxious."

After rejecting each argument, the California court decided that the 98-year-old law was unconstitutional.

California survived.

I expect that the U.S. Supreme Court eventually will nullify all racial restrictions on marriage.

And the United States will survive.

Dear "Between Two Thorns"

I sympathize with your problem as I, too, am a jealous wife at times, but I have full confidence in my husband's love for me and our children. He chose to marry me because of the person I am just as your husband must love you for the person you are. Remember beauty comes from within. Have you ever noticed how a plain person can become very pretty in your eyes once you get to know her, because she is a lovely person. This can work in the reverse with a good looking person. Have confidence in your husband's love for you and good luck.

Report

plant, even with a lesser enrollment than 3000 students, would result in the abandonment of the present site and facilities, in the removal of substantial parkland acreage and in the creation of access and parking problems in the vicinity of the park," the committee informed Mayor Basbas.

"These disadvantages were considered significant enough by the committee to warrant elimination of this alternative," the report added.

Also considered and eliminated was an alternative under which Cold Spring Playground would be used as the site for a 3000 student school.

After lengthy deliberation the committee came down to three alternatives.

One was the plan finally decided upon.

The second was the construction of a new school at Edmands Park and the expansion of South High School.

The third was the erection of a 3000 student high school on the present Newton site and the construction of a stadium and other related facilities at a different location.

Mayor Basbas warmly commended the High School Building Site Committee for "a job marvelously well done," adding that the committee's study was made in complete depth.

"This report," said Basbas, "is proof that it is not necessarily so that if you want to kill something, you assign it to a study committee."

Planning Consultant Charles E. Downe served as chairman of the committee which made the study to determine the best site for the new Newton High School.

Other committee members were Planning Director James A. Miller, Aldermen Melvin J. Dangel, Franklin N. Flaschner, William M. Glovsky, William E. Hopkins and Harry L. Walen, Superintendent of Schools Charles E. Brown, School Committeeman Hugh M. Tomb, Newton High School Principal Richard W. Mechem, Recreation Commissioner John B. Penney, Mrs. Worthing L. West, chairman of the Recreation Commission.

Also Public Buildings Commissioner Vincent D. Burns, City Librarian A. William Kunkel, the Rev. W. Seavey Joyce, S.J., dean of the Boston College Business School; Robert C. Casselman of the Newton Redevelopment Authority, Dr. James S. Mansfield, president of the Newton High School PTA; Benjamin F. Shattuck, president of the Newton Conservators; and Mrs. Melvin I. Shoul of the Newton League of Women Voters.

In explaining their various recommendations, the committee members said in their report that during the study it became apparent that the use of the present Newton High site for a 3000 student high school would be "overloading the land unless appreciable site expansion was undertaken.

This resulted in the proposal for an addition to Newton South High and a decrease in the enrollment at Newton High.

The separation of outdoor athletic facilities from the school buildings, as considered in one alternative, "was deemed educationally "poor" and was eliminated as a possibility, the committee declared.

The specification recommendations made to the Mayor by the committee were:

"1. That the Newton High School be retained at its present location as the best long-range answer to the question of its future site.

"2. That that optimum size of the school be established at 2500 students.

"3. That a combination of new construction and of renovation of Building II (the Technical High School) be carried out to accomodate that enrollment.

4. That the site be expanded by the acquisition of the land parcels shown on the accompanying map in order to provide an adequate area for the proposed new construction.

"5. That the optimum size of South High School be established at 2000 students and that new facilities be planned and constructed to accomodate 500 additional students."

Lasell Sponsors Concert Of Classical Jazz Music

Lasell Junior College in Auburndale will sponsor a classical-jazz concert on April 20 at Winslow Hall.

The world premiere of "Double Quintet '65" will be performed at the concert by the two performing groups: The Fine Arts Woodwind Quintet and the Herb Pomeroy Jazz Quintet. "Double Quintet '65," which integrates classical and jazz techniques, was commissioned especially for this program.

Gerald Siddons, who composed the Double Quintet, is facile working in both jazz and classic techniques. He graduated from Boston Conservatory, studied composition at Brandeis University and then at the Berklee School, which is known for its jazz influence. Siddons is now on the Berklee faculty.

Along with "Double Quintet '65," the quintets will play music of their own idiom. The Fine Arts Woodwind Quintet will perform the Quintets of Walter Piston and Elliott Carter. The Pomeroy Quintet will present improvisations in jazz, most of which have been arranged by the group's saxophonist, Charlie Mariano.

The Fine Arts Woodwind Quintet comprises five of the finest woodwind musicians in Boston. They have performed together for six years.

The Herb Pomeroy Quintet appears frequently at the Jazz Workshop in Boston and on WGBH-TV in a show called "JAZZ" which Pomeroy hosts each week.

The concert, which is open to the public, begins at 8 p.m. Tickets are available the night of the concert at Winslow Hall.

Wheaton Fund Goal In Sight Report States

An interim report on the progress of the annual Wheaton College fund raising campaign indicates that Newton is among the top 10 in contributions, according to Mrs. Gerald H. Popkin of 85 Pond Brook Rd., Chestnut Hill, area chairman.

The goal can be reached, thanks to the continuing efforts of her committee members, Mrs. Popkin reports.

A final clean-up effort is now in progress.

Following are members of the Newton committee: Mrs. Jordan Birger, Mrs. Herbert Carver, Mrs. Alfred Pill, Mrs. William Dockser, Mrs. Irving Finsen, Mrs. Harold B. Grandberg, Mrs. Michael Hoffman, Mrs. Richard Kanter, Mansfield, 580 Walnut St.,New-Mrs. John Knight, Mrs. Herbert Myers.

Also, Mrs. Edward Nalebuff, Mrs. Daniel Ryter, Mrs. Ryter, Mrs. Alan Shoalman, Mrs. James Sidell, Mrs. Lewis Simons, Mrs. Jason and Mrs. Norman Waks.

Cash Value Rates To Be Discussed

Newton assessors are scheduled to appear before the Tax Commission at the State House on Monday, Apr. 18, to discuss possible new fair cash value rates within this community.

Tax Commissioner Guy P. Rizzotto called the meeting to determine if any rates should be changed. The rates will be used as a part of the fomula for deciding shares of revenue from the new sales tax. New value rates would determine only the distribution of sales tax money in the future, but not in 1966, according to the state tax office.

Newton is figured by the state as having a full valuation worth of $665,000,000, while the city assessors put their valuation figure at $324,-821,150. A comparison with the state figures would indicate a formula just short of 50 percent of full valuation.

The hearing at the State House will be held in the Gardner Auditorium.

no way cause traffic congestion and complete details of the operation.

Atty Fialkow read a letter that had been written to him by Philip Purcell, Newton police chief, and which was printed in the presentation. It was as follows: "Captain Corcoran of the Traffic Bureau of our police department, after investigation, reports that the auto wash establishment that you plan on Commonwealth Ave., Auburndale, on property immediately adjacent to the Star Market, will not be a traffic hazard, nor will it interfere with the normal traffic flow on Commonwealth Ave. at this point.

"From a police viewpoint, we can see no objection to this project."

Also included in the presentation was a letter to the petitioner's attorney from Norman A. Abend of Wayland, described by Fialkow as a recognized consultant on traffic. In the letter, Abend wrote, in part:

"At your request I have reviewed the car wash site between the Star Market and the bridge over the Massachusetts Turnpike. The purpose of this letter is to comment on appropriate traffic considerations for the site.

"The on-site storage of approximately 50 cars, with an additional six cars in the building, is reasonable, assuming 22 feet per waiting car.

"The exit storage, 300 feet long, is far in excess of anything that would conceivably be required.

"The storage capacity represents 25 percent of the estimated weekday business and 10 percent of the Saturday business, the peak day, which you have estimated at 500 cars. Thus, with an anticipated production rate of 60 cars per hour, the car wash could accommodate the arrival of up to 110 cars, or over 20 percent of the daily volume.

"In summary, the site will not, in my opinion, create a traffic problem."

The petitioner's spokesman repeatedly declared that at no time would there ever be cars waiting for service on Commonwealth Ave. The investment in land and machinery, he said, would be $175,000, with all the equipment being new and up-to-date, and the operation completely noiseless. The hours of operation, he said, would be from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., and on a normal day 250 cars would be washed, and 500 on Saturdays. There woulld be no Sunday operation.

Howard E. Branch of 483 Branch St., Auburndale, told the committee that as a public relations man he had endeavored to ascertain the general feeling toward the car wash proposal in the Auburndale area, in which he had been living for 12 years. He filed with the Claims and Rules committee a petition signed by 770 Newton residents, including 343 from Auburndale. who viewed the car wash proposal with favor.

Kevin Hughes, the new vice president of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, was the final proponent to come forward. He put the Chamber on record as in favor of the proposal, and urged the committee to give it favorable consideration.

Leading off the opposition was Jack MacMunn of 516 Auburn St., Auburndale, former president of the Burr School PTA, who declared that approximately 300 Auburndale residents were opposed to the car wash.

Robert J. Dwyer, 4 Ionia St., Auburndale, said that Commonwealth Ave., at the entrance to the Garden City, had already become a "Great White Way," and commented, "This we do not want." Like other objectors, he disagreed with the contention that the car wash would not affect traffic, and asserted that its establishment would make property values in the area drop.

Others who spoke in opposition were James M. Leonard, 2007 Commonwealth Ave., an abutter; Mrs. George Michaels, 195 Islington Rd.; Richard A. Crosby, 170 Harvard St., Newtonville, senior deacon of the Church of the Messiah in Auburndale, who spoke as a representative of the church's laymen; David L. McElroy, 124 Rowe St., Auburndale, who said residents on that street were 100 percent opposed, and former Alderman David W. Jackson of 362 Wolcott St., a block away from the proposed site.

Jackson asserted that there already existed a visibility problem on Commonwealth Ave. in the vicinity of the Sunoco service station, which is near the proposed site. He also pointed out that trucks making deliveries to the Star Market line up on the avenue while jockeying for position at the market's loading dock, and that therefore, a traffic problem exists even without the presence of a car wash operation.

Prior to bringing the hearing to an end, Harry H. Ham, Jr., chairman of the Claims and Rules committee, called for shows of hands, asking first for showings by Auburndale residents, then by residents of Rowe St., and finally by Newton residents outside the Auburndale area.

No hands were raised in favor by the first two groups, and there were a large number of hands raised in opposition. Non-Auburndale residents indicated approval of the proposal in considerable numbers.

Scholarships To Be Awarded At Emerson Gay Nineties Night

Two scholarships will be awarded this (Thursday) evening at "Gay Nineties Night at Emerson," the 15th annual scholarship benefit sponsored jointly by Emerson School PTA and the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club.

The entertainment, which begins at 7:45, will feature the Newton-Wellesley Barbershoppers and the Boston Criers.

The Newton chapter of the Society was formed eight years ago, and its "boundaries" were enlarged last year when it became the Newton-Wellesley chapter. During this period, it has made numerous appearances of both an entertainment and charitable nature. Under the direction of Dick Gallivan, they are always ready to do their part in keeping "the Old Songs" ringing.

The distaff side is also represented in barber shop harmony by an organization known as the Sweet Adelines, one of whose finer quartets is the "Boston Criers," organized for the past three years. They have sung in New England, Canada, New York and in the Mid-west, and have appeared on radio and television. Rosalie Robinson is the director.

The "Country Store" will be opened from 7 p.m., selling penny candy, pickles from the barrel, root beer, cookies, remnants, gifts, etc.

Tickets may be bought at the door.

Dawn Plaisted, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hartwich, 17 Keefe ave., Newton Upper Falls, and Richard Hennessey, son of Mrs. John J. Hennessey, 1269 Boylston st., Newton Upper Falls, are the scholarship winners. Both will graduate from Newton South High School in June.

Richard has participated actively in varsity football, outdoor track, and intramural basketball in the three years he was at Newton South High School. As a Junior, he was inducted into both the National Honor Society and the French National Honor Society.

Richard hopes to attend one of the Ivy League colleges in September. At present, he is considering a career in either Engineering or Medicine.

Dawn graduated from the Emerson School and Meadowbrook Junior High. She has worked in the guidance office at Newton South High School during school and after school. She hopes to take a one-year secretarial course at Burdett College.

Peace Center Plans Benefit Sale Of Books

Ebooks are accumulating at an encouraging rate at the Newton Community Peace Center, 474 Centre St., for the Voice of Women—Newton annual fund-raising book sale scheduled for the week of April 25.

Dusting, sorting, lugging, and pricing the many varieties of books being received are Mrs. Melvin I. Shoul, Mrs. Leon Birnbaum, Mrs. Edmund C. Berkeley, Mrs. Edwin Gordy, Mrs. Daniel Kunitz, Mrs. Harold J. Stein, all of Newton, and other willing helpers.

Prospective buyers are tipped off that prices are being marked by strict amateurs who don't always know a good bargain when they see one. For example, there was one Louisa May Alcott book which was sold for 5c and it returns each year to haunt VOW members. The buyer, having paid her nickel, cheerfully pointed out to the person who accepted it the fact that the book was a first edition and contained a full paragraph in the author's own handwriting, along with her signature.

Funds received from the sale will be used to benefit the Newton Community Peace Center and the Voice of Women-Newton in their work of studying and sponsoring ways and means of achieving peaceful solutions to world problems which threaten mankind with constantly recurring if not total war.

The Peace Center, soon to be renamed the Newton Community Peace Education Center, and the Voice of Women-Newton, earnestly solicit the interest and participation of all Newton citizens, not only in the fund-raising effort, but in the work for peace. For information, please call 332-9110, which is the Peace Center number.

Frederick Alessi, 33 Bencliffe Cir., Auburndale, a philosophy major at the University of Massachusetts, was one of 38 seniors elected to Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary society of scholars in the arts and sciences.

Scouts To Take Part in Acton Patriots' Day Program Tuesday

Boy Scouts from this community will take part next Tuesday in Acton's celebration of Patriots' Day.

Both as individuals and in troop units, they will join with scouts from several other states in participating in the Action observance.

A special series of events has been planned for the Scouts, many of whom will camp out at the Nashoba Sportsmens Club on Route 27, North Acton. That organization has turned its entire facilities over to the campers. Firemen will provide flood lighting and communications, with a special detachment of local medical personnel available for any emergency.

Invitations sent out by the Town's Public Celebrations Committee, to 300 scout troops to take part in the annual observance, has resulted in a response indicating that over 1100 will be on hand to participate. Troops from Buffalo, N. Y., and New York City are among the many out-of-staters planning to attend. While most scouts will arrive on Monday and camp overnight, others are expected to arrive Sunday. All local Boy Scouts are invited to attend and participate in the program. A registration booth has been established at the camping area.

The local scouts will take part in the march over the Isaac Davis Trail to the Old North Bridge in Concord on Patriots Day morning. The same trail used by Captain Davis and his band of 38 Minutemen when they went to meet the British Red Coats on that memorable morning of April 19, 1775.

Local Boy Scouts completing the 7-mile trek over the Trail will qualify for a national historic trail award. A special Isaac Davis patch will also be available for the boys.

The Scouts will assemble at the Davis Homestead at 5:50 a.m. on Patriots Day morning, with other patriotic groups, residents, and visitors, for a brief memorial observance. Martial music will be provided by a special Marine Corps Band from Quantico, Va., and the Acton-Boxboro High School Band; address of welcome by Ray Shamel, chairman of the celebrations committee; a flag raising by the scouts; placing of a wreath on the memorial marker, and a Flint-lock Musket Salute by Acton Minutemen. Dr. Kennet D. Wells, president of Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, will be the principal speaker.

At 6:30 a.m. the retracing of the line of march to the Old North Bridge in Concord will get underway, led by The Acton Minutemen under command of Col. Walter Johnson. Over two thousand persons are expected to join in the march along highways, across fields, through woods and over streets, until they arrive at the Muster Field in Concord and then march across the causeway to the Old North Bridge. A fife and drum corps playing the White Cockade will accompany the marchers.

On arrival at the Old North Bridge the Acton groups will join with the Concord Minutemen and other surrounding patriotic units, and participate in the Concord Day program. Scouts will be transported back to their camping grounds by special busses.

Monday night a mammoth campfire will be lighted on the camping site by means of "fire from the sky." This Indian Fire Lighting ceremony will be followed by the mass presentation of the colors by the scouts.

A special program—"Flags of Acton Men" will be another featured attraction during the campfire ceremonies. Presented by the Acton Minutemen it depicts a history of flags carried by Acton men through the years.

The Scouts will then be addressed by General Bruce C. Clarke, USA (Ret.), who has long been interested in scouting and who is an honored guest of the Town of Acton for Patriot's Day observances.

General Clarke is executive vice president of Freedoms Foundation and recently retired from the army after a distinguished 44-year career. During which time he was Commander in Chief of the U. S. Army in Europe and Commander of the Central Army Group.

Chairman Shamel predicts that public participation this year will be larger than ever before. In 1965 the Town of Acton received a Freedoms Foundation Award for its Patriots Day program and the appearance of Dr. Wells and General Clarke is in salute to the town.

Early Auto Inspections Requested

Registrar of Motor Vehicles Richard E. McLaughlin today urged all motorists that inspection stickers should be obtained early so that inspection stations will not be swamped at the May 15 deadline.

"More than 3,300 official inspection stations are prepared to perform the semi-annual checkup on over two million Massachusetts registered motor vehicles," according to McLaughlin.

"However, they will best be able to serve those persons who present their vehicles early during the six-week period," he added.

A red sticker with black printing will be placed on the windshields of vehicles which meet the inspection requirements. An oval white sticker with a red band across its middle will be placed on the windshields of all rejected motor vehicles.

All motor vehicles which are registered in Massachusetts must undergo inspection.

Equipment that will be checked includes brakes, headlights, taillights, stop lights, marker lights on commercial vehicles, muffler and exhaust systems, steering systems, suspension, windshields and windshield wipers, rear windows, number plates, tires and external metal.

Trucks will also be checked for reflectors, chock blocks and splash guards. Trailers will have safety chains and lights inspected. Motorcycle and motor-scooter inspection will include brakes, lights and exhaust system.

Better Call An Expert For Termite Control

Can the "do-it-yourselfer" handle his own termite control work?

Yes, he can, says Richard Keenan of the Waltham Chemical Co. But he had better have eight to ten spare weekends he's ready to devote to pick and shovel work, and he'll need competence in handling chemicals—lots of them. It would be helpful, too, if he has some specialized equipment such as pneumatic drills, pumping equipment and all the associated gear. But especially the picks and shovels and a lot of time. Plus a pretty patient wife.

Trouble is, Keenan notes, that most people undertaking the job don't realize just how big a task it is, and by eventually tiring of the effort and cutting corners, they end up with a house that isn't protected after all.

"It is theoretically possible," Keenan pointed out, "for a property owner to take measures to control a termite colony and there is a great deal of information from Federal and State sources on how to do it.

"But the home owner who contemplates a termite control job should first read the termite bulletins very carefully, figure out the yards of dirt he will have to move and the chemicals he will have to buy to do the job according to those specifications.

"If he still feels he can tackle the job economically, fine, but the chances are that he will realize that he faces a back-breaking job and that even after he has finished he may not have been able to wipe out the infestation."

Keenan has echoed a warning of Dr. Ralph Heal of the National Pest Control Association at this time because spring is the heaviest swarming time for this strange and persistent insect, and this activity often reminds property owners that termites may be present in their dwellings.

"Termite control is something like medicine or law. Just as you wouldn't think of treating yourself or a member of your family for a serious disease, don't try do-it-yourself on termites. Call in a reliable local businessman specializing in termite work. The job will be done better and the chances are that it will be done at less cost."

He's the best moving man money can buy.
So, naturally, he costs less.
We hate to brag.
But the simple truth is that a Bekins man is the kind of moving man that most other moving men would like to be.
He's selected with exacting care (over half the men who apply for jobs as Bekins movers don't make it).
Then he is given the most thorough training in the entire moving business.
And after all that he usually stays around awhile (our movers have been with us an average of more than 6 years).
If Bekins men are so good, it would seem that they would cost you more.
But that's not the way it works.
A moving man charges by the hour for local moves. The better he is, the less hours he takes.
So since Bekins men are the best, they cost you less.
Naturally.

Hearing On Meadowbrook Junior High Curriculum Is Scheduled

It was agreed at Monday night's School Committee meeting to give formal airing to differences of opinion on Meadowbrook Junior High School curriculum, and for that purpose the committee has set Wednesday, April 27, as the hearing date.

The agreement was made following the reading of two letters by the committee's chairman, Prof. Harold Berman, who was presiding over the board for the first time.

One letter, addressed to the committee, was signed by Robert M. Shriberg, a lawyer retained by the Concerned Parents Committee. It was as follows:

"Please be advised that the undersigned represent the members of the Concerned Parents Committee, a group of Newton residents interested in maintaining and improving the quality of the Newton school system.

"It has come to the attention of this committee that a program known as the "individualized system of learning' is being instituted throughout the Meadowbrook Junior High School. It is the opinion of the committee that the introduction of an experimental teaching program at the Meadowbrook Junior High School constitutes an act which is contrary to the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

"The following persons, representing the Concerned Parents Committee, respectfully requests a hearing before the School Committee on April 18, 1966, on the aforesaid matter.

Sidney L. Cohen
William Epstein
Alvin Mandell
Dr. Irving Nathanson

"Kindly advise me as toyour intend regarding this request at your earliest convenience."

The other letter, signed by Superintendent Charles E. Brown and Prof. Berman, was from the committee to the parents of Meadowbrook pupils, and it outlined the main features of the school's program for next year.

The School Committee letter was as follows:

(1) The entire school will be unified to combine the best features of both the "tri-delta" and "continuous learning" programs.

(2) All students will be required to take a basic curriculum in English, social studies, mathematics, science, and physical education, as in all the other junior high schools in Newton. Opportunities for taking elective courses will be available to all students.

(3) A student who has the desire and ability to take on a greater share of responsibility for his education will be given the opportunity; at the same time, a structured program will be available for those students who desire or need more direction.

(4) Parents' requests in regard to program will be honored, and guidance counselors and teachers will spend time with both children and parents during the opening week of school in September.

(5) The report form developed at Meadowbrook will be used for all students, supported by parent conferences.

The letter stated that the teachers and administrative staff at Meadowbrook, as well as the superintendent of schools, are convinced that this program will provide the means for giving the most effective education to each student.

It closed with the reminder that the Meadowbrook staff members are always available to discuss questions parents may have, that the superintendent will be happy to receive questions or comments, and that the School mittee would welcome any written communications concerning matters affecting the school.

ROCHE BROS. TIPS ON TENDERNESS

ONE: Meats are usually more tender if served hot than cold.

TWO: Carving across, rather than with, the grain of the meat improves tenderness.

THREE: Low cooking temperatures are most important. On a roast, for example, oven temperatures much above 300° Fahrenheit reduce tenderness.

FOUR: Meats cooked to the well done stage will be less tender than meats cooked to medium doneness. And overcooked meat will lack tenderness.

Blue Cross Offers Plans To Supplement Medicare

Henry D. Jones, Blue Cross executive director, has announced three Medicare Extension plans that will take effect July 1, the day that Medicare benefits begin.

Benefits for an Extended Care facility will be included in the program after January 1, 1967, to parallel the Medicare program.

In announcing the Medicare Extension Plans, Mr. Jones said: "Our new program will enable Massachusetts residents over 65 to protect against expenses not covered by Medicare. This program is a most significant venture in meshing the voluntary system with a government program. It would not be possible without the coordinated efforts of government and the voluntary sector."

Three separate plans, at different price levels, covering virtually all phases of health care, will be offered by Blue Cross, Blue Shield. They will be known as Medicare Extension (Medex) I, II and III.

Jones urged all Medicare eligibles who have not signed up for Part B of Medicare to do so before the Federal deadline, March 31. Those who fail to sign up, he said, will have large gaps in their coverage which will not be filled by the Blue Cross-Blue Shield Medicare Extension programs.

Medicare participants who are Blue Cross-Blue Shield members up to June 30, and have notified Blue Cross-Blue Shield that they are over 65, will be converted automatically to the Medicare Extension Plan nearest their present coverage, Jones said. They will also retain the right to shift to a different plan at specified times, if they wish.

Medicare participants who are not currently Blue Cross-Blue Shield members will be offered an opportunity to apply for a Medicare Extension plan starting April 1, he said.

"Through the offering of these plans," Jones said, "We hope to accomplish what the Congress expected the voluntary programs to provide to people over 65 years of age.

"Government experts have predicted that Medicare will cover about 50 percent of the health care costs of the aged. Thus, there are gaps in the Medicare coverage. Our program will fill many of these gaps—and do much more. At the various Plan levels, our Extension program will not only cover deductibles and co-insurance in the hospital and deductibles for physicians' care, but will also extend the number of days of covered illness and will provide worldwide benefits for Massachusetts residents while traveling."

In his statement, Jones said: "Because there are gaps and exclusions in the Medicare program, such as the patient's responsibility for the first $40 of hospital care, the first $50 for physicians' services, $10 a day for the 60th hospital day through the 90th and 20 percent coinsurance in many other instances, Blue Cross and Blue Shield have designed Medicare Extension programs to complement the Medicare program. These programs will be offered to all persons 65 and over in Massachusetts whether or not they are currently members of Blue Cross-Blue Shield.

"The benefits available under Parts A and B of Medicare form the base upon which the Blue Cross-Blue Shield programs are built. The resulting combination will produce in the aggregate for the members more comprehensive coverage than was ever available before. Three Blue Cross-Blue Shield programs will be available. They are termed Blue Cross-Blue Shield Medicare Extension Program I, II and III, or Medex I, Medex II, and Medex III.

"Medex I will cost $4.30 per person per month. It will provide the $40 deductible for inpatient hospital care, the $20 deductible for diagnostic outpatient services, the $10 and 20 percent coinsurance; expanded outpatient services and 30 additional inpatient comprehensive benefit days per spell of illness. For physicians' services it will cover the $50 deductible and 20 percent coinsurance for 120 days of inpatient care, accident care, surgery, medical emergencies, and radiation therapy out of the hospital.

"Medex II will cost $5.55 per person per month. In addition to the benefits of Medex I, it will provide 245 additional inpatient comprehensive benefit days, the $5 coinsurance for extended care facilities, $8 per day for an additional 265 days in an extended care facility; $8 per day for nursing home care for 365 days combined with days used in an extended care facility, and hospital outpatient and physicians' services following discharge from the hospital.

"Medex III, the most comprehensive of the three programs, will cost $7.90 per person per month. In addition to the benefits of Medex I and Medex II, it will provide benefits for private duty nursing services, following a $100 deductible, on an 80-20 percent basis up to $300, and prescription drugs following a quarterly deductible of $25 on an 80-20 basis."

Newton Red Cross Chapter Joins National Fund Plea

The cost of the conflict in Vietnam and the price of recent devastating disasters, came closer to home this week as the Newton Red Cross announced an emergency appeal for funds.

Anthony Jaureguy, Chapter chairman of the Newton Red Cross, said that local volunteers will join with 32 other chapters in the Massachusetts Bay area seeking contributions to a special nation-wide appeal for $9,000,000.

These Red Cross chapters have a combined quota of $166,465 for the special appeal needed to support disaster relief and service programs for United States military personnel in Vietnam.

The Massachusetts Bay United Fund, recognizing the urgency of the need, which is over and above normal Red Cross operating requirements, offered its support and announced a donation of $17,070 to start the appeal.

Local residents may help by making their contributions directly to "Red Cross Emergency Appeal," Newton Chapter, American Red Cross, 21 Foster street, Newtonville.

In announcing the first emergency drive by the American National Red Cross in more than ten years, Mr. Jaureguy cited details of disaster operations in Vietnam services that have depleted reserve funds.

Since March 1, 1964, the Red Cross has expended more than $40,000,000 giving emergency and long-range aid to American families affected by 435 disasters, 16 of them major.

Last fall, in the wake of Hurricane Betsy, the organization expended $17,800,000 for disaster relief. In New England alone, more than a half million dollars was given to families over a two-year period for help following fires.

Meanwhile, the buildup in Vietnam placed extra pressures on the Red Cross to provide its traditional services for members of the armed forces and their families. More than 200 trained Red Cross staff workes are on duty in Vietnam, or are being rushed through final training. At the request of the Armed Forces, they provide emergency communications, financial aid and personal counseling. Other Red Cross staff serve hospitalized servicemen and offer field and base recreation programs that bring a touch of home to servicemen.

Court

The ruling handed down by the court stated that although the court did not condone careless or studied non-compliance in the case the "deviations from the statute were not harmful."

Shea was represented by Atty. Charles McGlue, former head of the State Ballot Law Commission. In his argument before the court, McGlue cited a Newton ordinance which states that the Board of Aldermen is the sole judge of the election and qualifications of its members. He alleged that there had been "substantial compliance" during the recount.

The setting of the Robert E. Sherwood comedy-drama is the Italian Alps just prior to the outbreak of war. The reactions of an international bevy of travelers vacationing at the Hotel Monte Gabriele form the basis of the plot. Sprinkled throughout is comedy relief, with musical interludes provided by song and dance man, "Harry Van," and a troupe of six girls known as "Les Belles."

Demetria Learmonth, who will be seen as "Bebe Gould," most recently appeared on the Hovey stage as "Tiffany Richards" in "Mary, Mary." Last season with the Auburndale Club she was cast as "Marie Louise" in "Constant Wife."

Mrs. Learmonth was an active member of the Winthrop Playmakers and appeared in many of their productions including "Picnic," "The Tender Trap," and "Portrait in Black."

To be recalled by Hovey audiences for her delightful portrayal of "Harriet Stanley" in "The Man Who Came to Dinner" is Edna White who will be seen in the part of "Signora Rossi."

A professional entertainer with 30 years of theatrical experience, Mrs. White has played a variety of roles. She began her career with dancing and singing routines touring throughout England, Canada, and in this country with a troupe organized by Billy deWolfe.

She is well known for her monologues which she has performed at women's clubs in this area.

Paul Gillis has been assigned the role of "Signor Rossi" who vacations in the Alps for health purposes.

Mr. Gillis has frequently been seen onstage in comedy roles such as "Dr Bradley" in "The Man Who Came To Dinner," "Dr. Morrissey" in "Send Me No Flowers," and "Commander Harbison" in "South Pacific." ## Young Local Musicians On All-State Concert Program

The 1966 All-State Concert, which was held this year in Fitchburg, was a tremendous success. Eleven students from Newton were chosen to participate. The 106-piece orchestra's rendition of "The First Movement of Symphony Four" by Dvorak was exuberating. Daniel Starr and Marjorie Weinert of Newton South High School, both violinists, played in the orchestra, along with Jeremy Balmuth, French Horn.

Newton High had five members in the orchestra, including Louise Lerner and Ellen Garfinkle, violins, Coin Page, viola, Martha Yaffee, oboe, and William Dornbusch, clarinet.

The three hundred member All State Chorus was welcomed by a very enthusiastic full-house. "Great Day" arr. Martin, the Chorus's finale brought such great applause from the audience, that the guest conductor, Mrs. Lorna Cooke deVaron returned for a second round of "Great Day." From Newton High, Cliff Orent and Jeff Elson sang Tenor in the chorus.

The All-State Band consisted of 124 members from the many cities of Massachusetts. The finale was "French Lance March" by Sousa. The guest conductor of the band was Dr. Harry Begian, and the orchestra's conductor was Dr. Stanley Chapple.

All of the students participating stayed in the homes of the residents of Fitchburg and Lunenburg for the three days of rehearsing and performing. Attending Saturday afternoon's performance were Miss Geralding Seaver, director of Choruses at Newton High School ,and James Remley, head of Music in the Newton Public Schools. All of Newton's participants first performed with the Northeast District groups, and then auditioned for the All-State Orchestra and Chorus.

Little Leagues Shaping Up For Season

With the opening two weeks off, five Newton Little Leagues are shaping up their season's plans.

On Friday, Apr. 22, Newton South Little League will have a baseball clinic at Newton South High, and the next day it dedicates Frank Richardson Field with a tripleheader.

Newton East Little League also opens Saturday, Apr. 23. In this league there will be a two-division schedule, with the winner of the first half meeting the second half winner for the title.

Newton Central League will sponsor 20 teams, according to Dr. Lester Steinberg, president. The campaign gets underway May 1 with two games set.

The schedule for Newton West begins Saturday, Apr. 30, with a parade from the Burr School preceding a doubleheader.

Newton North Little League is still holding tryouts, to be conducted on Albemarle Playground next Saturday morning at 9:30 and Sunday afternoon from 1 to 4.

Newton Teens Join State March In Drive For St. Jude Hospital

Newton young people will join an army of dedicated teen-agers in Massachusetts in a fund raising march on Sunday, May 15th to assist the St. Jude Childrens Research Hospital in Memphis, Tenn.

Officially known as the Danny Thomas Teenage March, the campaign contributes worth-while aid to the constant fight against leukemia carried on at the hospital.

Founded by Danny Thomas as a pledge years ago to St. Jude, the hospital is noted world-wide for its leukemia research. The noted entertainer has constantly pointed to the hospital as the crowning achievement of his life.

The hospital is free to any child afflicted with the dread leukemia as long as there is room.

Youngsters who participate in the March will be the personal guests of Danny Thomas at a mammoth Charity Show to be held in the second week of June at Fenway Park. Television and movie stars, who appeal to youngsters, will provide fun and excitement for the audience.

Anyone in Newton interested in helping the success of the March are asked to contact Linda or Sue Shapiro at 17 Stearns st., or call Boston headquarters for the Teenage March in the Sheraton Plaza Hotel, 266-6627.

Middlesex County Commissioner John F. Dever, Jr., of Woburn, is honorary chairman of the drive in this state. James K. Kurker, of Medford, is northeast chairman.

Chairman Dever pointed out this week that researchers at the hospital are on the verge of conquering cancer in children. Treatment by drugs and radiation is being used with increasing effectiveness at St. Jude's.

Guiding force behind the support of the drive is ALSAC, which stands for Aiding Leukemia Stricken American Children, founded in 1957. ALSAC has grown beyond its original intent and now fights not only leukemia, but all catastrophic diseases in children.

The Teenage March on May 15th is completely ecumenical in scope with youngsters of Protestant and Jewish, as well as Roman Catholic, faiths already expressing their intent to participate. Official March Kits are provided for all those young people taking part in this most worthy of causes.

Timothy Dailey Is Scholarship $200 Recipient

The Newton Highlands Men's Club has announced that Timothy G. Dailey, 33 Beverly road, Newton Highlands, is the recipient of its annual scholarship grant of $200.

Tim is a senior at Newton South High School where he participates in the National Honor Society and the local History Club. Tim has played on the Sophomore and JV basketball teams, and was a student representative on his House Council.

Of Newton South, Tim said that the academic program is tailored to the good student, sometimes to the disadvantage of the rest of the student body. "The Advanced Placement students and the members of the National Honor Society should not be the prize products of a school system that is frequently praised in national magazines. Rather, the school system should pride itself in educating well the average student, America's future citizen. Tim also mentioned that the tutorial program initiated by the National Honor Society is a success and should be continued next year.

Tim plans to enter Allegheny College or Williams College next fall and would like to major in political science to prepare for a career in local or national government.

Following are the members of the Selecting Committee, Edwin H. Wiest, Clarence E. Churchill, Edwin C. Prietz, Arthur Milano, and Donald L. Willis.

Honor Court Of Troop 272 Gives Badges

Troop 272 of Norumbega Council Boy Scouts of America held a Court of Honor recently at Meadowbrook School.

The following scouts received their Second Class badges: Richard Kates, Eric Tucker, Benjamin Malison, Howard Smith, Richard Levin, Leon Malison and David Glasker.

Officiating at the impressive ceremonies was Asst. Scout Master Murray Kates.

Among those present were Scout Master Dr. Alfred S. Lanes, Executive Commissioner Ralph Sisson and Committee Chairman Louis Glasker.

One of the highlights of the evening was an address by Ralph Sisson. The parents of those scouts who received the awards were also present.

Troop 272 under Dr. Lanes and Murray Kates has been one of the most active troops in Newton. Every month the troop goes to Nobscott Reservation where they cook out, pass their tests and sleep in cabins or tents.

Recently they journeyed to Hidden Valley in New Hampshire where they bivouaced. Many more excellent trips and events are planned for the future.

Biggest Party Yet Looms For Democrats Here

One of the most successful events ever conducted by Democrats in Newton, as foreseen by reservations to date as well as general interest, is the gala Friendship Supper to be held on next Tuesday, April 19th at the Newton South High School.

Sponsored by the Newton Democratic City Committee, the supper will attract a capacity attendance of the top party figures in the Commonwealth. It promises to be the largest gathering of Democrats ever held in Newton.

Reservations to date indicate more than 1000 will attend the affair which has been planned as a genuine "Family Night," Entire families from Mom and Dad to the kids are planning to be present.

Co-chairmen Frank Fitz-Patrick and Sidney T. Small pointed out this week that the unusual family aspect of the supper will afford an excellent opportunity for local family groups to become better acquainted with their party leaders and to get first-hand information about state and national governments and their problems.

Democratic candidates for all state offices, as well as Newton officials and state representatives will attend.

All-Out Drive Starts To Reduce Crime Here

An all-out campaign to reduce burglaries, automobile thefts and other crimes in Newton is being planned by a 13-member Crime Study and Prevention Committee appointed by Mayor Monte G. Basbas.

Householders will be urged to make their homes as secure as possible against potential burglars.

Residents will be requested to notify police immediately if they observe strangers acting suspiciously in their neighborhoods.

Automobile-owners will be advised to take at least normal precautions to guard against their cars being stolen.

Burglars have been able to gain entry to some Newton homes merely by slipping the locks.

This would not have been possible if more fool-proof locks confronted the burglars.

Tell-tale signs frequently indicate that the occupants are away on vacation or out for the evening.

Burglars have been known to ride through neighborhoods watching for houses which are in darkness.

When they observe one, they sometimes double-check by taking the street address and then telephoning the house to see if anyone answers.

One or two lights on in the house probably would keep them going.

Many of the automobiles stolen in Newton this year were left unlocked by their owners, making things easier for prospective car thieves.

In some instances the keys even were left in the ignition so that all the automobile thief had to do was turn the key, start the motor and drive away.

Automobile-owners will be advised to remove the keys and lock the doors of their cars even if they're leaving the vehicles in their own driveways or in front of their own homes.

Some automobiles have disappeared from in front of

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Move To Repeal Sales Tax May React in Volpe's Favor

Top labor chieftains probably are playing into the hands of Governor Volpe in moving to place a referendum on the ballot designed to repeal the sales tax law.

They have been told this by some astute Democratic leaders but apparently have shrugged off the idea as unsound.

If the sales tax repeal referendum goes on the ballot, as it undoubtedly will, it will point up as a campaign issue the question whether the voters prefer a limited sales tax or a doubling of the State income tax.

The referendum, for which labor officials are now gathering signatures, would wipe out not only the limited sales tax but also the new hotel-motel tax and the increases in the liquor and cigarette taxes.

Mayor Airs City Plans At Meeting

Mayor Monte Basbas of Newton was warmly received by the members of the Zonta Club of Newton whom he addressed at its April dinner meeting at the Pillar House on April 14. In a wide ranging summary of Newton's major problems and plans he commented on:

Money to be spent on schools in the next five years amounting to approximately $20 million, including $11.5 million for the new high school; $4 million for additions to standing schools; and $2 million for library facilities.

Newton's Tax Rate which he hopes to stabilize this year at around $1.00 increase, made possible through the cooperation of the department heads who are holding down their budgets. He warned, however, that next year's rate will undoubtedly be up. This is mainly due to the increase in the MBTA deficit through its subsidization of the M&B Busline.

Newton's use makes up 40% of the deficit, while Boston has been largely picking up the tab and Newton has been contributing only around 3%. Next year Newton's share will probably be around 20%, and this will have to be reflected in the tax rate.

Crime about which the Mayor is greatly concerned, especially because of the sharp increase in house breaks, coupled with the increasingly younger age of those involved in law transgressions.

He made special mention of the door-to-door distribution by the police on May 2 of the booklet which will outline means by which citizens can assist the police to combat crime. Coupled with his campaign to rouse the citi-

assist Newton to remain one of the most sought after-comunities in the metropolitan Boston area as a place to live and shop.

After many months of study, the committee rendered a report which could be interpreted as follows:

"The very best way for Newton to respond to the competition it receives from its sister suburban communities is to develop a unique and singular trait not offered by any of its competitors.

"If Newton can become the "City That Cares" in the minds of prospective residents, workers and shoppers, it will not only remain ahead of its competition, but will gain in popularity."

With this goal in mind, the Newton Chamber of Commerce, with the help of the Newton Junior College and Northeastern University, has established an "Accrediation Program" of excellence in this city.

Unit 1 of this total program is currently being held in the form of a Public Relations course on ten successive Monday evenings at Newton Junior College.

The course, which was designed for a maximum fifty participants, presently has 59 people enrolled with a number of prospects turned away.

Units 2, 3 and 4 will be held in the fall. An Accrediting Board will be established to measure the degree of excellence which each participant and their sponsoring agency achieves.

Gas Station Proposal Is Aired At Monday Meeting

The Board of Aldermen held up action Monday night on a proposal for the abandonment of a gasoline service station on one side of Washington St., Newtonville, and construction of a more modern and sightly facility across the way.

The petitioners were Eli and Gerard M. Swartz, whose existing station is between Lowell Ave. and Brooks Ave., on Washington St.

The Aldermanic Claims and Rules Committee had recommended denial of the proposal by a 6-0 vote. There was prolonged debate following the report, and it came to an end only when the full Board voted to hold the item pending receipt of a written opinion from Planning Board.

In reporting on the vote for denial, Claims and Rules Chairman Harry H. Ham Jr., maintained that the proposed site for the new service station would be better suited for construction of an apartment building.

Ham was challenged by Alderman Melvin J. Dangel, who asked him whether that statement resulted from committee deliberation, or if it was an expression of personal opinion. Ham said his statement was based both on personal opinion and committee deliberation.

Alderman Alan S. Barkin made the motion to hold the matter, asserting that the existing filling station was an eyesore, and that its removal and move across the street as a much more modern operation would improve the neighborhood's appearance. He said that as he recalled the public hearing on the petitions, many residents of the area expressed themselves in favor of the proposal.

The roll-call vote on the question of holding the item was 19 in favor, one opposed, with four absent. The sole opponent was William P. Matthews. Aldermen Melvin J. Dangel, William M. Glovsky, Jack M. Roberts and Edward C. Ushlein were not present when the vote was taken.

A report on matters before the committee on Franchises and Licenses, made by its chairman, Harry L. Walen, was unanimously approved. It included a 5-0 favorable report on a petition by James T. Rizza for permission to move a dwelling across the street from 163 Pine St., Auburndale,. Walen stated that preliminary work would take six days, and that the actual moving would occupy only two hours.

The following items reported by Chairman John P. Nixon of the Finance Committee, were given a 21-0 vote of approval by the full Board:

Denial of an offer of $8000 by Abraham Ginsburg for 21,400 sq. ft. of land at Washington and Hamilton Sts., Newton Lower Falls. Nixon reported that the committee had been advised by the chairman of the Board of Assessors that the land was in the middle of an area slated for urban renewal, and was therefore not for sale.

Monday, May 16, was set as the date for a hearing on the public buildings commissioner's recommendation that the remaining buildings at the one-time Norumbega Park recreation center be considered a public nuisance and that their alteration or disposition be ordered.

Board action on other matters reported by the Fiance Committee were:

Approval of $1500 to cover overtime payments at City Hall due to sickness of personnel. The sum of $2777 had beben requested by the building commissioner.

Granting of a request by the commissioner of health that $210 received from Boston College School of Nursing for participation in field training for nurses in this community be added to the department's special account "Staff Education" to be used for meeting educational expenses.

The following items reported by the committees on Finance and Public Works, were Given Board approval:

A request by the public works director for an appropriation of $16,400 for reconstruction of Washington Park and Warren Ave.

An appropriation of $26,800 for reconstruction of Auburn St. and Commonwealth Ave., to beyond Maple St., Auburndale.

An appropriation of $25,800 for reconstruction of Middlesex and Priscilla Rds., Chestnut Hill.

An appropriation of $18,600 for reconstruction of Hillside Ave. from Austin St. to Otis St., West Newton. These four appropriations come under Chapter 679 of the State road construction grant.

Program

affiliation represents one of the most impotrant developments in the college's growth as a comprehensive community college. The joining of this outstanding community hospital and our nursing program represents the kind of coordination of community resources which we strive to achieve. In full appreciation of the opportunities implicit in this relationship, we consider it a milestone appropriate to the celebration of our 20th anniversary."

Previously, nursing students of the Junior College travelled to hospitals in suburban Boston for clinical experience. The move into the community hospital shrinks distance and promises a more centrallized program. The junior college has nearly 50 students enrolled in nursing classes.

Second-year students will utilize patient facilities of the hospital for supervised bedside assignments and will receive classroom instruction on the college campus. Faculty of the college will conduct the program, coordinating activities with the hospital.

Jarvis Farley of Wellesley, trustee president of Newton-Wellesley Hospital, said, "We are pleased to welcome our neighbors. Their presence represents a further extension of the hospital into the community. The program reflects the hospital's purpose of being an educational center and a health center for the community."

The hospital, a formal teaching affiliate of Tufts University School of Medicine, also conducts a three-year School of Nursing for about 150 students. In addition, students of a second junior college obtain clinical experience at the hospital.

The nursing program of Newton Junior College, instituted in 1949, is the first two-year program of its kind in a public junior college in New England. Approved by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Board of Registration in Nursing, it involves two academic years and one summer session of six weeks. Students undertake liberal arts courses as well as nursing education and hospital experience.

Since its inception, the nursing program at Newton Junior College has attracted a number of married women with children and a number of male students. All 55 graduates of the first five classes in this program now have passed the State Board Examinations and have received their R.N. certification.

Miss Virginia O. Allen, M.A., of Brighton is chairman of Nursing at Newton Junior College. Miss Myrtice L. Fuller, M.S., of Natick is director, School of Nursing and Nursing Service at Newton-Wellesesy Hospital.

The hospital presently is in the final stage of a momentous $3.5 million building fund drive, to finance renovations within the plant and expansion of the hospital. The total program is expected to cost $4 million. Federal assistance in the amount of a half-million dollars is being sought.

Legion headquarters will be used for the recruiting drive to sign up more volunteer workers and crusaders for the house-to-house campaign in the area.

Representatives of the three veterans' groups met recently at the Legion headquarters in Nonantum. They outlined plans for active work in soliciting the community's share of the city-wide bid for funds to be raised to help carry on the fight against cancer.

Officer Joseph B. LaCroix, of the Newton Police Dpeartment, was named chairman of the cancer campaign in Nonantum. However as he entered the Newton Wellesley Hospital recently, his active duties as chairman have been taken over by his wife, Laura.

Mrs. LeCroix is serving as campaign area chairman with the members of the veterans' organizations and their associates.

President William E. Park of Simmons College has named Dr. John C. Hunter, 74 Hillside Ave., West Newton, as Administration Assistant to the President for Development.

Dr. Hunter is associate professor of History and chairman of the History Department.

In making the announcement Dr. Park stated that "in appointing a professor with 15 years teaching experience to head the development office, Simmons College is recognizing Dr. Hunter's awareness of the educational plans of the college and the importance of a thorough knowledge of academic affairs by the person in charge of fund raising."

On his new assignment Dr. Hunter will collect and organize materials on government grants in relation to the needs of the college and faculty, and help to formulate plans for a fund drive for a new science building for Simmons College. # Political Highlights

To raise the same amount of revenue it would be necessary either to just about double the State income tax or to allow real estate tax rates to soar sky-high.

This is an issue which will be debated hotly not only in the gubernatorial campaign but also in legislative contests involving House and Senate members who voted for the sales tax.

If the polls and surveys are correct and a large majority of the voters prefer a limited sales tax to a big increase in the State income tax, then the issue will react to the advantage of the sales tax supporters.

That, of course, is disputed by many sales tax opponents who challenge the accuracy of the polls and believe most people would prefer an income tax boost to a sales tax.

But a number of very sound Democratic politicos, who are against the sales tax, still feel that Governor Volpe's reelection prospects will be improved by the controversy which is certain to develop over the referendum the labor chieftains intend to place on the November election ballot.

They consider that the shrewder strategy would have been to sit back and try to take advantage of whatever public dissatisfaction developed over the sales tax without muddying the political waters with a widespread dispute over a sales tax repeal referendum.

In support of that position, they point to the sharp upswing in support for Senate President Maurice A. Donahue, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for Governor. Donahue has established himself as the arch-foe of the sales tax in Massachusetts.

The issue would be clearcut in a gubernatorial battle between Volpe and Donahue.

Collins and Donahue Leading in Top Races

Up-to-the-moment checks of sentiment among delegates and prospective delegates to the Democratic State Convention indicate that Senate President Maurice A. Donahue is leading former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack in the gubernatorial race and that Boston Mayor John F. Collins is running ahead of ex-Governor Endicott Peabody in their clash for the convention endorsement for U. S. Senate.

This is contrary to the poll figures published recently in a Boston daily newspaper which caused a lifting of eyebrows in political circles.

However, the poll returns printed by a political columnist in a daily newspaper were about two months old.

They were tabulated well before the newspaper blackout caused by the strike which closed down all the Boston daily newspapers except the Christian Science Monitor.

The picture in both the Democratic gubernatorial and senatorial contests has changed drastically since that poll was taken.

The best estimates which can be reached at this time, on the basis of a survey of prospective delegates who were willing to disclose how they will vote, is that Donahue has something over 600 votes, McCormack slightly over 500 votes and Kenneth P. O'Donnell about 50 votes in the Democratic gubernatorial fight.

Collins appears to hold a somewhat larger advantage over Peabody. The poll indicated that Collins is approaching the 700-vote mark and that Peabody to date can count on only a little more than 400 votes.

No candidate yet has been able to button down the 916 votes necessary to assure a victory at the Democratic State conclave.

The figures based on checks of prospective delegates are subject to revision since ward and town committees have started to elect the delegates who will attend the Democratic and Republican State Conventions in June.

Some prospective delegates, who had been counted in polls, have not been elected as delegates and will not be casting convention votes. They have been replaced by other delegates who may ballot in a different manner.

With the selection of the official delegates, the political pollsters will start anew in making their surveys to determine how the various candidates stand.

But there have been a number of straws in the wind which indicate that Donahue and McCormack are running a tight gubernatorial race, with Donahue probably slightly ahead, and that Collins is building his lead over Peabody in the Democratic senatorial struggle.

In Newton, for example, nine delegates to the Democratic State Convention have been elected and three Democratic State Committee members from that city also serve automatically as delegates.

Of the first 12 Newton delegates, eight are supporting McCormack, and four are backing Donahue.

That is a 2-1 advantage for McCormack. However, Donahue has conceded candidly that Newton is one of the areas where he is weak, and he apparently will get at least as many votes in that city as he expected.

In the fight for the nomination for the Senate, Collins will receive seven votes from the same 12 delegates and Peabody three, with two delegates still undecided and uncommitted.

A canvass of sentiment in Newton also disclosed that McCormack and Collins will get a majority of the city's 27 delegate votes.

This is especially significant in the Collins-Peabody battle since two years ago Peabody polled 24 of Newton's then 28 votes in his convention battle with Francis X. Bellotti at West Springfield.

That represents a sharp drop in support for Peabody and an important pickup for Collins.

A check in Lynn, where the first delegates also have been chosen, revealed that Collins and McCormack are again the front-runners.

Lynn, incidentally, is another city where Donahue has been unable to make real inroads.

Donahue and his lieutenants have declared for some time that the Senate president was relatively weak in Lynn, Newton, Fall River, New Bedford and Newburyport but that they were satisfied with the progress of the Donahue campaign in almost all other sections of the State.

As more and more delegates are designated and declare themselves, the Donahue-McCormack contest may become a real horse race. A factor in Donahue's favor is that his drive has been steadily gaining momentum for nearly two months.

Peabody does not appear to have the balanced strength to keep pace with Collins in the closing stages of their campaign. He also seems to be relying too heavily on negative factors.

Of 38 newspaper editors and political writers who were polled recently by the Associated Press, 29 predicted that Mayor Collins will be the Democratic candidate nominated to oppose Attorney General Edward W. Brooke in the November election, while only nine picked Peabody as the winner in his fight with Collins.

Top Democratic leaders, incidentally, are planning to change the convention rules so that a candidate defeated for endorsement for Governor or the U. S. Senate could accept a nomination for a lesser office.

This is considered a preliminary step to a move to persuade Peabody or Kenneth P. O'Donnell to accept the endorsement for Lieutenant Governor.

Both Peabody and O'Donnell have declared that they will carry their fights on into the September primary if they are defeated at the June convention.

But they might be dissuaded from doing so if other spots were found for them on the Democratic State ticket.

If Peabody is defeated by Collins, as it is expected he will be, he probably could have the Lieutenant Governor nomination for the asking; or he could step into the already crowded field of contenders striving for the endorsement for Attorney General, an office Peabody sought in both 1956 and 1958.

While it is somewhat unusual for an ex-Governor to run for Attorney General, Foster Furcolo is doing so.

Peabody now, of course, is striving for the endorsement for U. S. Senator, but he might settle for a lessor office, especially if he is convinced that it represents his only hope of returning to public life.

The rule at the 1964 Democratic State Convention in West Springfield, which prevented a candidate from seeking the endorsement for more than one office, actually cost Peabody renomination for Governor.

After Peabody defeated Bellotti at the convention, Bellotti was unable to step down and accept another place on the Democratic ticket.

Bellotti was confronted with the necessity of running in the primary against a candidate endorsed by the convention. He decided to challenge Peabody, defeated him in the primary but then lost to Governor Volpe in the final election despite a tremendous Democratic trend at the top of the ticket.

Democratic strategists are determined to throw out the convention rule which resulted in the Peabody-Bellotti primary clash.

School Reading

Editor of The Graphic:

Do you have a child in a Newton Junior High School? What has he read for his English class this year? My eighth grade sn has read Alice in Wonderland, Through the Looking-Glass, two books for book reports, and fifteen poems for a paper. This is all. Why are our children not made to read? The autonomy of our teachers would in no way be hampered by insisting that the yrequire a certain minimum of homework throughout the school year. The individual teacher could decide which readings would best coordinate with his class program.

Do you believe that most children will work and read at home on their own initiative if they are offered a sufficiently stimulating class program? I do not. Is homework anathema? Is hard work and thought anathema?

Very sincerely yours,
(Mrs.) Florence Osman

Lee Loumos Says:

There is no doubt about it, one of the most important factors in good color TV reception is the quality of the telecast itself. Any one who watched the color cast of the Academy Awards Monday Night must have noticed a great variation of color quality as scenes changed and different cameras zoomed in and out. Color quality ranged from excellent to very poor and it was obvious that the program was so hastily thrown together that little or no effort was made to synchronize the various color cameras.

So, if you are not pleased with your colors on some programs, wait for a regular prime-time network studio show before you decide that there is something wrong with your set. And then, if you are still displeased, I'm sure you know whom to call for assistance.

Crime

Newton homes, from driveways and even from a garage.

A substantial portion of the thefts probably could have been prevented by the owners themselves.

These will be some of the matters studied by the members of the Mayor's committee as they consider means of curbing crime in Newton and of launching an extensive educational campaign to enlist the support and cooperation of the residents of the city.

Various details of the drive against crime are now being worked out by the committee members.

Five Aldermen are serving on the crime committee. They are Franklin N. Flaschner, John P. Nixon, Paul J. Burke, William M. Glovsky and Warren A. Sutherland.

Other members of the committee are Police Chief Philip Purcell, Police Captain William F. Quinn, the Rev. Harold E. Fray, Jr., and Edmund C. Berkeley, both of the Council of Churches; Attorney James K Fitzpatrick, A. Raymond Tye, City Clerk Joseph H. Karlin and Howard Branch .

Mayor Basbas publicly commended the committee members for their willingness "to serve on our new Crime Study Committee, working in close cooperation with our law enforcement authorities in finding ways to stem thecrime rate in our city."

"This is a situation not unique to Newton, but one in which we will have to devote our best talents and energies to overcome our problems," Basbas asserted.

"Although the national crime rate is rising alarmingly, we in Newton must do our best to turn back the crime in our community," the Mayor emphasized.

Rep. Bradley Reviews His Record In Mid-Term Report

Representative Joseph G. Bradley of Newton has sent a midterm report to his constituents in the 4th Middlesex legislative district.

In his report Bradley reviews the highlights of his own work during the 1965-66 legislative and some of the major measures adopted by the Legislature during the same period.

He points out that he supported the controversial Racial Imbalance Bill, adding that he believes strongly in its concept.

Bradley also was the sponsor of a law now on the statute books prohibiting discrimination in the sale, rental or lease of commercial property.

His report to his constituents follows:

"This is my second midterm report to the Fourth Middlesex District. I assure you that it will not be as long as the 1965 session, but will point out briefly some of the work done.

"At the opening of the new session, the Speaker appointed me Vice Chairman of the Committee on Insurance and member of the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs. During the course of the year I was appointed to the following Special Commissions and Committees: The Special Commission on "Potentially Harmful" Drugs (elected Chairman); Special Legislative Committee on Low Income Housing (appointed Vice Chairman); Special Recess Commission on Economic conversion; and Special Commission to Review all Insurance Laws.

"The Special Commission on "Potentially Harmful" Drugs was directed to investigate and study a bill to establish a third class of drugs. This bill was filed by the Director of the Food and Drug Division At the present time, under Massachusetts law, we have two classes of drugs; prescription and non-prescription (aspirin, cough syrup, and other home remedies).

This bill would have established a third category of drugs to be designated as "Potentially Harmful" drugs which would be sold only under the direction and control of a Registered Pharmacist. After six weeks of hearings and investigation, the Commission felt that such action would impose hardship on that segment of the public who rely on these drugs by restricting their sale to certain retail outlets.

The Commission further recommended that there be an increased program of public education directed to the proper use of drugs and home remedies. Another recommendation was that there be a minor change in the statutes to further define "harmful" drugs. This change would incorporate amendments from the Federal Durham - Humphrey Act and would bring our laws in line with the Federal Government. This bill will be considered by this session of the Legislature.

"During the Peabody Administration a Special Commission to study Low Income Housing was established. The Commission made 17 legislative recommendations. I was appointed Vice Chairman of an ad hoc committee to consider this omnibus proposal. The Committee made field trips to Washington and New York. Hearings were held in various sections of the Commonwealth. The Committee recommended approval of all 17 recommendations. Most of these bills will be considered by this session of the Legislature.

"After three attempts I was successful in having a recess Commission established to make a study in depth of the problems of waste disposal, particularly in the metropolitan area. The Federal Government in 1965, passed an appropriation bill of 92.5 million dollars to study the same problem. I have been in touch with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and hope to establish a joint study committee in this state.

"Industry in Massachusetts is heavily dependent on defense spending. Many economists have been emphasizing the need for long-range plans to foster a stable economy in this state. I filed a resolve to establish a continuous state commission to study and make periodic recommendations to the Legislature on this subject. At the initial hearing on the bill, the Massachusetts AFL-CIO, Associated Industries of Massachusetts, and many prominent religious and civic leaders appeared and testified in favor of the bill. On August 26, 1965, Governor Volpe signed this resolve into law. This is the first state in the East to set up such a program. President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisors has requested a copy of the bill in federal government program in this area.

"Legislation approving the establishment of a merit rating system for safe drivers was put in effect by the Insurance Committee in 1965. By 1967 the accident-free driver should be in a position to receive a lower auto insurance rate under a program directed by the Commissioner of Insurance.

"Death has been mounting on the highways, and insurance rates have been soaring. A step in the right direction to curb some of this was the enactment of a truly "no-fix ticket" law. I supported this law for two reasons: (1) to improve highway safety through stricter law enforcement, thereby reducing accidents which affect insurance rates, and (2) to re-establish the belief that all citizens should be treated equally in the eyes of the law. There is no room for favoritism in a good highway safety program.

"The entire question of automobile insurance and insurance rates will not be solved just by a merit rating program or a no-fix ticket law. The Legislature has established a Special Commission to review the entire insurance law structure. I have been appointed as a member of the Commission; the first hearings are being held this month.

"In the field of public education, the Commonwealth took a much-needed and long-awaited step forward with the adoption of the recommendations made by the Harrington-Willis Study Commission. By its approval of the Willis Report, the Legislature has guaranteed to the children of Massachusetts, a quality education, regardless of the geographic location of schools or municipal boundary lines. The basic cost for the first two years of its implementation will be approximately two million dollars. In the years ahead, as more recommendations are made by the new advisory boards on education, and as this long-range plan is being put into effect, the Commonwealth will have to supply additional funds to the cities and towns in order to help meet these minimum requirements.

"Cnstitutional reform reached a pleasant plateau this year with the final legislative vote on the following issues:

"1. Governor and Lt. Governor running as a team,

"2. Home rule for cities and towns,

"3. Industrial development funding for cities and towns,

"4. Executive reorganization of departments.

"These four questions will be on the ballot in the November election, and I hope you will support them.

"There was much controversy over the passage of a Racial Imbalance Bill last year. I supported this bill and believe strongly in the concept of this act. As unpopular as it may be to some people today, history will show that Massachusetts led the way in giving equal educational opportunities to all children. Another piece of civil rights legislation passed last year was an act to prohibit discrimination in the sale, rental or lease of commercial property. I was the co-sponsor of this bill and was pleased when Governor Volpe signed it into law on March 29, 1965.

"The tax question was finally settled early in the 1966 session with the enactment of Governor Volpe's sales tax. I was opposed to this type of taxation and feel that it would have been more equitable to increase income taxes. Time will tell which approach was right."

zens to an awareness of their responsibilities he added that the city is constantly increasing the amounts spent on police protection, especially nighttime protection.

For instance, the amount spent by Newton in police overtime for night protection alone has more than doubled in the last three years, from $50,000 to over $100,000.

To combat lawlessness, especially by the city's youth, the Mayor urged more parental cooperation, and possible stricter action by the courts. At the same time he pointed out that Newton has been remiss for years in not providing satisfactory recreational facilities that interest and properly motivate youngsters.

On the whole subject of Recreation he is committed to a complete study by the Planning Board. Now that federal funds are available to help in this respect, he intends to make sure that Newton receives a return of its fair share, and will urge that lands be acquired or properly maintained for this purpose, not only for use by the young people, but for all of Newton's citizens.

Areas he specifically mentioned as possibilities for recreational use are 17 acres in the Norumbega tract; property now owned by the Sylvania Company, near Charles River Country Club, which is now up for sale; land now privately held (Webster Estate) near Hammond Pond Parkway and Beacon Street; together with improved use of the city owned Edmunds Park and Cold Spring Playground.

In the latter area, plans are now developed for a golf course which, when built, should be self-supporting within the next few years, together with a skating rink. He is also pleased that money is available to light the tennis courts at Newton South High School, and to start sailing activities on Crystal Lake.

"Good Citizen" Girls Are Feted By Whiting Chapter

Libby Ellen Cooper of 20 Westgate road, Newton, and Martha Morrison of 26 Jones avenue, Chelsea, had been chosen by the faculties of their respective schools (Newton South and Chelsea) to be designated "Good Citizens" at the recent Conference of the Massachusetts Society, DAR.

Miss Cooper was unable to be present at the chapter meeting, but Miss Morrison was introduced and told of her varied activities in school, and her plans to enter Wellesley College this autumn. Her parents were also present, and were introduced by Mrs. Ross E. Langill, chapter chairman of "Good Citizens."

Mrs. Langill told of Miss Cooper's many activities in school affairs, and said that she has been accepted at Boston University, where she will prepare to be an elementary-school teacher.

Speaker of the evening was Harry L. Walen, Newton alderman and Principal of Needham High School. An experienced teacher as well as school administrator, he discussed problems pertaining to the teaching of English and History in the high school today, and displayed two books which he had planned and edited — one a handbook for teaching English literature, and one a textbook on American Literature.

He demonstrated how instruction in history could be enriched by relating it to individuals, and by showing the close relationship of modern times to the early days of the United States.

"We're dealing with a problem our ancestors never knew," he said. "We are trying to educate everyone's child," We are trying to see to it that everyone now growing up has a good education. Next year 42,000,000 young Americans will be in schools and colleges.

He touched on the problem of financing adequate education for the country's youth, stressing the fact that this is one of the biggest problems of the Commonwealth.

A social hour and business meeting preceded Mr. Walen's lecture. In charge of the refreshment were the Misses Lois Dow and Marie Desmond. Mrs. George L. Eighmy poured.

At the business session, reports of the March State Conference were given by Mrs. David Hamblem and Mrs. Herbert Anderson, who, with Mrs. Ross E. Langill and Mrs. Harrison Meserve, had attended it on March 23, at the Sheraton-Plaza, Boston. Mrs. Harry L. Walen, former Regent of the Chapter, is State Recording Secretary of the Massachusetts Society, DAR.

Youth Activity Shaping Up For Season

Activities continue at a rapid pace at Newton Community Center, Inc. As the children's program nears its final stages for the season, preparations are being made for dance and baton recitals and the gala outings at the Sever Hale Reservation in Westwood.

Nothing gives a pupil greater incentive than to perform before a public of friends and parents. This is a most valuable experience for a child—cooperation and teamwork are a must and insight is gained. Through the Community Center dance demonstration, scheduled for May 7, and the baton recital to be held on May 26, children will participate in activity that will give the season's work significant meaning.

The Newton South High School auditorium will again be the site for the programs. Miss Katherine Dickson will direct the dance demonstrations and Mrs. Marjorie Gilbert, the baton recital. Approximately 180 girls will participate.

Two outings are scheduled for the week of May 1 to highlight children's program. On Tuesday and Thursday of that week youngsters will board buses from the Center at 3:00 and head for Sever Hale Reservation for an afternoon of games and hiking. Later they will prepare hot dogs and toast marshmallows covered with chocolate and graham crackers and be served a delicious potato salad.

These outings have been among the most popular activities for the children of the Center over the past few years. The day will end with singing and children will return to the Center at approximately 6:30 p.m.

Painting Of JFK By Local Artist Is Exhibited Here

Frank A. Jasset, D.S.P. of 80 Walnut Park, Newton, long noted for his painting and as an exhibitor in Boston galleries, has one of his latest work, an impressive full length painting of the late President John F. Kennedy now on display at the Garden City Trust Company in Newton.

The painting depicts the late President Kennedy in his characteristic finger-pointing pose during a news conference.

Knowing the late President's fondness for blue-serge suits, Painter Jasset used a cold cobalt blue color for the figure with a dark bluish-grey background. To compliment the cold blues, he employed very warm orange, yellow, pink and reds in the "leader" which catches the eye and leads the viewer back to the main subject.

After showing in Newton, the painting will be exhibited at the Nexus Gallery on Charles St., Boston. The painting is signed with the familiar Jasset pen-name of "Fan Toemas."

Mr. Jasset became interested in painting at the age of 30 He studied and worked for some time in the traditional manner. Eventually he found an idiom and devised a style more appropriate to his manner and thought.

He exhibited on numerous occasions with paintings the themes of which were descriptive. His procedure at that time moved towards simplification of natural forms.

His abstractions, exhibited in 1960, drew glowing reviews. One of his most compelling at that time was, "The Martian Christ." It was acclaimed as both traditional and modern abstraction, and timely considering its being contempory with the rocket, missile and nuclear age.

Local Teenagers Among Retarded Youths Being Helped Toward Jobs

There are two Newton teenagers among the 31 Greater Boston youngsters being taught to get and hold a job at the Greater Boston Association for Retarded Children's Vocational Adjustment Center in South Boston.

The center is a training workshop that provides an opportunity for retarded persons over age 16 to be evaluated for their working potential.

Specific training for job placement and personality development is stressed as well as psychological evaluations, medical examinations and counselling. Trainees are sent to VAC through the Mass. Rehabilitation Commission which helps VAC by pre-enrollment screening, and financial support.

Through the jobs given VAC in industry via contracts and sub-contracts, trainees develop skills so they can earn money and live full, useful, independent lives. Any business operation made up of manual dexterity with repetitive and tedious details requiring a high degree of concentration can be handled by retardates who have been educated and properly trained.

Typical jobs such as assembling ball-point pens, making furniture with hand and power tools, completing coat linings on sewing machines, printing, collating mailings, etc., help the students learn. By earning a little money in the process, VAC trainees get a taste of what it will be like freed from dependency, because they are retarded.

The training period at the Vocational Adjustment Center lasts from 3 months to 16 months. When a student is deemed ready for his role in competitive industry, the Center places him and he is treated as any other employee, with no special considerations.

The response from employers in industry has been uniformly euthusiastic. A local electronics manufacturer, for example, has hired two VAC graduates and feels that their loyalty, dependability and initiative are often superior to his "normal" force and he will hire more VAC trainees as they become available.

Other students have been placed in clothing factories as stitchers — in nursing homes and hospitals as aides and messengers, and some are employed as gas station attendants and department store stock boys. The U. S. Post Office Department keeps VAC graduates busy working in mailing operations.

Basbas Dislikes Authority's Elderly Housing Site Choice

Mayor Monte G. Basbas, disturbed over the proposal of the Newton Housing Authority to locate the city's fourth housing development for the elderly on land on Commonwealth Ave., Auburndale, occupied by the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway carbarn, has advised William Carmen, the Authority chairman, that he will refer the site question to the Planning Board.

The Mayor's letter to Carmen follows:

"In view of my previous indications to you of my serious reservations over the Middlesex and Boston street carbarn land on Commonwealth Avenue as a site for the fourth housing development for the elderly, I was distressed to read your recent press releases announcing a determination of this site and soliciting applications for the project to be built there.

"It is my understanding site approval of such a project must be obtained from the Mayor. I strongly endorse your Authority's moving ahead with plans for the fourth site, but its location is of vital importance not only to the program for elderly housing but also to the program of citywide planning.

"The M&B site would appear to have several deficiencies for your proposed use, such as its distance from shopping and the meager transportation services along Commonwealth Avenue. Besides, it seems to me that this site might well be used for garden type apartments producing greater tax revenue for the City without prejudicing the selection of a fourth site for elderly housing no less suitable than this location.

"I do not personally know the answers to these questions I raise, but I do believe the services of our City Planning Department should be used to help us find the best answers. Planning on a citywide, coordinated basis is, I am sure, a principle with which you must agree.

"Therefore, I wish to inform you that when your Authority places this matter of a fourth site before me, with or without a specific recommendation, I intend to refer it to the City's Planning Consultant. Obviously, if your Authority takes the time and trouble to refine all its plans around a specific site and then this matter is held up by me for the kind of citywide planning review and study it should have received in the first place, it will appear that your Authority and the City are not working together as well as they should. I do not wish this to happen and therefore respectfully suggest your Authority bring this matter into the Mayor's office as soon as possible, so that it may be coordinated with our overall city planning."

Spokesman For 200 Appears Against Proposed Seminary

Only one person appeared at City Hall Monday night in opposition to a petition by the New Church Theological School for the right to convert the former Grace Ellision estate at 48 Sargent st., Newton, into a seminary for the education of Swedenborgian Church ministers.

The lone objector, Joseph S. Michelson of 94 Park ave., Newton, declared that he was acting as spokesman for more than 200 persons who had signed a petition opposing the conversion application which was submitted to the Board of Aldermen last Oct. 11.

When the first hearing on the matter was held last year, 38 persons residing in the vicinity of the Ellison estate appeared in opposition to the change, maintaining that it would adversely affect the residential character of their neighborhood.

Monday night's hearing was held jointly by the Aldermanic Claims and Rules Committee and the City Planning Board.

Attorney Frederick G. Fisher of 120 Bigelow St., West Newton, appeared at the hearing as counsel for the petitioner.

He declared that it is proposed to establish a school for a maximum of 16 resident students, adding that the Theological School is 99 years old and has been located in Cambridge for the past 70 years.

Fisher said the non-residents at the school would be three professors and a custodian. He said that any changes made in the property to convert it into a seminary would not be apparent to passersby.

He also asserted that the conversion would stabilize the neighborhood, and that property values would be maintained.

Atty. Fisher introduced a number of proponents, including the Rev. Edwin Capon of Holliston, who was a Newton resident for the first 28 years of his life and a product of the Newton schools; Charles H. Schwab, 126 Sumner St., Newton Centre, a member of the firm of Andrew M. Schwab & Sons, who arranged the sale of the Ellison property to the school; John R. Swanton, 27 George St., Newton, a longtime resident of the area, and Wendell R. Freeman, 121 Homer St., Newton Centre.

Prior to closing the hearing, President Wendell R. Baukman called for a show of hands by property owners of the neighborhood. Two hands were raised in favor of the petition, and two opposed.

Another matter taken under advisement was a proposal advocated by Public Works Director Willard S. Pratt for construction of a concrete drain for South Meadow Brook and Paul Brook from Dedham St., Newton Centre, to a point near Parker St., and from South Meadow Brook to Boylston St.

Property owners of the area responded to a call for a show of hands as follows: Ten were in favor, and nine opposed.

In response to questions from objectors, Pratt gave assurance that the city would restore the area as far as possible to its original appearance.

An attorney representing Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Kanavos, 99 Aspen Ave., Auburndale, appealed for a favorable decision on a proposal to extend the existing sewer in Aspen Ave. two house positions to take in the Kanavos residence, occupied by four adults and four children.

He said that the septic tank on the Kanavos property was entirely inadequate, and that a health menace existed for that reason.

There was no opposition, and that matter, too, was taken under advisement.

In the final public hearing of the evening, Harrison A. Reynolds, attorney for Shell Oil, presented the case for a proposed service station to be constructed at 173 Needham St., Newton Highlands, on property that had previously been proposed as the site of a car wash, whose petitioner, the First Federal Leasing Corporation withdrew the application because of opposition presented by manufacturers and businesses along Newton's so-called Miracle Mile.

This time, according to Reynolds, the objectors to a car wash there were not opposed to the Shell petition. He said he had made contact with them all, including Sexton, Buick and Raytheon, and that none was opposed.

No one appeared in opposition, and the petition was taken under advisement.

The "Realtor of the Year" to represent the Greater Boston Real Estate Board in state and national competition for the honor will be named as part of the program, for which Board President S. Maxwell Beal, Jr., will serve as toastmaster.

The banquet committee, headed by George W. Deering of the Bay State Federal Savings and Loan Association, as chairman, and Franklin King, Jr., as vice chairman, has arranged a program change of pace this year: a humorist, Don Rice, who has appeared before many real estate audiences throughout the nation.

A pre-banquet cocktail party sponsored by twelve major firms and banks will begin at 5:30 with the dinner to follow at 7:00 p.m., in the Hotel's Imperial Ballroom.

"Most Unholy Night" Gets Auburndale Church Prevue

The Auburndale Congregational Church on Good Friday during holy week presented a new play for the church chancel entitled, "Most Unholy Night."

It is an original play written by E. Roy Burchell, minister of the First Church of Christ (Congregational) of Pittsfield. The theme of the play is a simple yet profound one: namely, that God is doing most for us when it would appear He is doing nothing at all.

It takes place in the upper room where the night before Jesus had celebrated the Passover with his followers. The crucifixion had taken place. His followers were filled with despair and human anxiety claiming that God let this horrible death occur and did nothing to prevent it. The play ended with a candle being lit and the church darkened and people leaving silently.

It is a highly moving drama of man's condition in the face of disappointment and the chaos of daily living. Though the characters are biblical, the costuming was contemporary to bridge the gap between yesterday and our times. The play was written in blank verse.

School Kiddies On Vacation Set Motorist Alert

"Nearly 1,250,000 school children are on spring vacation throughout the Commonwealth this week," said Registrar of Motor Vehicles Richard E. McLaughlin today in cautioning motorists of additional hazards which exist on the highways.

"I urge both motorists and pedestrians to be extra alert to conditions existing in the area in which they are traveling. By adding courtesy and common sense, both drivers and walkers have a reasonable chance of avoiding mishaps on the highways," said the Registrar.

"Parents of young children can protect them by supervising their outdoor activities," the Registrar added. He was referring to the last year's record when six children were killed and 1,447 injured in bicycle accidents from April through August. During that same period, motorcycles, motorbikes, and motorscooters were involved in 22 fatal and 910 non-fatal accidents.

Paulist Fathers Lecture By Sr. Jacqueline

Dr. Owen B Kiernan, Massachusetts Commissioner of Education, will be the program chairman.

Sister Jacqueline, a nationally known educator and religious leader, was recently appointed president of Webster College, a progressive Catholic women's college with an enrollment of over 1,000 students.

President Kennedy appointed Sister Jacqueline to serve on the Federal oBard of Research and Development in Education, and last year she was named by President Johnson a member of the steering committee of Project Head-Start in the War on Poverty program.

Joint Art Exhibition By 2 Newton Painters

A joint exhibition of paintings and graphics by Ruth Golub and Charlotte Lockwood at Cinema I&II Galleries at the Northshore Shopping Center in Peabody is open to public viewing during theater hours until April 23.

Mrs. Golub is a resident of West Newton where she and Mrs. Lockwood conduct the Golub-Lockwood studio teaching art. Mrs. Golub studied art at the Rhode Island School of Design and Boston University and under the artists Alcalay, Degalis, Stoltenberg, Scannell and Hagelheimer.

She is a member of the Newton Art Association, DeCordova Museum and the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. She has exhibited widely in New England and has had several one-man shows. Her subjects range from landscapes to portraits and are interpreted with great feeling through color, texture and design; this same treatment is felt in her pen and ink drawings.

Mrs. Lockwood is a graduate of Jackson College as a science major and studied art with Sam Thal, Prescott Jones, Priscilla Ordway, Carl Nelson and in the summer with John Checuti and Bill McNulty where she has a summer residence.

She is a member of the Newton Art Association, Wellesley College Friends of Art and is an associate member of the Rockport Art Association and the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. She is associated with Mrs. Golub in the studio which they operate in Newton.

Her work has been shown in New England and Florida. Leonardo Maselli of Fayville is showing his latest work at the Fresh Pond Cinema Gallery in Cambridge; Frederick MacNeill of Concord is exhibiting a group ot oils at the Cinema I&II Gallery at Brockton; Stephen York of Waban has a collection of his latest watercolors at the Cinema Gallery at Saugus and Edward Stearly of Walpole is showing some of his latest oils and watercolors at the Cinema I&II Gallery at Shoppers' World at Framingham.

Health For All

(Prepared by Norfolk County TB & Health Association)

CHILD CONVULSIONS

An attack of convulsions in a child can have any one of a variety of causes. It can result from heat stroke or from the familiar childhood trick of holding the breath until unconscious. It can signify a serious desease such as epilepsy, or an acute infectious ailment. Lead poisoning, a concussion, or lack of oxygen due to a breathing obstruction also can cause convulsions.

Most convulsive attacks are over quickly, and leave the victim no worse off than before. But an inexperienced parent can have an ugly scare.

Things to do immediately: Place the youngster on a wide bed or a large soft rug. If he is on a bed, look sharp to see that he doesn't fling himself off. Loosen all his clothing. Wedge his jaws apart with a non-metallic object to avoid injury to the tongue or teeth. Bring the tongue forward to insure against its rolling back into the throat and interfering with air intake. If the child starts to throw up, place him on his side or with his head overhanging the bed to facilitate clearance.

While you're busy with these emergency measures, get somebody to call a doctor. If no one else is present, make the call as soon as you can.

If convulsions don't subside, and no doctor can be found, a sedative effect can be achieved with crushed aspirin tablets in a small amount of water. Give it as an enema with bulb syringe, using twice the amount of aspirin the child normally takes by mouth.

Norfolk County TB and Health Association, Inc., active in the fight for general health as well as against TB and other respirtory diseases, suggests these general rules of action: If your child has convulsions don't get panicky; don't delay simple relief measures; do call a doctor.

Silica Deposits

Seattle — Washington has the purest known silica deposits in the United States.

Impact Of Legislation On Newton To Be Aired

The impact of legislation on Newton's needs will be discussed at the Annual Dinner Meeting of the Newton Community Council and Chest on Wednesday, April 27th, at the First Unitarian Society in West Newton.

Speaker for the program will be Robert Perlman, Ph.D. Dr. Perlman, a Newton resident, has had varied experiences in the social welfare field which include group work, community planning and program development work with various agencies.

A record number of bills in the social welfare field have been enacted in the last few years by Congress, which are already having their impact on Newton. Some of these include the Social Security amendments including Medicare, the Economic Opportunity (for anti-poverty) Act, the recent Housing Act, the Urban Renewal Act, and the new legislation on education.

In addition to this federal legislation, two major statewide studies recently completed — one on mental health, the other on public welfare — will undoubtedly result in the significant changes through legislation in these fields.

Dr. Perlman will explore some of the effects this legislation will have on Newton in meeting our human needs, and in stimulating the inevitable changes in services and in those institutions and agencies providing these services.

This meeting is open to everyone who is interested in attending. Reservations for the 6:30 p.m. dutch treat dinner can be made by calling the Newton Community Council office this week — 527-5120.

Newton Health Department Cites Ever-present Rabies Peril

Despite the fact that there have been no cases of human rabies in this state since 1949, and none of dog rabies since 1961, the Newton Health Department urges immunization.

Incidentally, the department points out that cases of rabies in bats have been reported.

In a release issued last week, the department described the rabies situation as follows:

"In 1965 Rhode Island had its first case of dog rabies in many years. This resulted in a state-wide quarantine of all dogs. There is always a danger that this disease might be reintroduced from other areas where it is always present.

Prior to 1940, it was not unusual for us to have 300 or more cases per year of rabies in animals. Following the widespread use of rabies vaccine in dogs the disease has been practically eliminated from the Commonwealth and because we are temporarily free of the disease there is a tendency to forget the importance of dog vaccination.

"However, in recent years several cases of rabies in animals were reported in neighboring states and the disease could easily reappear in Massachusetts. In the event of an importation of a rabid animal into Newton the disease will not spread among dogs if the dog population is vaccinated.

lar to that of smallpox, where

in spite of the fact that we have not had any cases for several decades we, nevertheless, are constantly aware that smallpox might be introduced and we therefore insist on the vaccination of children. Public health authorities are unanimous in emphasizing that vaccination of dogs is the best means of preventing the spread of the disease.

"Dog owners are urged to have their pets immunized against rabies by their private veterinarians, or to bring their dogs to the vaccination clinic which is being organized and sponsored by the Newton Health Department in May. In this clinic it is planned for various Newton fire stations and the police headquarters garage to be used as headquarters for different clinics so that it will be made easier for dog owners to bring their pets for immunization. At these clinics a fee of $1.50 will be chaged. Further details of this clinic will be announced later."

Local Author Likes Politics And Children

A variety of interests makes Mary Lewis Hansen one of our more interesting Newton authors. Mrs. Hansen, who likes politics, travel and children, but not necessarily in that order, has published two books and is working on two more.

Her first book, "The Towboat Summer," published by Allyn and Bacon, is the story of a boy who spends his summer on a towboat on the Ohio River.

Mrs. Hansen is a native of Kentucky, and her familiarity with that section of the country gives the book a wonderful authenticity. Her second book, "Black Bear Adventures," also published by Allyn and Bacon, was a choice of her publishers to be submitted for exhibit in the New England Book Show.

Mary Lewis Hansen is Mrs. Theodore L. Hansen, Jr. in private life, and has two children, Moss and Andrew. She graduated from the University of Kentucky where she was a Phi Beta Kappa, and she received her Master of Arts degree from Stanford University. She has lectured in English at B.U. and was an instructor in English at Stanford. She has also taught Jr. High English in Louisville, Ky. and in Los Angeles. Mrs. Hansen is a member of the Newton Democratic City Committee.

Newtonites Active In Plans For Colorful Scottish Ball

Ceud Mile Failte — reads the invitation sent out by the Boston Branch of the Royal Scottish Country Dance Society to friends in the United States and Canada.

It is a customary Gaelic phrase meaning one hundred thousand welcomes, and will greet Scottish Country dancers to the Third Annual Ball to be held at the Hotel Continental in Cambridge, Saturday, April 30.

The music will be supplied by Stan Hamilton and the Clansmen who will travel from Hamilton, Ontario to accompany the dancers to reels, strathspeys and jigs. The origin of most of the dances lie in 16th century Scotland, and many are influenced by the stately dance figures performed at the French court where Mary, Queen of Scots spent her early years. They bear such intriguing names as The Theeket Hoose, Madge Wildfire's Strathspey and Caberfei.

Attire is particularly colorful, the women wearing full skirted ball gowns with tartan sashes, but the men really hold the spotlight—for a change!

Formal Highland dress for men is, of course, a kilt; add to that a velvet doublet, lace jabot and cuffs, tartan hose, dirk belt with a large silver buckle and an ornately handled skean dubh (Gaelic for black knife).

Dr. and Mrs. E. P. Little of West Newton will entertain at dinner on Friday, April 29, the Ball Committee, as well as out of town guests and their hosts. There will also be a pre-Ball reception in the Hearth Room of the Hotel Continental. The Ball Chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Smith of Newton Highlands, expect groups numbering up to fourteen from Ottawa, Montreal, New York, with many more from the Boston area.

If anyone desires any further information, please call BI 4-5401.

Conservators Finance River Plan For Upper Falls Areas

Newton Conservators, Inc. will pay for the Preliminary Development Plan — Newton Upper Falls Section of the Charles River and Environs. Benjamin F. Shattuck, president, made the announcement following a directors' board meeting earlier this week.

For professional work on the plan, the Conservators have engaged David L. Young of the Boston Society of Landscape Architects.

In 1964-65 Mr. Young, assisted by Laurence W. Zuelke of the BSLA, did the plan for the Lower Falls Section of the Charles River for the Wellesley Garden Club. Newton Conservators participated in that project also, though not financially.

The decision to proceed with this second project along the Newton section of the Charles was taken by the Conservator directors in September 1965.

During the fall and winter, individual members of several Newton garden clubs and other Newton, Needham and Wellesley organizations became interested in the Upper Falls Plan and a committee was formed to work with Mr. Young.

The committee will run a field trip on Sunday afternoon, May 22 to give interested citizens and governmental officials a chance to visit chosen points along the river from the Hemlock Gorge MDC Reservation at Route 9 upstream as far as the Kendrick Street bridge. MDC Commissioner Howard Whitmore, Jr. will be the official guide for the field trip.

To date, the planning committee includes Mrs. Arno H. A. Heyn of the Conservators; Mrs. Joseph B. Fyffe, Wellesley Garden Club; Charles S. Frary, Jr., Needham Conservation Commission, Robert M. Young, Newton Upper Falls Civic Association; Mrs. Edward V. Hickey, Jr. and Mrs. Francis E. McDonough, Newton Centre Garden Club; Dr. and Mrs. E. Manning Sears, West Newton Garden Club; Mrs Frank Mildram, Educational Garden Club of West Newton; Philip N. Shapiro, Massachusetts Audubon Society; Mrs. David W. Jackson, Newton representative on the League of Women Voters Charles River Valley Study Group; and Mrs. A. Richards Daniels, Needham Garden Club.

The purpose of this project is to produce a plan for a specific section of the river which can supplement with additional details the relatively generalized content of the Metropolitan Area Planning Council's Open Space and Recreation Study.

The MAPC Study derives two-thirds of its financing from the Department of Housing and Urban Development (formerly HHFA) and therefore must adhere to HUD planning requirements which stop short of specific, or "real", plans.

Federal monetary assistance for a detailed engineering plan for a site would be available only for actual implementation of improvements or development of that site as might be recommended by the Second Phase of Miss Julia Broderick's Open Space and Recreation Study.

The Conservators take the view that their Upper Falls planning project gives local citizens the opportunity to pick up where governmental agencies must leave off in the planning process.

Basbas declared that the value placed on Newton property by the State Tax Department seemed unrealistically high to him but that he intended to confer with the city assessors and go over the matter carefully before deciding what action he would take.

The State set Newton's assessed valuation at $665 million, more than double the figure reached by city assessors who last year placed the total assessed valuation of property in the city at $306,-823,150.

While the city's valuation will increase this year because of the erection of new property, the total figure will still be less than half the amount set by the State.

Basbas made it crystal clear that he was deeply disturbed at the State estimate of the city's assessed valuation since—if it stands—it would mean a reduction in the amount of funds Newton would receive from the State.

Newton Volunteers Set Prison Visits

For a prisoner, especially one in the maximum security prison at Walpole, the outside world is a hostile, suspicious, often dangerous place.

But two Newton theological students, William Leosch and Donald Bodeen, and a retired businessman Walter MacCready are voluntarily visiting inmates at the Massachusetts Correctional Institution, and giving the men a clearer picture of the "outside".

As volunteers from the City Missionary Society of Boston, Mr. Leosch and Mr. Bodeen, and Mr. MacCready, a retired insurance-man, visit inmates periodically, and each has become a man's friend. . . a

Oil's Important Position Cited

Thomas A. Sullivan, 51 Everett St., Newton Centre, sales representative for the Cities Service Oil Company, told an audience of Belmont Lions yesterday (Wednesday) that the petroleum industry's payroll in Middlesex County is more than $17,000,000 each year, and its sales more than $165,000,000.

Added to that, Sullivan said, are more than 400 fuel oil dealers in the county providing almost $65,000,000 a year in products, and the dealers employ more than 1500 persons and have an annual payroll of $9,000,000.

Visits

vital element in a prisoner's rehabilitation process.

The Volunteer Visitor program is run by a three-sided committee. Inmates are represented by several of their own, working in conjunction with Rev. Robert Burt of Attleboro, who is the Protestant Chaplain, and the administration.

The Inmate committee selects prisoners in need of visits, or who expressly ask for visits. There have been instances in which an inmate, completely withdrawn into himself, has been saved from an emotional collapse by a simple visit from the outsitd. It is these men that often are responsible for trouble among the others, or have had no success in rehabilitation.

Once an inmate agrees to accept a visitor, the City Missionary Society recruits a volunteer. The visitor is virtually hand picked by Horace Besecker of Lexington, the Director of Social Services for CMS, and Rev. Burt.

Compatability is the key to friendship, and common interests, attitudes and hobbies play an important part in the visits. The volunteer is then given the inmates complete record and a meeting is arranged.

The first meeting between an inmate and a volunteer is the most important, and is held in the office of the Protestant Chaplain. Members of the inmates committee, Rev. Burt, and a CMS representative are usually present.

The informal, relaxed atmosphere is designed to put both visitor and visited at ease, and the "ice breaking" system works perfectly.

After a few visits, the inmate looks forward to the meetings as the only bright spots in an otherwise bleak and un-natural way of life. The volunteer and inmate eventually become good friends, and the bars that separate them initially are overcome through basic man-to-man undenstanding.

Vollunteers have even brought members of their families to meet the inmate, who feels that at last he belongs to someone.

A good example of the results of the program is the inmate visited by Edwin sistant General Secretary of the Boston YMCA. The inmate was a young man from out-of-state who had committed a felony and wound up in Walpole.Mr. Johnson visited him regularly, and upon the inmate's release, proved he fas indeed a friend.

A scholarship was obtained for the ex-prisoner, and he was endollod in a midwestern university to major in radio broadcasting. After graduation from college, the e-inmate went out and got a job . . . and today is a well known radio annuncer in Wisconsin.

Elected to regular ward membership on the committee were: Mrs. Morgan Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Guiou, Kenneth Kasarjian, Frank Magnarelli, P. Jeffrey Norton, and Dr. William A. Seeglitz.

Guests attending the meeting included Mrs. D. R. Duguid, Mrs. John P. McCarthy, and William A. Lincoln, chairman of the Newton Republican City Committee.

Others who attended the event were Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Abbot, Miss A. M. Carsen, J W. A. Kohler, John P McCarthy, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Shattuck, Carl M. Stiles.

Benjamin F. Shattuck presided and led the discussions that followed elections. A social hour followed the meeting.

Lee Loumos Says:

What happened to the sale of color TV last fall will seem like nothing compared to this coming fall when the three major networks will schedule all their prime-time evening programs in color. In addition, 90% of NBC's day time shows will be in color. It is estimated that there will be more than 10 million color sets in use by the end of 1966. And this figure would be even larger if production could keep pace. Allocation of color sets this fall should therefore be even more stringent than last. Even now, when the big buying pressure is normally off, many models of color sets are still on back order.

As far as prices are concerned, opinion seems split between those who think prices may stay firm and those who expect substantial increases. To sum up. I can't think of a better time than now for you to call us for your own color TV set.

A HALLMARK OF QUALITY

FROM ENGLAND

"Just picked up my new Jag at Coventry this morning. Thanks for handling overseas delivery details. Hope you didn't mind my taking the chrome Corcoran mark off my old Jag. Wanted to surprise you by putting it on my new one. Say hello to Floyd, my favorite mechanic. See you in the fall."
— Al Brennan

FROM COLORADO

"Greeting from the peak-country. The Country Squire is running fine—getting good gas mileage. Guess what! I spotted another Mass. Ford at the last stop—With the Corcoran decal. It was great meeting him. Quite a "Club" membership you fellows have." — N. Weston

FROM CANADA

"..... Had a pleasant experience today. A woman phoned me at the Royal York. She had noticed the Corcoran name on my car in the hotel garage and had traced it through the office. She thought I was from Wellesley. It was nice meeting her. Mr. Wheeler and I had her join us for dinner that evening." — Ann Wheeler

CORCORAN'S WELLESLEY

The Mark That's Remarked Upon HERE and ABROAD

Webster's New International Dictionary defines HALLMARK as: "The official mark of the Goldsmith's Company stamped in gold and silver articles at Goldsmiths Hall in London to attest their purity; hence any mark similarly used." We're proud of our hallmark—the "Corcoran" decal. It stands for reliability in automobile merchandising and dependability in quality-control used car reconditioning. Whenever and wherever you see this hallmark of quality behind our cars, we would like to have you remember that an entire dealership's integrity is backing up those cars. Drop us a line on your next trip. We always enjoy hearing from our customers.

FROM MAINE

"Just serviced one of your cars. Tried to trade him—no luck. He said he's trading with you next year. Anyway, it was good to see that double row of 9 and 9 letters on the trunk. Brought back memories." — D. Chaplin

FROM IRELAND

"..... Keep telling myself it was worth the tariff to freight the Ford here. It certainly helped yesterday when I was stopped for speeding and the officer's name was "Corcoran". He must have spotted the mark in the back because he let me go scott-free, muttering something like, 'I'd better slow down if I planned to return to whatever Wellesley I was from.' Does your boss have any relatives here?
— Your Almost-Pinched School Mum

FROM GREECE

"..... the Jag's been running fine. Stopped in Constitution Square this morning. We keep getting compliments. See you in June."
— J. Halachis

Martin Plans To Run Again Worries Republican Leaders

A number of Republican leaders are deeply disturbed by the decision of veteran Congressman Joseph W. Martin, Jr., to stand for reelection to another term this year.

They are fearful that a strong Democratic candidate may defeat the aging Martin on the issue of his inability to give his district active and vigorous representation and that in such an event the GOP might be unable to regain the seat.

As a result they are bringing mounting pressure on Governor's Councillor Margaret M. Heckler to challenge Martin in next September's Republican primary.

Councillor Heckler is weighing the idea but has not yet reached a final decision on it.

She recognizes the soundness of the arguments being advanced to her but at the same time is understandably reluctant to oppose a sitting Republican Congressman.

Martin, who will be 82 years old in November, could solve the situation by retiring from office at the end of his present term, but he shows no disposition to do so.

Why Martin wants to run again, when he is physically unable to give his district the kind of service and representation it should get is something of a mystery.

He has known the highest honors achieved by any Republican Congressman in this generation.

Martin is now serving his 21st term and 42nd year in the national House. He was first elected to the body in 1924 and has had an unbroken record of service in it since then.

For a span of 20 years Martin was the top Republican in Congress. He was the minority leader in the House for 16 of those years and was the speaker for four years when the GOP was in control of the body.

His reign as the Republican boss in the House lasted from 1939 through 1958.

He presided as chairman over several GOP national conventions, and his pronouncements, which came out the wrong way when his tongue became twisted, added a homey touch to the historic events.

There was widespread sympathy for old Joe in 1959 when former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, working behind the scenes, helped to engineer his demotion from the Republican leadership and the elevation of Charles Halleck to the post Martin had held for two decades.

Joe Martin took his demotion as a personal humiliation and an affront to be avenged as soon as the opportunity presented itself. That reportedly was the reason he remained in Congress as an ordinary member.

The fact was that Joe was 74 years old at the time, and the top brass in the Republican party felt he was no longer able to give the GOP the vigorous leadership its minority membership needed in the lower branch of Congress. That was over seven years ago.

The opportunity for revenge came last year when Halleck was toppled from the Republican leadership, and Joe Martin cast his vote to demote Halleck who had replaced him as GOP leader six years earlier.

Joe Martin has had his days of great power and glory in the Congress, his days of defeat and disappointment, his day of avenging what he considered a humiliation although the late Sam Rayburn and John W. McCormack never really allowed Martin to be humiliated.

Now Martin has indicated he wants still another two years in Congress.

Many persons in Martin's own political party declare bluntly that he's no longer able to do the job a Congressman should do, that he is unable to represent his district and its people the way they should be represented.

Congressman Martin is in his 82nd year, and he's feeble. Last year he missed nearly half the rollcalls in Congress.

If he were to retire from Congress at the end of this year, he'd be comfortably fixed financially for the rest of his life.

These are not pleasant things to point out about a man nearing his 82nd birthday, but they're facts. And Joe Martin isn't just an elderly citizen in the evening of his life.

He presently intends to seek another two-year term in Congress where critical issues will be voted upon and where the people need keen, vigorous representation which Joe Martin no longer is able to give his district.

These are the considerations which trouble prominent Republicans. They are the factors which cause them to feel strongly that Martin should step out at the close of his present term.

Leverett Saltonstall is planning to retire from the U. S. Senate at the age of 74. Joe Martin wants to start another term in Congress at the age of 82. It doesn't make much sense.

Martin's sprawling and rambling district extends from Newton and Needham down into southeastern Massachusetts.

Peabody Is Rated Champ Fund-Raiser

The old pro of the political pundits, Richard D. Grant, had some interesting comments in a recent newsletter about the battle between Boston Mayor John F. Collins and ex-Governor Endicott Peabody for the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate.

Grant apparently thought Peabody was somewhat inconsistent in criticizing the $100-per-plate dinner held by Collins last December inasmuch as Peabody, while Governor, held fundraising cocktail parties priced at $1000 per head or 10 times what was charged at the Collins dinner.

He obviously also considers Peabody one of the champion fund-raisers of all time since he pointed out, among other things, that Peabody spent a whopping $867,783 in his unsuccessful 1964 primary campaign against Francis X. Bellotti.

"This means it cost Chub $2.57 a vote to get licked," Grant observed a bit tartly.

"Chub was vitriolic about Collins' $100-a-plate dinner last December — wanted to know where Collins got the dough," Grant declared in his news letter.

"This, I have to say, is a vulnerable point by a politician who has extracted more cash from the steak-and-potatoes chumps than anybody I know," Grante continued in his customary salty fashion.

"Between the many 'friendship' and birthday dinners, coffee hours, testimonials by minor satellites, Cape Cod cocktail parties at a thousand bucks a canape and just plain, ungarnished solicitations, the Peabody campaign chest was as well stocked with treasure as the footlocker of that eminent master mariner, William Kidd," asserted Grant.

Richard D. Grant has some imposing credentials as an expert on political fund-raising. Just 30 years ago at this time he was completing a two-year stint as chief secretary to the late James M. Curley when Curley was Governor of Massachusetts. So he's not exactly a political novice.

Curley was an amateur and a piker compared to Peabody when it came to raising campaign funds, in Mr. Grant's carefully considered judgment.

He, therefore, thinks that Peabody's remarks about Collins' $100-a-plate dinner were somewhat ill-advised.

Incidentally, there are some puzzling aspects to certain phases of the Collins-Peabody clash which are beginning to arouse bitter feeling.

Material critical of Collins, including reprints of political columns and items taken out of context from news stories, have been mailed out anonymously in unmarked envelopes to 18,000 Democratic ward and town committee members.

This not only is a violation of the Corrupt Practices Act but also is a rather expensive and laborious undertaking.

The stamped envelopes alone for one mailing would cost $1260. That is apart from the expense of making reprints of political columns and the work of placing them in envelopes.

Peabody issued a public statement, disclaiming any responsibility for the anonymous attack on Collins and decrying such tactics. Ironically, some of the columns reproduced had been written by a former press secretary to Peabody.

The disclaimer by Peabody of any knowledge of the anonymous attack was followed closely by a second and similar mailing of another 18,000 unmarked stamped envelopes containing another barrage against Collins. They were addressed by the same typewriter as were first batch.

That makes $2520 that has been spent for stamped envelopes alone by somebody who doesn't like Collins but is unwilling to show his hand in the open.

Democratic Row Seen Over Sales Tax Plank

The platform at a Democratic State Convention usually is adopted without debate or discussion and without the great majority of delegates even knowing what planks it contains.

In the past the platform has been drafted by a few party chieftains and then has been read to the delegates amid a din and hubub of noise and confusion.

Even if a delegate wanted to hear what was being read, it would be virtually impossible to do so.

Some delegates even expressed surprise after a convention on learning of certain of the things in the platform for which they theoretically voted.

It's likely to be altogether different at the Democratic conclave to be held in early June at the Auditorium in the Prudential Center.

A row is almost certain to erupt over a proposal for including an anti-sales tax plank in the Democratic platform.

State Senate President Maurice A. Donahue's lieutenants are expected to spearhead a drive to have the Democratic convention go on record as opposed to the limited 3 per cent sales tax now on the books.

That maneuver would be understandable since Donahue led the long but unsuccessful fight against the sales tax. However, it could be embarrassing for some of Donahue's own supporters.

A substantial number of Democratic House and Senate members, including some who are backing Donahue for the Democratic nomination for Governor, voted for the sales tax.

They obviously are not going to vote for a platform plank which, in effect, would denounce a measure which they helped to enact into law.

A number of astute Democratic leaders think the best strategy their party could follow would be to avoid any clash over the sales tax which would split the delegates into opposing factions even before they get down to the business of endorsing candidates for places on the Democratic State ticket.

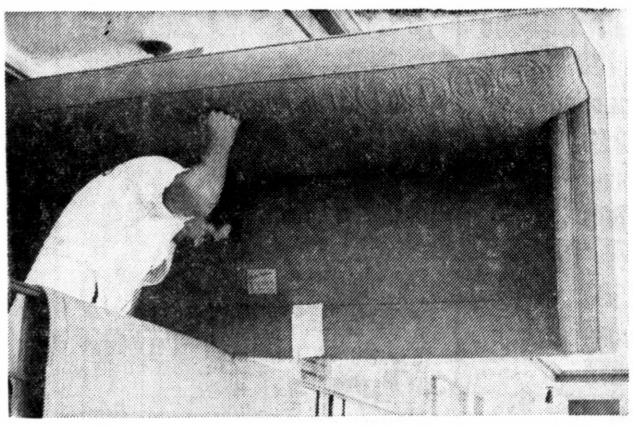
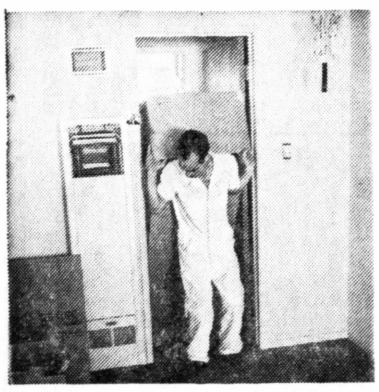
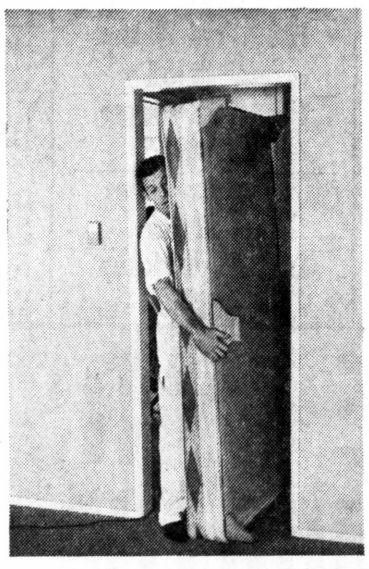
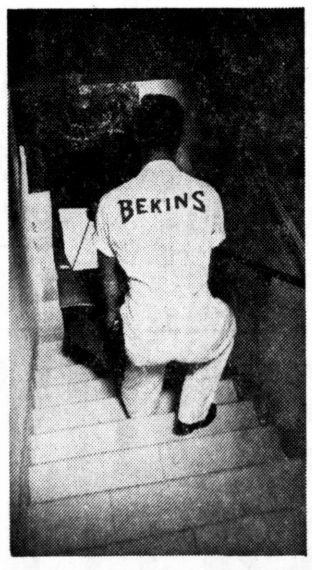
Apartment dwellers, you drive us moving men nuts.









Apartments are often full of narrow hallways, winding stairways, sharp corners, tiny nooks, and odd crannies.

All of which seem designed to drive moving men nuts.

But at Bekins we've found a way to keep our moving men from going off the deep end.

We give them training.

For a year after a man has joined Bekins, he is taught all the ins and outs of moving. Some of the men are developed into specialists in apartment house moving and become part of "Apartment House Crews." All of them learn how to work efficiently in small spaces.

But we don't stop with training. We also give our men equipment that is especially designed to help them out in tight spots. Equipment like hand trucks with creeper treads that ease down stairways and saves your furniture from getting bumped and thumped around. With all this training and equipment, our moving men don't get upset when they move people in or out of an apartment.

In fact, they actually enjoy it.

St. Bernard's Church Scene of Dooley-Horrigan Bridal

Miss Einor C. Horrigan, daughter of Mrs. John Horrigan of 460 Crafts street, West Newton, and Francis J. Dooley, son of Mrs. Patrick Dooley of Brighton and the late Mr. Dooley, exchanged vows, recently, at St. Bernard's Church.

The Rt. Rev. Bernard O'Kane celebrated the 11 o'clock nuptial Mass, at which two rings were exchanged. A reception followed at Boston College Alumni Hall, Chestnut Hill.

Mr. John Horrigan of Beverly escorted his sister, whose sheath dress was fashioned of ivory wool and silk faille. She chose a lace mantilla over a pill box of faille. She carried a single red rose.

Mrs. Grace Anderson of Newton Highlands was her sister's sole attendant.

Joseph Dooley of Bedford served as best man for his brother. The ushers were Brendan Horrigan of Kingston, Pa., brother of the bride, and Peter Griffin of Jamaica Plain.

After a trip to Washington, D.C., and Williamsburg, Va., the couple plan to live in Wellesley.

The bride, a graduate of State College at Framingham, is teaching in Watertown.

Mr. Dooley, who was graduated from Boston College and Northeastern University, is an accountant for the National Research Corporation in Newton.

Trip To Bermuda Followed Davis-Carey Wedding

Bermuda is the honeymoon destination of Mr. Howard Michael Davis and his bride, the former Miss Esthae Tobey Carey, whose marriage took place on Sunday, April 24, at Temple Mishkan Tefila, Newton.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carey of Framingham and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Davis of 66 Circuit avenue, Newton Highlands, are the couple's parents.

Rabbi Abraham Kazis officiated at the 6:30 o'clock evening service, which was followed by a reception at the temple.

Given away by her father, the bride was attired in a light ivory Bianchi gown of slik faced peau de soie. The beaded empire bodice had elbow-length sleeves, while the slimA-line skirt terminated in a cathedral-length train.

Similar beads fashioned the pill box cap fastened with her triple-tiered illusion veil. She carried a cascade of baby orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Joel Carey of Brighton, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Arlene Shriber of Framingham and Miss Joyce Bigelow of Holden were bridesmaids.

Joel Carey of Brighton served as best man for his brother. Ushering were Frederick Campbell of Greenfield, Paul Berger of Brighton, Rod Gilbert of Brookline, Richard Sickels of Springfield, Arnold Tarmy of Newton and Michael Yaffa, cousin of the groom.

The couple plan to make their home at 30 George street, Attleboro.

Both the bride and groom were graduated from the University of Massachusetts. The bride is a member of the executive training course at Jordan Marsh Company, while her husband is sports editor for the Attleboro Sun.

Four Newton Churches Sponsor Youth Series

Young people from four Newton churches will join together for a series of meetings which will be held in May. Cooperating in this project are the Grace Episcopal Church, the United Presbyterian Church, the Newton Methodist Church and The Eliot Church.

"Fit to be Tied" is the subject of the series and discussions will center around Christian young people and their attitudes toward friendship, dating, popularity, sex and marriage. These discussions will be led by men and women who are experts in their fields and who are interested in working with young people.

A meeting for the parents is scheduled for April 29 at the United Presbyterian Church. ## Music School Springfest To Be Held May 6

The All Newton Music School invites its students and their families to attend "Springfest" — an evening supper party and square dance to be held on Friday, May 6, from 6 to 9 p.m. at the school, 321 Chestnut street, West Newton. Richard Castner will call the squares.

Proceeds from this event will benefit the All Newton Music School Scholarship Fund. The program is sponsored by the Parent's Association of the ANMS, Mrs. Ephraim Friedman, president.

Chairman for the committee on arrangements is Mrs. Henry Brown. Reservations may be made at the Music School Office or from Mrs. Joseph Pittman, 332-8366.

Other local residents on the planning committee are: Mrs. Fred Cusick and Mrs. Robert Buxbaum, food; Mrs. Richard Husher, arrangements; Mrs. Norman Ackerman, entertainment; Mrs. S. Wendell Kravitz, publicity; and Mrs. Herbert Schilder.

Final Program In Morning Of Diversion Set

The final program in the series of "Mornings of Diversion will be held on Thursday, May 5, when Miss Edna Pennell, Williamsburg Flower supervisor, will create colonial flower arrangements in colonial containers, using material known there two centuries ago.

As she gives many unusual tips, listeners can borrow suggestions from the lady who creates perhaps the most famous arrangements in the country, the flower arrangements of Colonial Williamsburg.

Mrs. Harold R. Keller, chairman, and Mrs. Henry S. C. Cummings, co-chairman, have asked Mrs. William P. Beetham, Mrs. Albert E. Burgess, Jr., Mrs. Franklin K. Hoyt and Mrs. Warren G. Reed to assist Miss Pennell on the platform. Mrs. John D. Fox and Mrs. William H. Brine, Jr., will check subscriptions; Mrs. Julian D. Anthony, Mrs. Joshua B. Clark and Mrs. Earl P. Stevenson will be at the door and Mrs. Orville W. Forte and Mrs. P. Edward Eden will act as hostesses in the foyer.

Mal's Opens New Offices In This City

Mal's anounces the moving of its general offices to 90 Bridge street, Newton.

These new facilities, only minutes away from most of their stores, will house all Mal's executives, buyers, advertising and controls under one streamlined roof. It will provide six times the space of the old offices that were located on the second floor of the Dorchester store and incorporate every convenience for executives, buyers and controls personnel so that the company can operate the buying and control end of the business in a more eficient manner.

Especially designed for the comforts of visiting salesmen, there is an automatic dumbwaiter designed to carry salesmen's cases and samples from the lower lobby to the upper salesmen's lounge.

Newton High took Weymouth, 4 to 3, Monday, chalking up its fourth Suburban League in five starts.

In Monday's hot contest, Pete DiDomenico scored the deciding tally from third base on a delayed steal with two out in the eighth.

VOTE NOW ON VIETNAM

"Any negotiated settlement must accept the fact that there are discontented elements in South Vietnam, Communist and non-Communist, who desire to change the existing political and economic system of the country . . . We must be willing to face the uncertainties of an election, and the possibility of an eventual vote on reunification."

Sen. ROBERT F. KENNEDY (D.-N.Y.)
Feb. 17, 1966

"I believe the President has erred in taking new steps which may lead to a cataclysmic world conflict. I well recall General Ridgway telling me after a hearing one day that if we sent 2,000,000 men into the Vietnam area, they would be swallowed up."

Sen. GEORGE AIKEN (R.-Vt.)

Newton district court. He first pleaded guilty but then was allowed to change his plea to innocent. His case was continued to Oct. 17.

Two Brookline young men were arressted at 4:15 Friday morning when alert police observed shrubbery sticking out of the trunk of their car. They were accused of stealing the shrubbery from the Stop & Shop Market in Chestnut Hi'l and the Elm Farm Market in Newton Highlands. The cases of the two were continued until July 18 by Judge Yesley when they were arraigned before him.

Two Newton youths, one 17 and the other 16, were arrainged before Judge Yesley on a charge of breaking into a Chestnut Hill home.

The 17-year-old boy was given a year's suspended sentence. The 16-year-old boy was sentenced to the Youth Service Board but appealed the finding. His bail was fixed at $2000.

A water bubbler, a cement bench and a slide at the Burr Playground were damaged by vandals. Six boys were running away as police arrived at the playground.

Tax

The Mayor asserted that he will appeal the figure set by the State Tax Department to the State Tax Appellate Board and, if necessary to the courts, if he finds that the facts would justify such action.

Mayor Basbas protested bitterly that Newton already is being treated unfairly in the distribution of State funds and that the action of the State Tax Department in placing so high a figure on the city's assessed valuation would compound the situation.

"We are getting the lowest percentage of State funds for educational purpose of any city in the Commonwealth as a result of their claim that we have a high per capita valuation," Basbas stated.

"Now this action by the State Tax Department would compound the situation and make it even worse from our standpoint," he added.

Basbas pointed out that the city assessors revalued most of the taxable property in the city a little more than two years ago and that there was a substantial increase in the assessed valuation at that time.

"The figure announced by the State Tax Department seems too high," Basbas elaborated. "It seems unrealistic and unreasonable.

"But before I take action I intend to go over the matter carefully and thoroughly with the city assessors.

"If I find any grounds whatever for challenging the figure of the State Tax Department, I will certainly make that fight.

"I intend to do everything I can to see that Newton gets a more fair and equitable share of State funds.

"Newton already is being treated unfairly. I don't plan to stand by and see it treated even more unfairly," Basbas emphasized.

ness to serve in such an important group and said that he was sure that the members, with the advice of the commission's advisory board and all concerned citizens, would be of great assistance in solving any problems in community relations that might arise.

The commission members are Mrs. Becket Jones, Dr. Landy, Bishop John Burgess, Judge David Rose, Alvin Fortune, Prof. Bradley Seasholes, William McNamara, James Bergantine and Hirsh Sharf.

During a brief session, the commission discussed possible activities, and expressed the feeling that specific action should be taken only after further discussion with the advisory committee, and all other interested persons. It was further decided to hold a regular monthly meeting at City Hall every second Monday. The next meeting will be on May 9.

Approval was voted on the membership of the advisory committee which is as follows:

Aldermen Adelaide B. Ball and Paul J. Burke, Dean Berger of Brandeis University, Dr. Charles E. Brown, superintendent of schools; the Rev. Dr. Ross Cannon of the Second Church, Ambrose Cedrone, a city employe; George M. Collins Jr., religious editor of The Boston Globe; the Rev. Harold R. Fray Jr., of Eliot Church; Rabbi Albert I. # Peace Corps Test May 7

Local area residents interested in putting their skills to use in developing nations around the world are invited to take the Peace Corps Placement Test at 9 a.m. on Saturday, May 14 at Brighton High School, 25 Warren street, Brighton.

The Peace Corps uses the Placement Test to determine how an applicant can best be utilized overseas. The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language, not education or achievement. (If test scores indicated a limited language-learning ability, for example, the Peace Corps tries to place the applicant in an English-speaking country.) The Placement Test requires no preparation and is non-competitive — an applicant can neither pass nor fail.

The application form, not the Placement Test, is the most important factor in the selection of volunteers. Persons interested in serving in the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before taking the test. Applications may be obtained from local post offices or from the Peace Corps, Washington, D. C.

The Placement test takes about an hour and a half. An optional achievement test for applicants who have studied French or Spanish requires another hour.

This Week's Best Buys

Apples — McIntosh from controlled atmosphere storage continue in good supply, prices attractive.

Cucumbers, greenhouse — Plentiful, economical. Easily distinguished from shipped-in types by dark green unwaxed skin and mild taste. Bay State hothouse cucumbers are grown under controlled conditions, so flavor is not affected by the whims of the weather.

Dandelions, cultivated — Supply adequate to meet demand, reasonable. A long-time favorite in spring garden salads and minestrone soups. Also a good substitute for spinach and other green vegetables.

Eggs — Medium size abundant, economical. Train children to eat an entire small-sized egg, and they will eat larger ones without hesitation.

Pansy plants — Available at garden centers, roadside stands and markets, good value. Pansies are perennial, blooming for about 6 weeks every spring. Make good centerpieces when flowers are floated in shallow bowls, etc.

Poultry — Broilers in good supply, prices attractive.

Tomatoes, greenhouse — In good supply, prices attractive. Easily distinguished from out-of-state steam-ripened types by the "stem on the top."

Today's Agri-Fact: From America's first greenhouse—Peter Faneuil's in Boston — the Massachusetts greenhouse industry has grown to over 10 million square feet. More than 2 million are devoted to raising produce. Greenhouse cucumbers and tomatoes alone amount to a plus-$1 million crop annually.

Spring Dance by Campion Club Friday

A spring dance will be held on Friday, April 29, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the Oval Room of the Hotel Beaconsfield, Brookline.

Proceeds from the dance will benefit the Jesuit Foreign Missions. All are welcome.

Bleach Agent

Cleveland—Hypochlorite is the chlorine compound used most for bleaching cellulose materials such as wood pulp, many textiles and related products.

Give, and it shall be given unto you.—(Luke 6:38)

When we seem to have a lack in our life it may be that our real need is to give. We may think that we would gladly give if we had more supply. But regardless of how limited we seem to be, there is always something we can give. As we act in faith and use what we have, we set into action the increasing multiplying power of God.

DISCUSS MUSIC PROGRAM — Mrs. Philip McCarthy and Mrs. John Mahoney confer with George Graham, of Waban, leader of the George Graham Orchestra on the musical program for the annual Charity Ball of the Guild of St. Luke to be held May 7, at the Sheraton-Boston Hotel.

St. Luke's Guild Charity Ball Aids Mission In Peru

Invitations are in the mail to members of the Guild of St. Luke for their benefit dinner-dance at the Sheraton-Boston Hotel, May 7th. The handsome red, blue and gold crest of the diocese of Boston and of Richard Cardinal Cushing, co-sponsor of the party, topped the invitations to the affair which will see guests seated to a gourmet dinner followed by dancing to a lively band. The setting is chosen especially for the group by Mrs. Richard Wright and Mrs. Alfred Brenen in consultation with Mr. Edwin Porter of Designs Unlimited.

For over fifty years this organization of more than six hundred of greater Boston Catholic physicians have donated time and funds to various charitable endeavors.

Four years ago the first spring fiesta was planned. The funds raised went to help Sister Mary Thomas More, a physician in Lima, Peru. In 1964, Sister Maureen Thomas of Maryknoll was present to receive the money for his mission at Riberalta, Bolivia.

Last year a permanent fund was established by the Guild to send medical personnel to do missionary work on a rotating basis in Abancay, Peru.

This hospital is in an area which is under the auspices of the Missionary Society of St. James the Apostle, founded by his Eminence, Richard Cardinal Cushing, in 1958. Brother Beorge Hungerman, a medical doctor and member of the Sons of Mary was honored. The president of the Guild in 1965 was Dr. Richard Dart of West Roxbury who spent the month of June at the hospital in Abancay, Peru, helping in the care of the Indian population.

Built in the Andes mountains of Perus is a modern hospital at Abancay built to serve the Quechua Indians and the only hospital in the area. The hospital will benefit from a dinner-dance of the Guild of St. Luke of Boston through the Cardinal Cushing Medical Mission Fund which was named by the Guild in honor of the Cardinal for his interest in the mossion work in South American. Physicians of the Guild and other medical personnel volunteer for temporary assignments at the hospital and teach as well as care for patients.

From Newton active in committee work have been Dr. and Mrs. Frank E. Smith, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Stanton, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Cavanaugh, Dr. and Mrs. Francis Drinan, Dr. and Mrs. Wm. Egan, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas P R. Hinchey, Dr and Mrs. John Rattigan, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Conway, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Mullane, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Silva and Dr. and Mrs. Francis X. Rockett.

Students Of Meadowbrook Plan Carnival

All students of Meadowbrook Jr. High are working to ensure the success of their upcoming Orphans Carnival on Saturday, April 30. All proceeds from the Carnival will go to Meadowbrook's three Orphans adopted overseas.

The three orphans, Yu Boon He of Korea, Angela Ayeza of Mexico, and Yang Shenk Foo of Formosa are totally dependent on Meadowbrook students for their financial support.

All classes are designing, constructing, and operating booths at the Carnival. Local merchants have generously donated prizes for this event.

Under the advisement of Miss Martha Cavanaugh and Mr. Bernard Ryan, groups of students have been busily coordinating the Carnival, called "Meadi-Gras", in order to meet their $360 obligation to the orphans. The Meadowbrook students welcome all to the Carnival.

Urge Newton Workers End CJP Coverage

An urgent appeal to all Newton workers to complete their campaign coverage within the next two weeks has been voiced by Stanley Miller, community chairman of the 1966 Appeal of the Combined Jewish Philantropies of Greater Boston.

Last year the Annual Appeal raised more than $5,000,000 on behalf of 75 local, national, and international service and welfare agencies.

Although the results to date have been "highly encouraging", the chairman noted, too many contributors have not yet made their pledges and the campaign is in danger of falling behind.

He also emphasized the continued necessity for increased levels of giving to meet the urgent needs of agencies supported by CJP. The rapid pace of increases already recorded must not be allowed to fall off now, he added.

will host a Vernissage (opening) from 5:00 to 8:00 p.m. when the public is invited to meet some of the artists and to preview the sale.

Members of the Women's Club are: Mrs. George Brookhiser, Mrs. Warren C. Dean, Mrs. Harry Abelle, Mr. Victor Baer, Mrs. Leo Beckwith, Mrs. Noah Belski, Mrs. George Brewer, Mrs. A. E. Burgess, Mrs. Thomas Burnap, Mrs. Spencer Deming, Mrs. E. Leslie Ford, Mrs. Anton Fried, Miss Alice J. Kennedy, Mrs. John B. E. Palen, Mrs. Paul Pierce, Mrs. William Simons, Mrs. J. Leslie Sweetnam, Mrs. Hugh Tomb, Mrs. Allard M. Valentine, Miss Louise Walworth, Mrs. Alfred O. Weaver, Mrs. Edwin Weist, Mrs. Selma F. Stonberg, and Mrs. Franklin D. Jerome.

At 8:15 p.m. on April 28, 29, and 30, the Newton Junior College Players will present "Ah, Wilderness! by Eugene O'Neill. Past productions of the Pulitzer Prize plays "JB, Look Homeward Angel," and "The Skin of Our Teeth," have attracted standing-room-only audiences, attesting to the sensitive performances of the student actors and the superlative direction of Dr. Emil Freniere, chairman of the Department of Humanities at the College.

George Nathan, noted critic, has said, "in Ah, Wilderness!, O'Neill has written what seems to me to be as tenderly understanding a retrospective comedy, as deep-.ly human and heart-filled. and sadly happy a play as the modern stage has offered us."

The "New York Evening Journal" has stated: "For once O'Neill goes beyond penetrating his characters; here he loves them, with a nostalgic understanding of their faith and humanity."

The cast includes: David Needle, Celia Levinson, Joseph Gardner, Patricia Needle, Robert Nolan, Paul McElaney, Robert Gallant, Kerstin Johannson, Thomas Farrell, George Canty, and Deborah Epstein of Newton, as well as Carol Livingston, Larry Maguire, Susan Springer, and Larry Smith.

Carl Livingston, Patricia Needle, Robert Nolan, Larry Maguire, Paul McElaney have featured parts.

Elaine Gasbarri is the student stage manager. Diana Shaw, of Newton, is in charge of make-up with Mr. Jack Meade of the college faculty supervising. Jonathan Patton, of Newton, is on lights under the supervision of Mr. George Martins of the College faculty.

Although tickets are free, reservations should be secured by phoning the College as early as possible.

In conjunction with the Spring Festival of the Arts, the Foreign Language Club will present two evenings of French, Spanish and German productions.

At 8:15 p.m. on Friday, May 6, Moliere's brilliant one-act comedy, "Le Mariage Force," will be performed in both an English and the original French version. The English version will be in modern dress and the plot has been adapted to a twentieth-century situation.

It will take on the aspect of a farce, while the humor in the French version is much more subtle. Moliere (1622-73), a master of satire, overlooked no opportunity to ridicule with his barbed pen the people and customs of his day.

"Le Mariage Force" is under the able direction of Mrs. Jo Brewer, Newton author and civic leader. The cast includes: Robert Gallant, John Corsetti, Paul O'Connell Michelle Garon, Carlos Roberts, Marcia Stone, Patricia Needle, David Hamblen, Gordon Reevy, Theodore Arsenault, Robert Peebles, Steven Kazules, Mina Yaghmourian, Paul Ernst, and Franco DiSantis, of Newton, as well as, Norman LeCointre, Harris Taft, Nancy Mooney, and Maureen Ravalli.

The Spanish play selected for this year's festival is "Vejigantes" by Francisco Arrivi. This play, first produced in 1959, is part of the trilogy "Mascara puertoriquena which deals with the psychological results of the rejection of the Negro heritage in the author's native Puerto Rico.

Vejigantes (a Puerto Rican folk festival of African origin) studies the psychological dislocation and social alienation of those who cannot accept themselves as they are.

The nature of the struggle is underscored by the use of contrasting social milieu and a musical theme. The third act of this play, a brilliantly theatrical climactic scene, will be the only part performed.

Vejigantes will be presented at 8:15 p.m. on Saturday, May 7. It is under the direction of Mr. Jose L. Romero Jr., instructor of Spanish at the college.

The cast includes: Franziska Piendl, Michelle Garon, and Steven Kazules of Newton, as well as, Maureen Jones.

Also on Saturday evening, May 7, the Musical Highlights of The Merry Widow will be presented in German as prepared by Mrs. Anny Newman, language instructor at the College.

Dr. Dubravko Kuftinek, who received his degree in music from the Conservatory of Zagreb, Yugoslavia, simultaneously with his medical degree, at present associated with Massachusetts General Hospital, is coach and accompanist in this production.

The Merry Widow by Franz Lehar (1870-1948), has a romantic, triangular plot involving a rich, young Balkan widow, the flirtatious wife of a Balkan ambassador, and a handsome young Frenchman.

The cast includes: Gregory Canty, tenor of Newton, as well as Carol Bezanson, soprano, and Tom Uber, baritone and instructor of Psychology at the College.

Mount Ida College Hosts Dads At Weekend Program

Students at Mount Ida Junior College in Newton will play host to their fathers at the annual "Father-Daughter Weekend" April 29th and 30th with a program of events calculated not only to give the fathers an insight into the more serious aspects of their college life, but also to provide both parties with a pleasant opportunity to socialize together once again.

The weekend program gets underway Friday when the fathers will attend classes if if they so desire. This will be followed at 8:30 in the evening with a presentation of Prokofieff's popular opera, Love For Three Oranges" with a cast of Mount Ida students and others under the direction of Mrs. Curtis Carter of the music department. This event also is open to the general public without charge.

Saturday's activities will start off with an informal coffee hour in the morning during which fathers will have an opportunity to meet faculty and administration. This will be followed by a luncheon picnic on the campus grounds at noon and for the more active fathers a softball game in the afternoon.

Those not wishing to participate in the softball may instead watch a gymkhana to be put on by the Mount Ida Riding Club. Formal activities will then finish up with dinner at Wingate Hall dining-room and finally a formal "Father-Daughter Dance" in Alumnae Hall that evening.

Burr-Murray PTA Plans Auburndale Art Pageant

Plans are well underway for an art pageant under sponsorship of the Burr-Murray Road PTA, to be held June 3, 4 and 5 at Lyons Park, Auburndale.

According to Mrs. Gloria Kummins, chairman of the PTA's Creative Arts Committee, the enthusiasm already generated for the affair is typical of Auburndale's community spirit.

She reports that parents, residents and merchants are donating time, talent and financial support to make the event a success.

Mrss. Elaine Eisenberg, chairman of the pageant, explains that it will incorporate three "shows," the student show, the judged show and the invitational show. Since the first goal is to stimulate the creative abilities all children possess, Miss Charlotte Forgeron, principal of the Burr-Murray Road School, has set in motion a unique program for the pupils. Each of the 20 classes is making a banner which represents an artistic extension of their social studies. The banners will fly proudly over Lyons Park to give every child a sense of participation in the event.

Further, Miss Eleanor Eliott, art director of the Newton school system, will supervise the selection of several paintings to represent the best of the student art. Local artists wishing to submit their work for the judged show will find the necessary information at any Newton Library.

The invitational show will contain the works of several nationally known local artists.

The rustic setting of Lyons Park will be further enhanced by a Japanese garden. Demonstration booths will be set up with the aid of members of the Newton Workshop who exhibited at Winterfest and members of the Brookline, Brighton, Newton Jewish Community Center. Demonstrations of ceramics, weaving, enameling, painting and the graphic arts will give everyone an opportunity to see artists at work. To give yet another dimension to the pageant, A. William Kunkel, city librarian, has arranged for special display cases, books and storyhours for the children. At the conclusion of the 3-day outdoor pageant, the exhibition will be moved into the Auburndale Library from June 7-11.

The second goal of the Art Pageant, Mrs. Eisenberg says, is to establish it as a bi-annual Newton event and, hopefully, to motivate interested persons and organizations to purchase and donate original paintings and sculpture to a permanent art collection for the children of the city.
